

SOCIETY

The Elks club was the scene of one of the most elaborate and successful affairs of the holiday season Sunday evening when members, their families and friends were entertained with a New Year's cabaret dinner and dance. The club assumed a gala appearance with its holiday decorations. Wreaths and holly were used in the decorations of the first floor rooms and the balcony of the staircase was twined with long ropes of holly. The banquet hall was banked with greenery and canopied with red and green streamers across which floated scores of brilliant colored balloons. Vari-colored balloons were fastened to the back of each chair at the long tables. Each table was illuminated by great red candles and light domes shaded in bright colors. The ballroom on the third floor was illuminated by long rows of poinsettia shaded lights alternating with red bells. Above the dance floor a trellis of red and green streamers had been woven through which shown lights suspended from the ceiling above. A three-course turkey dinner was served at 10:30 o'clock in the banquet hall to 150 guests, during which a cabaret entertainment was staged.

Harry Frankel's entertainers played a number of popular selections and songs were given by Harry Frankel, Robert Heun and Frank Holland. Cost and Verdi, of the Stringing comedy act, at the Murray, gave some clever numbers with violins and cello. The singers were accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Jessup and Mrs. W. E. Morrey. At the close of dinner, dancing, songs, and other favors were distributed among the guests. After 12 o'clock there was dancing until 3 o'clock in the ballroom with music by the Frankel entertainers.

Among those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Justin McCarthy, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Gaar, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gotschall, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. All Masons were entertained at a New Year's watch party and dance given Saturday evening at the Masonic temple by Loyal chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. The affair was the largest of its kind ever given by the O. E. S. Two hundred and seventy-six guests attended. Three floors of the temple were given over to entertainment. Rooms on each floor were decorated in colors of the holiday season. There was dancing with music by the Paul I. Harris orchestra on the fourth floor, cards were played on the third floor, and miscellaneous entertainments were arranged for guests on the second floor. Feature entertainments were given on each floor by Miss Thelma Thomas, who gave recitation numbers, and a trio, clarinet, flute and piano composed of Walter Reinhard, Edward Nussbaum, and Miss Eleanor Hart. Refreshments were served during the evening and at the close of the dance. The committee in charge was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Phenix, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bertwell Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glick, Mr. and Mrs. R. L.
