

RED AND WHITE WINS INTERESTING CONTEST FROM RANDOLPH LADS

Playing their opponents off their feet with dazzling pass-work coupled with consistent goal shooting, the Richmond high school basketball barnstorming players brought down the hopes of Winchester high's team in an interesting game at Winchester Saturday night by a 29 to 12 decision.

The score stood 14 to 11 at half time in favor of the Richmond five, but, with the opening of the second half, the Winchester lads never had a chance to score from the field with the exception of a few long shots from far out on the playing space.

Winchester showed real fight in the first half and through the wonderful long shooting of Monks, they were able to keep in the running with the faster Richmond men.

Dale Harkins, Richmond forward who started the game at Winchester, suffered a swelling of the right leg which bothered him to a great extent in the first half. This plucky player stuck to the deal through the first half but had to give up to Kessler in the second half. Harkins showed up good on defense, but, was unable to move fast enough on offense to score.

Keep Things Hot.
The entire Richmond team moved in one unit against the Winchester 'H' lads. Kennedy, Rost and Graffis bore the brunt of the scoring for the evening and kept things hot for the opposing guards throughout the contest.

Kessler went in for Harkins in the second half and proved his value as a general utility man for the team with his ability to follow the ball while on offense and prevent it being carried back by the opposing offense. His everlasting fight has branded him as a player who never gives up.

Monks Valuable.
In Monks, Winchester had a valuable man inasmuch as he was practically the only man to break into the scoring column for his team with 10 of the total points. He seemed to have the knack of hitting the goal which they used in the first half. He used a hard bank shot which seemed most impossible to make and these were the kind of shots which kept his team in the lead during the initial period.

Line-up and summary:

Rost.....F.....Wallace
Kennedy.....C.....Monks
Graffis.....G.....Davis

An interested Winchester fan who seemed to be impartial toward the game, remarked when Kessler went into the game that he just loved to see that 'kid' play.

Sam Greene received the usual number of comments on his size and age. Many outside fans who see this young giant in action take him to be a college man.

Monks, of Winchester, had the combination to the goal during the first half and he willed it to Kennedy at the opening of the second. The goal was tilted up on the outer rim and when the ball was banked hard, it would invariably go through the hoop for a two-point. Kennedy assumed this combination and shot two field goals in rapid succession from far out on the floor in the last half.

Kessler resembled a baby tank during the second half and when the game was over, his eyes were flashing and he looked good for another full game. At one time, he started down the floor to pass to Rost and seeing that another player had stepped in the road of Rost, he sped up and took the ball himself and turned it into a field goal under the basket.

Harkins' leg swelled up on him in the first of the game and it seriously handicapped him for the rest of the evening.

Wabash Star Celebrates Birthday By Victories

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 9.—There are ways and ways of observing one's birthday, but it remains for Captain Grater of the Wabash basketball team to hit upon a unique mode of celebration. In fact, by this time it is a well established habit. Here's how. Grater is a junior at Wabash; this is his third season as a regular on the Scarlet varsity five and his birthday is on Jan. 7. In his freshman year there was a certain Purdue team which established a well-earned title of "Victory Five." But along came Wabash and Grater and upset the dope. This was on Jan. 7, 1920. Exactly one year later the James Millikin five cut a wide swath until it met the Little Giants, but again Grater was permitted to celebrate, due to a decisive Wabash victory. Last Saturday night, Jan. 7, 1922, the highly touted DePauw team was humbled by the Scarlet and Grater took the biggest hand of all in the proceedings. In the way of celebrating birthdays, can you beat it?

DEFEATS AMERICAN NATIONAL CHAMP

Miss Gladys Robinson.

Miss Gladys Robinson of Toronto looms up as a contender for skating honors this year through her victory over Miss Elsie Mueller, American women's national champ, in the 440-yard dash at the recent mid-Atlantic skating tourney at Newburgh, N. Y.

Ridgeville high school is next on the Red and White basketball card, the game to be played on the Coliseum floor. Following this game Coach Stenger's men will face two hard games when they tackle the Rushville five at Rushville and Columbus high at the Coliseum, respectively.

The revamped American Legion five will take the floor Wednesday night against the Indianapolis Den Zare club in the Coliseum. Under the tutelage of Nash Higgins, assistant coach of Earlham college, the team will be put through some extra licks of hard practice, to develop a system of team play.

Northwestern university will form the opposition for both Purdue and Indiana in their first conference game of the season, Indiana getting the first crack at them on Jan. 14 at Bloomington and Purdue playing them on Jan. 16 at Lafayette.

The Richmond high school basketballers found the Winchester lads a tougher nut to crack than the Union City crew were, when the two teams met at Winchester Saturday night, the locals winning 29 to 12 after a hard battle.

Purdue and Indiana will not get into action on the hardwood court this week, putting all their efforts into getting ready for the opening of the conference season the following week. The other Hoosier schools all have stiff schedules for the week.

Johnny Wilson of Boston, middleweight champion, and his manager were barred from boxing in Connecticut Saturday by the state athletic board. The suspension will stand until New York state lifts the barrier. He is also barred from Massachusetts.

FAST COLORED FIVES BATTLE HERE TONIGHT

One of the hardest games of the season is expected by the Richmond A. C. basketball five when the local basketballers stack up against the fast Carthage (colored) Independent five on the Coliseum floor Monday night.

Coach Jack Tevis has been putting his men through extra practice sessions during the past two weeks and they are in the best of condition for the battle. The team has developed a new style of play that is expected to prove baffling to the Carthage five.

The men have been somewhat weak on hitting the basket but after two weeks of practice in which much time was spent by Coach Tevis in basket shooting the team is expected to hit the draperies with more regularity in Monday night's game.

Carthage has defeated the local quintet on one occasion this season by a 22 to 20 count. The locals are planning to avenge this defeat, by a decisive victory. The Carthage five has victories over the Rushville and Connersville (colored) teams.

The curtain raiser will be staged between the Comets and a colored team from Fountain City.

The possible lineups for Monday night's game:

HIGH MAY BATTLE MUNCIE WEDNESDAY ON UNION CITY FLOOR

Coach Stenger's high school net-sharks will meet the fast and highly respected Muncie high school basketballers at Union City Wednesday night, provided the Muncie authorities agree on the proposition.

Muncie was to have met Union City 'H' Wednesday night, but Union has been somewhat weakened by the loss of two regulars and therefore they asked Richmond to journey to Union City and take on a much faster game with Muncie. The Magic City lads have been traveling at a fast pace all season and have high hopes of landing the state championship of Indiana this year.

Local authorities thought the proposition over and finally consented for the Red and White to play Muncie, provided the latter accepts.

LEGION GETS DOWN TO HARD PRACTICE

After a week's layoff the American Legion basketball team will swing into action Wednesday night on the Coliseum floor, when the ex-service men tackle the Indianapolis Den Zare club five. The Den Zare club has a classy organization and will force the locals to go the limit to capture a victory.

The team is now under the leadership of Nash Higgins, assistant coach at Earlham college. He will direct the team's play from the bench and will coach the squad. A stiff practice session was held in the Coliseum Saturday night and a system of play was inaugurated by Higgins.

Just who will take the floor against the Indianapolis team Wednesday night, will not be known until after a practice game Tuesday afternoon in the Coliseum against the high school squad. All members of the squad are requested to attend practice Tuesday.

Must Watch Hawkins
Hawkins, an all-state man in high school basketball circles last year, will head the Capital City team and will play the back guard position for them. He is a big husky man and is very good at breaking up plays of the opposition. He will cause the local offense much trouble. Brewington, a former Butler college star, will play the running guard position.

In the pivot position will be found Jacobs, a former Indiana Law School player, who covers his position in fine style. Dutch Behrent, a former Erie player, is expected to lead the Den Zare's attack Wednesday night, and will wear close watching. Slughter, a former Tech high school star, is Behrent's running mate.

The Indianapolis team has played some of the best teams in and around Indianapolis and have won the majority of their games played. The K. of C. ex-service men's school defeated them by a 2 point margin, a few weeks ago.

A curtain raiser will be played between the Centerville high school five and the local high school seconds. The local second team is not quite in the class of the Centerville lads but promises them a good battle. The game will be called at 7:15 o'clock sharp.

Service Basketball Heads to Meet Monday Night

Members of the board of directors of the Community Service basketball league are requested to be present at the meeting to be held Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Community Service rooms in the K. of P. hall.

George Cook developing his leg and arm muscles by climbing a tree during his daily training jaunt.

George Cook, English heavyweight champion who is now training to fight Georges Carpentier in a week or two, is talked of as a possible opponent for Jack Dempsey in another international heavyweight contest late this year. This provided Cook makes a good showing against the Frenchman, of course. Cook has one qualification that Georges lacks—ruggedness. Whether the Englishman has anything else to merit a match with the Giant Killer remains to be seen.
