The Theatres

RICHMOND

One of the most impressive features of "The Sheikh," George Melford's latest production for Paramount, now showing at the Richmond theatre, are the many magnificent and spectacular settings in which the various scenes are enacted. These include:

A remarkable conception of a public section of the ancient City of Carthage under Roman rule; a birdseye shot of the City of Biskra, the Monte Carlo of the Algerian Sahara, taken from a minaret with an Arab praying in the foreground; fifteen actual shots about the city of Biskra, especially made for the picture by a representative from Paramount's London studio; a picturesque African oasis, especially constructed on a desert site near Hollywood; a complete Arabian village—the stronghold of the bandit chieftain, Omar, and beautiful, exotic interiors, such as the interior of the Sheikh's tent, and the desert palace of Omar.

In the Carthage episode, which is a vision in the picture, a very unusual effect is presented. Agnes Ayres, playing the principal feminine role, is shown as the haughty queen who rules the city under Roman domination.

Is Your Work Wearing You Out?

Are you working day in and day out with a dull, dragging backache? Is your work slowly weakening your kidneys? Many kinds of work wear out the kidneys, and kidney trouble makes any work hard. It brings morning lameness, backache, headaches, dizziness, nervousness and distressing urinary disorders. If your work strains your kidneys, help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Workers everywhere rely on Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Another Richmond Case.
R. T. Cooper, carpenter, 920 N. Telith street, says "My work as a carpenter is hard on the back and kidneys. I suffered from dull back aches with soreness through my loins. I could hardly stoop to pick up my tools. I was also annoyed by my kidneys acting irregularly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Quigley's Drug Store and they soon put my kidneys in good shape."

HOPES TO WALK ACROSS NIAGARA FALLS ON ROPE

Miss Eleanora in the costume she will wear for the attempt.

Miss Eleanora, a young English girl, is preparing to attempt Blondin's feat of walking across Niagara Falls on a rope. Although only seventeen years of age she has won fame as a tight-rope walker.

When the scene first opens, it shows the proud English girl, later to be captured by the Sheikh, encamped at night among the ruins of Roman splendor in the ancient city. There are broken pillars and crumbling ruins.

Then the girl becomes a Carthaginian queen, the architecture is restored and scenes of splendor, peopled with the royal court, flower girls, harp girls, slaves, centurions and Roman soldiers follow. This vision establishes the haughty, dominant character of the girl, who insists upon taking a journey into the desert, despite her brother's objections.

The role of the sheik is played by Rudolph Valentino, the popular "Julio" of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." The cast further includes Lucien Littlefield, Adolphe Menjou, George Wagner, Ruth Miller, Walter Long and P. R. Butler.

MURRETTE
There is one actress in Hollywood who can not accept all the roles offered her because it would be a physical impossibility. In fact she can not accept more than half of them.

The reason is that she is a "type" for which there is a constant demand—that of the haughty society dame. And this talented actress looks the part on the screen and on the street.

She is Kate Lester, and she can next be seen in "The Beautiful Liar," an Associated First National attraction, starring Katherine MacDonald, which opened at the Murrette theatre today for an engagement of three days. In this picture she plays the part of Mrs. Van Courtlandt-Van Alstyne, the leader of high society.

There is periodical frantic bidding for her services by the directors, for no other actress can play such parts with the natural ability that characterizes Miss Lester's work. "Can Miss Lester be haughty?" repeated a studio attaché in Los Angeles recently. "Well, I'll say so. She's so haughty when it comes to playing society dames in pictures that I've seen directors spend a good deal of the day; and that's going some."

MURRAY
Fancy Gray held in the hollow of her pretty white hand the destiny of three hearts. Her's was the power to make two people unhappy at the cost of her own happiness, or to give happiness and herself seek it elsewhere.

Fancy Gray is the charming heroine of "The Heart Line," a picturization of Golett Burgess' famous novel presented at the Murray theatre, with beautiful Leah Baird starred.

"The Heart Line" is a story of tangled hearts, of a missing boy, of palmists, clairvoyants and spiritualists, and medium in communication with the spirit world.

The picture makes some startling disclosures of fraudulent spiritualists, and sounds a timely warning, as well as picturing a story that fascinates with its mystery and charms with the beauty of its romance.

At dead of night the Sheikh climbed the balcony to Diana's bedroom which overlooked the Sahara desert. Her jeweled revolver lay upon the dressing table. Silently the Sheikh emptied the tiny weapon of its cartridges and departed in the first light of dawn.

This is one of the gripping scenes in that great Paramount picture "The Sheikh," a photoplay of passionate love against desert background.
