

TO EXPLAIN PREBLE SCHOOL INSTRUCTION AT STATE UNIVERSITY

EATON, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The system of school instruction in the Preble county, which ranks highest in the state of Ohio, and is one of the three best in the United States in rural instruction, will be explained during Farmer's Week at Ohio State university, by W. S. Fogarty, superintendent of schools of Preble county. Randolph county, Ind., also ranks high.

Mr. Fogarty is scheduled to speak on "Consolidation" at 10 o'clock Wednesday, Feb. 1, Farmer's Week lasting from Jan. 30 to Feb. 3.

Many farmers are on the program this year, the number running up to 200. The increasing importance of farmers' organizations has been recognized and is given as the reason for assigning such a large share of the time to speakers for different organizations. Annual meetings of all farmers' commodity or professional associations are scheduled for this week.

J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau, will speak one day, and the state convention of the Ohio farm bureau will be held on Wednesday and Thursday.

Within the 50 hours scheduled for the instruction and entertainment of Farmer's Week, 285 events or lectures have been packed, 245 being lectures or demonstrations. Seventeen meetings of state farmers' organizations are scheduled with 100 addresses and committee reports. A novel feature introduced this year is the recreational hour from 6 until 7 o'clock in the evening. The champion country fiddler of Ohio will be chosen at one of these sessions.

PROFIT OF $314.87 MADE BY CHAUTAUQUA

A net profit of $314.87 was realized over and above all expenditures for the 1921 chautauqua assembly, according to a report made by F. F. Riggs, secretary of the Richmond Chautauqua association.

This, according to Mr. Riggs, is a very gratifying report, as 80 per cent of the circuit and more than 50 per cent of the independent assemblies had a deficit in the past season, he said.

In letters to guarantors he wrote: "Nineteen twenty-one was regarded as an off year for chautauquas, but 1922 promises much better. A splendid program is already largely prepared and no effort is being spared to make it the very best obtainable and maintain the high standard for which Richmond is known."

Cash balance now on hand is $2,026.40, the report indicates. Season ticket sale netted $4,242.75, while $3,641.40 was received through single admissions. Talent for the 15 days of the assembly cost $4,826.84.

DETROIT MILLIONAIRE MYSTERIOUS BUYER OF $1,000,000 NECKLACE

Mrs. Edsel Ford.

Mrs. Horace Dodge.

Is one of these the lucky lady?

NEW CLUE IN BAUBLE MYSTERY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—It has become known that the famous $1,000,000 pearl necklace once owned by Catherine, former Russian empress, the sale of which is involved in court proceedings between Cartier, noted New York jeweler, and Benguiat Brothers Paris antique dealers, was purchased by a Detroit millionaire.

Detroit is the city of millionaires. Wealthy automobile manufacturers and others reside in this thriving mid-western city.

It is the home of Henry Ford and Senator Truman Newberry, bitter enemies and both able to purchase a $1,000,000 necklace and never miss it.

Also Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell, who married into the wealthy Stotesbury family of Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Horace Dodge could also spend a million for such an expensive luxury. She gave her daughter $30,000,000 for a wedding present. Maybe Miss Isabel Dodge or Mrs. Edsel Ford will wear it.

Who Is She?

Harry Sheldon, Russell Alger and S. S. Kresge, the five-and-ten-cent-store millionaire, go in for these expensive baubles. There are further

The $1,000,000 necklace as worn by the Empress of Russia.

John Newberry and Elizabeth Newberry, relatives of the senator, and socially prominent who are able to purchase such an expensive necklace.

Yet, who is the beautiful bride, fiancée or matron who is wearing a king's ransom around her neck?

Her identity has not been revealed. It is alleged that the necklace which contains 389 symmetrically perfect pearls of dazzling lustre, clasped by an enameled miniature of Catherine II, was sold by Cartier, Inc., for $1,500,000.

Last week Benguiat Bros. brought suit to recover the difference in purchase price, which Cartier reported to them as being $825,000, and which they assert was $1,500,000, less a large amount for traveling expenses and incidentals.

Vitali Benguiat, who is now in New York, and who makes his headquarters at 4 West Fifty-sixth street, says that he brought the priceless trinket to New York and put it in the hands of the Cartier firm for sale. He was paid $500,000 by Cartier.

Divide the Profits.

It was agreed that when the necklace was sold Cartier and the Benguiats were to divide all profits over and above the $500,000. The sale was consummated in 1920.

Such a necklace was unknown among the jewelry trade in New York. There is probably not another like it in the world. The Russian crown jewels stolen by Bolsheviks have been seeping surreptitiously into America during the last two or three years.

It was known that a necklace of this size and value was in possession of the Czar before his murder, and was a part of a collection handed down by the famous and notorious Empress Catherine, who was a lover of fine pearls.

The two buildings in which the business has been conducted 50 years or longer, were included in the deal, which was closed Wednesday.

Griffiths stated he purchased the business and buildings himself and was not acting as agent for anyone. Lander has not announced his future plans.
