Stage Beauty Becomes U. S. Immigration Inspector

Lillian Russell

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Lillian Russell is an inspector of immigration. She has been appointed by James Davis, secretary of labor, and is to make a tour of inspection in Europe.

The former musical comedy star, wife of Alexander P. Moore, publisher of the "Pittsburgh Leader," is especially proud of her new job. She has been for a long time immensely interested in the problems of immigration, and is enthusiastic over the possibility of delving into conditions as they are on the continent.

MANY NAMES MENTIONED FOR COUNTY OFFICES ALTHOUGH FEW HAVE ANNOUNCED CANDIDACIES

All candidates for office in this county, with the exception of the prosecuting attorney and legislative candidates, must file their names with the county clerk. Although few candidates have as yet made formal announcement of their intention to run for office in the May primaries, reports as to the intentions of some have been going the rounds for some time.

State Senate
Denver Harlan is a candidate for the office of joint senator from Wayne and Fayette counties. He is county attorney.

Representative
Oliver N. Lafuze, joint representative from Wayne and Union counties, will be a candidate to succeed himself, it is understood.

James M. Knapp of Hagerstown will be a candidate to succeed himself as Wayne county representative in the legislature, he has announced. Joseph Waltermann, of this city, announced that he would make the race for the nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Walter Ratliff said he would be a candidate for the legislature in the May primaries. He served two regular terms and one special term in the general assembly.

Prosecuting Attorney
Paul A. Beckett, prosecuting attorney for Wayne county, who took office one year ago, will be a candidate to succeed himself in the May primaries. No opposition to his candidacy is known at the present time.

James Pace, Democrat, will seek the nomination on his party's ticket.

Treasurer
Thomas Ahl, county treasurer, will seek renomination on the Republican ticket. No opposition to him has developed.

County Clerk
Three candidates are in the running. They are John V. Schneider of Richmond, Alva Study of Fountain City and Elmer Crull of Hagerstown. Schneider served as councilman-at-son lives on a farm a short distance north of Centerville.

In the western district, Andrew Simpson, present commissioner from that district, and Frank Conley will seek the nomination. Mr. Conley is a farmer living east of Cambridge, and has not sought office heretofore.

County Surveyor
Howard Horton, county surveyor at the present time, has announced his candidacy for the next primary. He has no opposition.

Wayne Township
Three candidates for the office of trustee and four for the office of assessor in this township have announced themselves. The three who would serve as trustee are Henry Chessman, formerly in the real estate and insurance business, Wayne township justice of the peace, and for two years with the Automatic Tool company; Ross Lamott, a school teacher for the past few years, and Charles Eubank.

Eubank has been a grocer in Fairview for the past 20 years. Before that he lived on a farm about four miles from town on the Fountain City pike. He served four years on the Wayne township advisory board.

The following persons will go in for the office of assessor: J. O. Edgerton, at present Wayne township trustee; David Reid, present incumbent, who would succeed himself, and Howard Ridge, who has served the city and county in numerous capacities in the last 50 years.

Harry White, farmer, living east of Richmond, has announced his candidacy for the office.

Green Township
George Duke announced his candidacy as township trustee Wednesday for Green township, to succeed Enos Veal. The only other opposition known at the present time, is James Cranor, who has not stated positively whether he will run.

Franklin Township
Osro Bloese, farmer living near Whitewater, is the only candidate in the field for the office of trustee, according to available information. He will succeed William Curtis who said Wednesday that he would not be a candidate again.

Carl Wadman, present sheriff, will be a candidate to succeed himself. Besides serving in the past year as sheriff, Wadman served as deputy under Clem Carr for two two-year terms. Before that time he was with the city fire department for 11 years.

Albert Ford, the only other man who has been discussed for the office, has made no definite announcement as yet. Ford served in the last city council.

S. Edgar Bond, present coroner, has announced definitely that he will not be a candidate for renomination. This leaves the office open to all comers. Dr. L. M. Gentile, although mentioned for the place, has made no announcement to date.

County Assessor
William Brown, of Williamsburg, announced his candidacy for the office of county assessor Wednesday. Brown has farmed a good part of his life, was trustee of Greene township for six years, and also served as deputy township assessor for four years. He has been running a grocery store at Williamsburg for four years.

County Commissioners
Garfield Jackson will run as a candidate for the nomination for the office of commissioner from the middle district, he has announced. Mr. Jack-

DISCOVER KEY CHECK OF BENEDICT ARNOLD

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Wheat is believed to be the key check that served General Benedict Arnold's staff officers whenever they unlocked official documents is one of the revolutionary relics acquired by the Field exploration committee of the New York historical society, it was learned today.

The key check probably assisted the traitorous Arnold the night he removed military plans from West Point and came down the Hudson to meet Major Andre of the British. It was found in the ruins of an old house in Brooklyn, and with it were about two dozen copper coins of the stamp of George II. and George III. Arnold, it is known after his defection from the continental army lived in New York as long as the British held the city.

The check is made of lead about one-eighth of an inch thick and about three inches long. On one side is stamped "Arnold's staff," and on the other "Con. army."

Ideal road construction, as demonstrated on the Lincoln highway, will be shown in the movie films.
