CARDINALS

lant prelates in the Papal Curia as a result of the changes incident to the death of Pope Benedict, it was said here today, will automatically become secretary of the conclave, a position second only to that of membership in the Sacred college.

At first Canon and professor in the seminary at Vercelli in Piedmont, Monsignor Sinero some years ago was called to Rome as auditor of the Holy Sacred tribunal of the Rota, the court which among other things is entitled to grant annulment of marriages between Catholics. He also collaborated with Cardinal Gasparri in his codification of the Canon law and is now secretary of the Sacred college.

Made Cardinal. The secretary of the conclave is frequently made a cardinal by the new Pope, in fact almost immediately. When the new Pope is elected the secretary of the conclave assists him in putting on the pontifical robes and, kneeling before him, hands him the white cap which the pontiff puts on his head. In turn some Popes have placed their red cap on the head of the kneeling secretary of the conclave, thus showing their intention of raising them to the purple.

Cardinal Merry del Val was secretary of the conclave which elected Pope Pius X who appointed him immediately pro-secretary of statement and conferred upon him the red hat on the first consistory of his pontificate in November, 1903.

Merry del Val was then only 38 years old. In the following conclave, however, Benedict XV when Monsignor Boggiani, secretary of the conclave presented him with the white cap, took off his red one, slowly folded it, and put it in his pocket. In fact Monsignor Boggiani was not made a cardinal until more than two years later, in the consistory of Dec. 4, 1916.

At the election of Pope Pius VII, which took place in Vienna because his predecessor had been persecuted by the French republic as he himself was by Napoleon, the conclave, it is recalled here, was held in a monastery of the Servites and for want of the proper officials the rector of the monastery was asked to act as secretary of the conclave.

Once Pius had been elected, the rector knelt before him and presented the white cap. The new Pope began folding his red cap but the rector took courage to remind His Holiness of the custom of placing the red cap on the head of the secretary. The new pontiff recalling that the rector was a Servite made a play on words and replied: "You will be served."

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, was a passenger on the Italian steamer, President Wilson, sailing today for Rome. He was accompanied to Rome by his secretary, Rev. Dr. Richard Haberlin, and Monsignor M. J. Splaine, of Boston. He hopes to reach Rome in time to participate in the conclave which meets Feb. 2, to elect a successor to the late Pope Benedict IV.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Sacred College at Rome has decided to postpone until this evening the definite fixing of the time for the final services for Pope Benedict. Whether they shall be held tonight or Wednesday, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome today.

NEED MORE COTTAGES
WARSAW, Jan. 24.—Winona Lake is facing a housing shortage. Dr. J. C. Breckenridge, general manager, declaring that 100 more cottages will be needed for the summer season.

Rheumatism is a Synonym for Pain

Tuesday Health Talk No. 51
By G. C. Wilcoxen, D. C.

Health turns the Clock Backward

A chronic sufferer from rheumatism once said that he had no fear of an after life, even though his conduct had been sinful, as he said that he had always been in hell. Rheumatism is marked by continuous dull pain, with occasional sharp spasms of great severity. Usually the joints are affected, swollen, red and tender.

Well After Ten Years Suffering

"My daughter, Violet, was ill ten years with rheumatism. During her last attack she was bedfast seven months, suffering unspeakable pain. Medical doctors said her case was hopeless. We tried chiropractic and she experienced some relief after the first few adjustments. After four months of adjustments she was able to walk. This seemed a miracle to us—William R. Watson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 11223M.
