Indiana University

Protests Book Levy

(By Associated Press)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 31.—A resolution protesting against the duty imposed on foreign books in the tariff bill now before congress has been drawn up by the faculty of Indiana university and presented to Senator James E. Watson of the senate finance committee. The measure, as adopted by the committee, places a 20 percent duty on all foreign books imported into this country, which would be a serious handicap to the importation of foreign scientific books now much in demand by university instructors everywhere, according to the state university faculty.
