

NATION'S COAL STOCK ON HAND WILL LAST FOR 51 DAYS, REPORT

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—Coal stocks on hand, as of today, will hold out for 51 days, if the rate of consumption continues on the January and February basis, according to estimates given the house labor committee today by the geological survey.
In making this estimate F. G. Tryon, coal statistician of the survey, said best available records showed the present stock in the hands of consumers at 63,000,000 tons. "How long will that last?" Mr. Tryon was asked. "We know the rate of consumption in January and February," he said. "If coal is consumed from now on at the same rate, there is every reason to believe the stocks will last 51 days."
Some railroads and public utility concerns had larger stocks than usual, he said which would enable them to operate for a longer period. The figure he gave, however, was the average.
The committee, hearing witnesses on a resolution for appointment by the president of a commission to investigate the coal industry adjourned until tomorrow without any action. It had been expected that operators would be heard today, but it was stated that they were unable to appear.
No Action Taken
Two resolutions proposing that the aid of the president be asked in an effort to bring the contending factions together were considered by the house committee in executive session late yesterday, but no action was taken. The committee had previously received assurances from John Moore, of Columbus, Ohio, legislative agent of the United Mine Workers, that the miners' representatives would "board the first train here if invited to meet the operators."
The government is centering its attention today on the question of safeguarding the public welfare wherever it is menaced, according to a statement last night by Secretary of Labor Davis, who said that, while the administration views the strike now as inevitable, it believes the situation leaves "no excuse for advance in coal prices."

QUEER LEGAL TANGLE OVER ESTATE LEFT BY SIAMESE TWINS

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 31.—The death of Rosa and Josefa Blazek, the "Siamese twins," has left the Cook county probate court with a legal problem which apparently is unprecedented. In determining the disposition of the $100,000 estate of the twins the court must decide if 11-year-old Fraz is the son of one or both of the twins.
A scientific controversy which began even before the death of the sisters early yesterday has involved itself into the question: Were Rosa and Josefa Blazek one individual personality or did they constitute separate entities?
If they were one personality he son would inherit the entire fortune which was accumulated by the twins during their exhibition tours of the world. If they were two distinct personalities, Rosa being the mother and Josefa, the aunt, only Rosa's half of the estate would go to the lad, while Josefa's closest relatives, including her 85-year-old father and four brothers, would be entitled to her half.
Physicians say there are physiological facts to support each contention and attorneys agree that a legal opinion must be based on a scientific analysis of the bodies.
So far a post-mortem has been opposed by the brother, Frank Blazek, who is in this city. It was he who prevented an operation before death which physicians urged as the possible means of saving one of the sisters.
Frank Pierce moved the benchhold goods of a Mr. Wright from Dayton, Ohio, to Economy in the property of Whittier Beard, west of town. Mrs. Charles Randall who has been very ill is reported slowly recovering.
