

BEVERIDGE QUARTERS MOVED FROM HOTEL; NEW FORCES HOPEFUL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1.—The outstanding politics in the Indiana senatorial contest the past week, according to the friends of Senator Harry S. New, was the action taken by his opponent, Albert J. Beveridge, in closing his headquarters in an Indianapolis hotel and transferring them to the office of his state manager. The supporters of Senator New take this action as an indication that Mr. Beveridge may have given up the fight. The Beveridge supporters, however, say that it was simply done in line with the policy to reduce campaign expenses to the minimum.

At the headquarters of Senator New the statement was made that reports from almost every section of Indiana showed a decided increase in the trend of sentiment toward Senator New's nomination. Charles W. Bookwalter, in charge of the Marion county and Indianapolis headquarters, said that he believed Senator New would carry Marion county including Indianapolis, by more than two to one.

Announcement also was made today that because of the success of the radio speech-making experiment of Thursday night, when an address by Senator New in Washington was plainly heard in Indianapolis, it will be staged in several other Indiana cities, Richmond being one of the places selected. The date for the radio-address, however, will not be announced for Richmond until next week.

WANT EVERY VETERAN LISTED IN CENSUS

Registration booths have been opened for the American Legion Service census in the American Trust and Savings Bank building and the Abe Gross tailoring shop. Mrs. Frank McCoy, Paul Andrews, Frank McCoy and Mrs. Cook will have charge of the booths. "I want every ex-service man to understand that whether he is a member of the American legion or not makes absolutely no difference in this case," said Commander Powell of the Harry Ray post today. "What we are going after is a census of ex-service men; we have the members of the American legion already listed at headquarters. Anybody can sign up for the legion any time and welcome, but what we are after now is the name and the needs of every man or woman that served the United States in the World war. It happens to be the legion that is taking the census because it's all in the legion's line of work, but the census is conducted for the benefit of all the veterans of America."

If any ex-service man have claims unadjusted or compensation coming that they can not collect, or are still suffering from any injury sustained in the service, it is the request of Mr. Powell that they make sure to let their needs be known when the census starts. Information is also wanted about employment, and if you are out of a job do not hesitate to let the census-takers know about it. And if you are in a position to spare your share of the adjusted compensation to the immediate relief of the disabled and their families, the canvassers want your name as surely as if you were in need, say the legion men assigned to the job.

Looking at the platform from the center of the tabernacle, arrangements have been made for the city ministers to sit on a platform about two feet high, on the left hand side. NEW PARIS ELEVATOR WILL HANDLE GRAIN ON PLAN OF U. S. G. G.

(Special to the Palladium.)
NEW PARIS, Ohio, April 1.—A contract for handling grain according to the United States Grain Growers plan was signed with the New Paris farmers' elevator Friday night by J. E. Scholl, captain of the membership soliciting team in Wayne county.

By invitation of the board of directors of the company, Mr. Scholl met with the board at the elevator, explained the plan, and concluded a contract with the elevator. This action was demanded not only by the elevator, but by many of its patrons who live in Wayne county and who wished to be able to take advantage of the new plan while still participating in the same selling point. The elevator has planned for affiliation with the national organization for some time, and at the annual meeting last winter, the company was reorganized, changing from an equity to the prescribed co-operative form, solely to comply with requirements of the membership plan.

The new manager also was selected largely on account of his experience in the west where co-operative marketing of grain is more common.

Elevator Bonded.
The elevator is being bonded as a government grain warehouse, which will make its grain warehouse receipts legal security for bank loans which can be rediscounted by federal reserve banks.

Desire for a membership campaign in the whole New Paris territory was expressed Friday night, so that the elevator will have a complete grain handling organization under the new plan. It is probable that the Wayne county territory will cover the Preble county territory hauling to New Paris also, but no attempt will be made to carry the campaign into other Ohio districts.

INTESTESTS FARMERS OF PERRY TOWNSHIP

ECONOMY, Ind., April 1.—Explanation of the United States Grain Growers plan of marketing grain was given by W. F. Oyer, one of the membership solicitors, to an interested audience of Perry township farmers association members at the Friends church Friday night.

A description of the plan of organization, and the manner in which it would handle the grain, was given by the speaker with the aid of a chart, and a number of questions regarding the details of organization were answered.

Mr. Oyer preceded his talk with a short history of the farmer movement as shown in farm bureau organization and the farm bureau's inquiry into livestock, dairy product, fruit, cotton, tobacco and grain marketing, the faults found in present systems and methods adopted to improve them.

The speaker stated that over half a hundred Wayne township farmers already had signed the contracts with the campaign not yet finished in the Richmond district. Similar success had been experienced elsewhere, with no opposition from old grain handling agencies except in a few instances. Only one case of a privately owned elevator refusing to sign a grain handling contract had been found, he said, while all co-operative elevators sign as soon as visited.
