

METHODISTS TO HOLD RALLY HERE MAY 3; WILL HEAR SUNDAY

Pastors and stewards from 45 churches, representing some 80 Methodist churches in the Richmond district, will hold their meeting in Grace church, Richmond, on May 3, and attend the Billy Sunday tabernacle meetings on the afternoon of that day.

While the meeting is for the pastors and the district stewards first, the notice of the meeting suggests that the meeting be the "Richmond District May Day Rally," and that a large delegation from all the churches be present, and attend the tabernacle meeting.

Billy Sunday is to be the main speaker at the noon time luncheon to be served in the church. The program for the whole day is as follows:

9:30—Devotional period, Richmond District Evangelism, 1922, E. M. Dunbar.

9:45—Organization and Forecast for the year.

10:15—The Every Member Campaign canvass, May 1 to 21, J. F. Edwards.

10:30—Facing the goal of 1922: The Importance of District Team Work, Dr. J. A. Beatty, superintendent of Muncie district.

11:00—Christian Stewardship Year: What of it? Pictures from area of Africa, A. H. Backus.

Fifteen minutes for questions and discussion.

12:00—Noon luncheon served by the ladies of Grace church.

Billy Sunday, luncheon speaker.

Afternoon Session

1:30—Meeting of district stewards in separate room.

1:35—Closing consecration period, presided over by Dr. Beatty.

Subjects for meditation: (a)—Our Call, (b)—Our Consecration.

2:15—Richmond district march in a body to the tabernacle to hear Billy Sunday.

R. W. Stokes will preside at a luncheon and lead the march to the tabernacle.

Notes

All pastors are expected to attend this meeting. The pastor is requested to hand a copy of this program to his district steward and also to the reserve district steward, and to see that one of these is in attendance, if possible. This is especially important this year.

PRAY FROM HEART, URGES MRS. ASHER

"Prayer is an expression of a sincere desire to God," declared Mrs. William Asher, of the Sunday party, to a union prayer meeting of district five at Second Presbyterian church Friday morning.

"It matters very little where we are or how we pray," she said, "so long as we pray from our hearts. You may leave out an adjective or two, and all that, but God will understand you, just the same."

The meeting, which was to have been addressed by Miss Kinney, was held under the direction of Mrs. Asher, while Miss Kinney was at Earlham college with Homer Roddeheaver.

About 75 persons attended, and a number of prayers were offered.

Tabernacle Notes

LOSES PIN

One of the choir members has lost a gold bar pin set with brilliants. If any person has found it in the chorus seats, it would be appreciated, if the pin could be turned in to Mr. Peterson, at the tabernacle office.

EDITOR PRESENT

Editor Frank Snyder, of the College Corner News, and Mrs. Snyder, who were with the delegation from his town to the tabernacle meeting on Thursday night, occupied seats in the press box of the Palladium.

RELATED TO VETERANS

Homer Roddeheaver said that both he and Mr. Sunday were sons of veterans, and so stood up when the representative of the Sons of Veterans stood up. Billy Sunday wanted, however, to get the pass word of the organization, as he claimed he had never had it.

PICK THEIR SONG

The Baptist delegation asked for "The Fight Is On" when Mr. Roddeheaver asked them to suggest a song.

CROWD CHEERS

The color bearers of the Sons of Veterans were not the first to come down and shake Mr. Sunday's hand when he asked them for pledges to lead a Christian life Thursday night. But when the flags did pass before Mr. Sunday, the crowd gave a demonstration.

413 PLEDGED

In the three evenings that Rev. Sunday has called for persons to "hit the road" and pledge themselves to lead a better Christian life, 413 have filled out cards pledging themselves to that promise. On Tuesday night 119 signed, on Wednesday night 138 signed, and on Thursday night there were 156.

200 VISITORS

There were about 200 people from College Corner at the tabernacle on Thursday night. When they stood up, Mr. Roddeheaver declared that he did not believe that many persons could live at a corner. The U. P. church of Morning Sun was present about 150 strong, and the veterans' organizations had about 15 delegates present. The Baptists numbered about 300.

HANDLEY IS SPEAKER AT I. O. O. F. RITES

Mayor Lawrence Handley was the principal speaker at the annual celebration of the founding of the New Paris I. O. O. F. lodge held in New Paris Thursday evening. The New Paris lodge is 103 years old.

The Whitewater lodge at Richmond is 75 years old. Tentative discussion of a diamond jubilee to celebrate the long life of the organization has been brought up, but no definite plans have been made.

Graduation Exercises

Are Held at Economy

Commencement exercises for the graduates of Perry township schools and the Economy high school were held at Economy Thursday evening. An address by Rev. P. A. Dressel and presentation of diplomas by County Superintendent C. O. Williams featured the program.

Police Court News

ARREST FLOYD COOK
Floyd Cook was arrested by Officers Vogelstein and Bundy on South Sixth street Friday morning. He is charged with violation of the liquor law.

A touring car stolen from the parking space near the tabernacle Thursday evening, was found in West Richmond at 11 o'clock in the evening by the police.

Barthou Will Confer

With Premier Poincare

GENOA, April 28.—Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation to the Genoa conference plans to leave for Paris today to communicate with Premier Poincare regarding developments at the conference, according to the Havas agency. He will return from Paris next Wednesday.

The omnibuses of London travel about 85,000,000 miles a year.

SYMPATHY

Chapter 40

Patty went on with her day dreams, in spite of the increasing cynicism of the matrimonial example she was watching.

To be sure, after Humphrey's anger had smoldered out, things settled down as before. Millie tried hard, spasmodically, to be a good wife, and a good housewife too. But she did not succeed.

First of all, neither Millicent nor her mother were meant to do housework. Running a house successfully requires a certain sort of talent.

Housewifery, if it may be so called, is a particular science. Some women possess it instinctively, some acquire it by diligence. But Mrs. Parke and Millie had a heavy hand at domestic work, and a general lack of judgment.

They were both fond enough of a nicely arranged home and daintily cooked meals to recognize the difference now, without having the energy or ability to change their way of working.

"I don't mind half-cooked beans and overdone steak," Humphrey said once. "I'm not growling. What I object to is hearing you growl about the bad food when you buy and cook it."

This was in answer to a complaint of Millie's that "things at home had been taken away her appetite." And as she was really responsible, there was no answer to Humphrey's criticism.

Mrs. Parke was even worse about cooking. Some say that there is no one so pampered as the woman of small income who has been able to afford one servant. Her helplessness exceeds that of the woman of enormous wealth, because it is a self-conscious helplessness. This was true in Mrs. Parke's case at least.

"The work wouldn't be so bad if you didn't have so much of your furniture over here," Millie said to her once. For when she moved, Mrs. Parke had brought over all her most precious possessions—an incongruous mass of objects varying from mahogany Colonial pieces brought out west by her grandfather, through the knobby dark walnut and horsehair of a later period to the fluted, varnished products of the '80s.

As each piece was catalogued for the sale, she found that she was too strongly attached to it to have it sold, and half her house at least now mingled with Millie's modern furniture in the already too well filled room.

This remark of her daughter's made Mrs. Parke do one thing strange—carry her complaint to Humphrey. It was almost the only time she had sided with her son-in-law against her daughter. Humphrey tried to pacify her—and she was drawn into an argument with Millie.

"Her things do clutter up the place. I have to sweep and dust them. I ought to know the amount of work they make," Millie said finally.

Mrs. Parke, being feminine and middle-aged at that, made use of her privilege of changing her mind instantly. "It's your fault anyway," she turned upon the astonished Humphrey. "If you hadn't lost my money I wouldn't have to be here. You made me sell my house—what business was it of yours?"

Humphrey was getting to the state where one more complaint would have been the proverbial straw on the camel's back. He tried to hold his temper and succeeded in answering quietly enough.

"You seem to forget that six years ago you let a salesman wheedle you into putting most of your money into an oil stock you never heard of. You never let me know until you'd lost almost everything you had."

"Since you've such a short memory, I might remind you that you put mortgage on your house then, and that I had to come to your rescue and pay off that mortgage and give you back your house. So I don't feel so bad at having you sell it now, as it was practically my house. But I'm not saying I'm not sorry at losing some money of yours."

"Oil or lumber, I don't know which is worse. I lost my house either way."

CLEAVING SPANGLES BRILLIANT IN BRIGHT LIGHT OF SHOW DAY

Oh boy! Did you see 'em? Elephants and everything!

Shortly after 7 o'clock Friday morning the John Robinson circus specials arrived over the Pennsylvania railroad, and for two hours, hundreds of people watched the mechanical workings of the big show in unloading and the erecting of the "bigtopps."

All morning, wagons rumbled over Sixteenth street to Main and to Twenty-third street, cut to the big show grounds. Long before 11 o'clock Main street was crowded with people waiting for the coming of the parade.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the buglers were heard and the street pageantry was appearing. "Everything new, bigger and better than ever," was the statement of the press agent, and the parade bore him out. Elephants, camels, caravans, glided animal wagons, all new in appearance, costumed beauties of all nations, five bands, clowns, steam calliopes, stretched over the city streets in parade for a distance of two miles.

Parade Route.

The big parade passed over Main street to Sixteenth to North E. to Ft. Wayne avenue, to Fifth, to Main and to the grounds.

With the return of the big parade to the show grounds, hundreds of people swarmed the grounds for admission and from all indications a record breaking crowd attended the afternoon performance.

The evening performance will be given at 8 o'clock. Doors will be open at 7 o'clock with privilege of visiting the menagerie, one of the finest collections of wild animals on exhibition. Reserved seats are on sale at Quigley's Drug store.

After the night show, the big circus will entrain about midnight in the Pennsylvania railroad yards, leaving for Hamilton, Ohio.

LOCAL ELKS TO FILM PICTURE FOR PUBLIC

"Along Came Jack," is the title of a film with local setting that will be produced by Richmond Lodge No. 649 of Elks. Local men and women will appear in the film, whose setting will be confined entirely to the city and the whole story will be acted by local people.

The cast for the film is being selected now by a committee and the first reels will be made early next week. The picture will be shown in conjunction with another picture at the Murrette theatre after it has been produced.

The reel will contain nothing but the story of the action, and no advertising of any kind will be permitted in the film or in connection with its production.

25 PER CENT SLASH IN VALUATIONS OF INDIANA FARM LANDS

A general 25 per cent decrease in Indiana farm land valuations was made by tax assessors this spring, according to reports presented at the meeting of the farmers' federation tax committee in Indianapolis on Thursday. Everett Hunt, Wayne county farm bureau president and committee representative for this district, attended the meeting.

Recommendations made last winter by the tax commission and the farmers' federation, that committees be named from the farm organizations to co-operate with tax assessors in finding the true values of farm land, were followed all over the state, it was reported. All county tax assessors, and all but a few township officials, welcomed the assistance of the committees.

The new "true value" figures will be used as a basis for assessing taxes in 1923, and are expected to distribute the tax burden equitably upon all industries.

All but two of the 10 farm bureau districts were represented at the meeting, Mr. Hunt said, and reports of the two absent members were telephoned in. A committee of four was appointed to present the findings and recommendations of the tax committee to the commission. A complete report of the activities and work of the federation committee will be presented to the federation members within a few days, President Hunt stated.

The world's record output of coal was 579,386,000 tons in 1918.

Only Powerful Medicine Will End Rheumatism

Rheuma, a Physician's Prescription, Contains No Narcotics—Harmless—and the One Remedy That Has Forced Rheumatism to Disappear.

It matters not whether you have had agonizing pains from rheumatism for 20 years or distressing twinges for 2 weeks. Rheuma is strong enough and mighty and powerful enough to drive rheumatic poisons from your body and abolish all misery or money back.

A. G. Luken Drug Co., and all druggists are authorized to sell Rheuma on a no-cure no-pay basis. A large bottle is inexpensive, and after you take the small dose as directed once a day for two days you should know that at last you have obtained a remedy that will conquer rheumatism.

For over ten years throughout America Rheuma has released thousands from agony, pain and despair. This is what it did for one sufferer—it should do as much for you.

"After a long time I found something to cure me of rheumatism. Less than one bottle of Rheuma relieved me of my trouble, and now I am without pain for the first time in eight years. I was so bad that I could not get up without pulling myself up with my hands, and could not get out of bed without rolling over. The trouble was all in my back."—P. N. ## Worley Given Contract For New Goshen Bridge

George Worley was awarded the contract on the Goshen bridge located on the Richmond Middleboro turnpike, as a result of the opening of bids in the township trustee's office Thursday. Worley bid $380 on the job which involves straightening out the road where the creek bank has caved and thrown it out of alignment. The highest bid was $529. The estimated cost was over $600.

Mrs. Margaret Smack, a colored woman of Philadelphia, probably holds the record of being the oldest woman voter in the country. She is now 107 years of age and cast her vote in the recent elections held in Philadelphia.
