

GREAT BRASS BAND OF 1,000 PIECES TO PLAY AT SPEEDWAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 8.—One of the largest brass bands ever assembled will parade the home stretch of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway during the tenth annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race, Tuesday, May 30. The band will number 1,000 pieces and will be under the leadership of W. S. Mitchell, the director of the famous Indianapolis Military band.

Director Mitchell is organizing the monster band, which will consist of approximately forty individual organizations, massed for the parade before the start of the year's greatest speed event. The bands already designated for the event on May 30 are now practicing the music which is to be played during the parade. The band will be preceded by a guard of marines and the colors of all the countries represented by cars or drivers in the race. The colors of the countries will be carried by veterans of the armies which have defended the colors on the field of battle.

Previous to the parade and after the parade the bands will be assigned to stations around the track and in the stands and will entertain the vast assemblage of speed fans from seven in the morning until after the last car of the ten prize winners has finished its 500-mile dash, around 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Carl G. Fisher, president of the Speedway, and the man who conceived the idea of building the monster brick oval, decided recently that as Indianapolis had the greatest race annually it should do something out of the ordinary to entertain the speedway visitors of such a monster aggregation and the martial airs it would render would be as unique in musical annals as the speedway's races have been in motor race history. In previous years the speedway has had large band parades with a dozen or more organizations massed into one, but this year's band will far exceed anything ever attempted.

The major portion of the bands invited to the speedway will come from the Indiana cities, with some bands from just across the line in neighboring states.

Hudson's Bay Company Still Has 155 Fur Posts

The Hudson Bay company today has 155 fur posts throughout Canada. This is a greater number than it ever had before in its existence. They are scattered from the Arctic to the United States boundary and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in whatever region, near or far, that furs are to be taken. Fort McPherson and Arctic Red River are farthest north. The southernmost is North Bay in Ontario. Labrador, Ungava, the vast hinterland of Quebec, Ontario and the northern portions of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are dotted with posts that fly the company's banner. Fifteen encircle Hudson Bay. Two are in Baffin Land north of Hudson Straits. From Edmonton to the Arctic more than two dozen are scattered along the Peace and Athabasca rivers, Athabasca, Great Bear Lakes and the Mackenzie valley. The fur country trenches upon the heart of civilization. There are Hudson Bay fur posts within a hundred miles of Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg.

G. A. R. Asks Funds For Memorial Day

The following appeal for support for Memorial day funds was submitted by a member of the executive committee of the G. A. R.:

"Memorial day again is near at hand—a day held sacred by all patriotic people on which to pay a loving tribute to the memory of those loyal and devoted men who, by their service and sacrifice, helped to save the nation, as well as those patriotic men of other wars who gave their all in defense of their country and flag. Already the various committees have been at work making preparations to fittingly honor these brave men with patriotic exercises and by decorating their graves with the choicest of flowers. A splendid program for the occasion is being prepared and one of Indiana's gifted orators, Judge Raymond Sprinker, first state commander of the American Legion, has been secured to deliver the Memorial day address.

"That the day may be properly observed and the necessary expenses met, the executive committee again appeals to the patriotic citizens for financial aid for this worthy cause. It is hoped that this may be the last appeal for this purpose. With the fund remaining over the last encampment of the G. A. R. 10 years ago, and from other sources, a sufficient amount, which it is expected will be secured at this time, will enable the committee to carry on this patriotic work in the years to come.

"It is hoped that this appeal will be met by a most generous and liberal response. A committee of ladies from William G. Benton camp, S. of V. Ladies' Auxiliary No. 43, has been appointed to canvass the city for this purpose, and who are authorized to receive subscriptions for any amount that may be subscribed. Give these patriotic women a hearty welcome, and a liberal subscription, when you are called on.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY IS SEEKING CONTROL OF FORT ST. CLAIR

EATON, Ohio, May 8.—Control of Fort St. Clair, near Eaton, is being sought by the Preble County Historical society. Purchase of the site possibly is contemplated, but no definite plan for this has been adopted. The state may be asked to buy the site and preserve it as one of the several historic battlefields of Ohio. Whites and Indians waged battle at Fort St. Clair more than a century ago.

William C. Mills, director of the Ohio State Archeological and Historical society, recently tramped over Fort St. Clair site with officers and members of the local county historical society, after a meeting of the society, at which he was a guest. State Senator G. M. Kummer and Representative H. D. Silver were in the party.

Boundary lines and practically all semblance of the historic fort have been obliterated by agricultural progress. Fields have been fenced in and the soil filled for many years. Some of the woodland remains intact. In the edge of the wooded section a half dozen or eight grave markers were placed in position a few years ago to mark the resting place of as many whites who fell in battle against the Indians. These markers serve as the only objects to remind one that a military fort and battleground at one time occupied the site.

The government of Angora, however, is not disposed to grant a general concession for all the rivers, but only for some of the principal ones and that on condition that industrial establishments shall be created.

Send Mother a Picture as Well as a Flower—

The thought of connecting "Mother's Day" with the sending of flowers is, indeed, beautiful. How much more beautiful the thought of sending her your photograph. The flower, though beautiful, soon fades to nothingness, while a well-made photograph will retain its present charm all through your mother's life—a daily reminder of your love.
