

SUGGESTS CANCELLING SOME ALLIED LOANS TO STIMULATE TRADE

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Cancellation of some percentage of the inter-allied loans was suggested by Fred I. Kent, vice president of the Bankers' Trust company, of New York, to the National Foreign Trade convention here today as a factor that would accelerate the return of trade and commerce throughout the world. Mr. Kent stipulated, however, that such cancellation should be made after agreements as to co-operation and that the percentage of loans cancelled should represent a direct and legitimate war charge to the nations taking part in the cancellation.

"As the war went on," he said, "it turned out that in a large part we were actually loaning to the allies to make it possible for them to save the lives of American boys. After the armistice large sums were spent by the allies from the proceeds of loans which had been made them by the United States for purposes of reconstruction and during the war payments in large amounts were made for civil purposes. Such sums should be paid. Names Way Out.

"Should it be found on examination that some round percentage such as, say, 60 per cent of the loans made our allies can be fairly stated by this country as having gone primarily for its own services and, if we should then come to some agreement with our allies under which their governments would co-operate with this country toward bringing order out of the present economic chaos which exists, the good to this country and to the world would be inestimable.

"Such action on the part of the United States, intelligently carried out can be made to go a long way toward relieving some of the obstacles which stand in the way of the return to the normal foreign exchange movements."

Mr. Kent suggested also co-operation with Russia aimed to reduce the menace of the Red army, quick settlement of German reparations, reduction of governmental waste, stoppage of inflation of currency, removal of trade barriers, greater co-operation between capital and labor, elimination of class and national hatreds and increase of integrity and square dealing.

NEW ACQUAINTANCESHIP

Chapter 52
"Mrs. Munn isn't in," she began, answering the question he began when he opened the door.

Then she flushed, then she felt an almost irresistible desire to giggle. For the place the Committee worked in—when it worked—was the long, single showroom of the ex-lingerie shop, and at present Patty was alone. It was so obvious that Mrs. Munn wasn't in.

Paul laughed outright. Then he sat down, turning a chair around so he straddled it, resting his crossed arms along its back.

"I'll wait—may I?"

"Of course."

Conversation, for Patty, came to a standstill. She wondered whether she should sit down and go on with her work, as a proper young secretary would do. Or, since she had met Paul socially, wouldn't it be rude to go right along working, as though he didn't exist?

If she worked, she couldn't look at him. And her eyes had been staring for months, remembering him and not seeing him. So, being young, she looked up again, and smiled in answer to his broad, cheerful grin.

Then, feeling she should work, just because she wanted not to so badly, she began straightening some papers. Patty rarely lost her beautiful poise, but she nearly did so today.

"It's not a bit of use," Paul began. "What isn't?"

"It's not a bit of use for you to sit there and pretend to be an efficient young business woman. You just don't look it. I told you last summer that people with golden hair had no right being serious minded."

THREE CHICAGO LABOR LEADERS HELD IN CONNECTION WITH POLICE MURDER

Detectives seized the headquarters of the Chicago Building Trades Council, following the killing of two police in the labor war, and arrested three leaders, Fred Mader, "Big Tim" Murphy and Cornelius Shea. They then remained in the offices and arrested every labor leader who appeared there.

along the streets. Patty noticed that the traffic police knew Paul wherever they stopped, and touched their caps, or called out a word of greeting. She stole another glance at Paul and admired his big leather coat.

Mrs. Munn was out of a garishly lit stage, trying to be sweet and firm at the same time to a dozen young girls whose interest in life was centering about tea rather than rehearsals.

"Oh, I'm so glad you got here! Paul, you remember Patty Parke? I told you she was helping me with this Civic work. Children, here are these costumes Mrs. Darlington is lending us. I want them all on in 30 minutes and Paul is going out and bring in tea.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS FOR BLADDER ILLS

Dayton Man Reports Relief With Simple Remedy After Getting Up 15 or 20 Times Each Night for Two Years.

Mr. Julius Mayer, 1430 East Fifth St., in his own home paper, the Dayton News, "For two years my bladder caused me to get up many times at night and too frequently in the afternoon. After taking a few doses of Lithiated Buchu, my bladder works perfectly normal and I can sleep all night."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the kidneys and bladder as Epsom Salts do on the bowels. You will be surprised at the impurities which come from the bladder after taking a few doses of Lithiated Buchu. It is not a patent medicine as the formula is on the package. The tablets cost 2c each. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several high priced drugs, which are useful to give relief. It is not likely that you have ever taken a remedy similar to this. Try a few doses for backache, sore bladder, scanty or high colored urine and frequent desire at night.

You can see the formula and learn more about Lithiated Buchu at A. G. Luken Drug Co. and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.—Advertisement.

Is Holding His Own

"Ten years ago I received such wonderful help from your medicine for my stomach trouble that I have recommended it to hundreds of other sufferers. Recently a friend of mine whose brother in a distant city was stricken with acute indigestion and was not expected to live, got his brother to take a bottle on my advice. I have just received word that his brother was holding his own, and I am confident that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will entirely restore him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the causes of many of the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
