"THE SAME AT THIS END!"

"When the train gets to a station the conductor will open the door at the other end of the car and call out the name—and you open your door and yell the same at this end!" were the instructions given to a new brakeman on a branch line.

"Adamsville—Adamsville," sang out the conductor at the next stop.

"The same at this end," shouted the new railroader from the other doorway.

Of course he was wrong, but—there ARE times when it's a satisfaction to know that things are "the same at this end."

When you turn to the Palladium's Classified Section, for instance, you can be sure that the ads are arranged in systematic order—from one end to the other.

The ads start in A-B-C order and they end that way. The classifications begin in a 1-2-3 arrangement and they're that way at the finish, too.

You can rely on the A-B-C Classified Ads for convenience and profit—read them every day!
