opinion merely because there is a strike in Kansas is unwise.

I am not courting arrest, but standing firm for free speech and free press White continued.

Meanwhile Kansas hasn't been so worked up over anything since the Stubbs administration slapped Jay E. House, Topeka political writer, in jail theoretically for refusing to tell where he claimed he could buy a drink of liquor in Kansas.

Labor leaders cheered White, telegrams, letters and telephone calls poured in on the editor from editors, politicians and others.

Ocasional box of flowers would come into the Gazette office.

"I got my last communication from Henry Gauze, my lawyer, and sat singing pious hymns waiting for the procession to start," White said, in telling how he waited for arrest, Thursday and got an olive branch instead.

"I had a dying statement written and was in a beautiful frame of mind when notice came that a reprieve had been granted until sundown."

"It's Gov. Allen's next move," intimate friends of White declared, and Emporia, showing cards in sympathy with strikers in every window, echoed the challenge and watchfully waited for an industrial court official with a warrant. No communiques were issued from the Huggins-McDermott-White armistice room.

Emporia associates of White today declared they "wondered if there was not something back of it all," pointing out that White and Allen are backing different gubernatorial candidates in the primary.

At the same time Victor Murdock, who cut loose from the famous triumvirate of "Victor, Henry and Me" when he wept at the famous 1912 Chicago Republican convention, lined up back of White.

To the Lady of the House

It is our constant effort and our great desire to supply the best and purest Milk and Cream. Our equipment, necessary to accomplish this, is the most up-to-date in every detail. We DELIVER our product in perfect condition—but there is a period of time after we make the delivery (ranging from two to four or five hours before you are able to bring the bottles in to the refrigerator) when a change may occur in the Milk or Cream, especially during the warmer months. This is no fault of ours, nor can we obviate it unless you bring in the bottles soon after they are delivered.

In order to eliminate, as far as possible, deteriorized Milk and Cream furnished by us, and allowed to stand in the warm air for several hours after delivery, we have secured the exclusive rights for the city of Richmond for the use of the "EVAPO" COOLING JARS.

If you would like to secure one of these "EVAPO" COOLING JARS, sign the attached slip and either mail it to us or hand it to our delivery man or telephone 1850, and we will make delivery immediately.

These jars are made of a porous clay baked medium hard. All you have to do is to fill the "EVAPO" COOLING JARS with water each evening. This water seeps slowly through the pores of the jar until it reaches the outside surface, when it begins to evaporate. This evaporation on the OUTSIDE of the jars reduces the temperature of the water INSIDE the jars until it reaches the minimum and maintains it at that even temperature for an indefinite time.

Our delivery men are instructed to place the bottles of Cream and Milk into these water-filled "EVAPO" jars instead of simply placing them on the steps. The water displaced by the bottle runs over the tops of the jars, but enough water remains to entirely surround the bottles and keeps the contents COOL until it is convenient for you to bring them into the refrigerator—even though it may be several hours.

Resume Tubercular Tests of Dairy Herds

NEWCASTLE, Ind., July 22.—Testing of dairy herds of the county for tuberculosis is being resumed, the usual retest being given now. Dr. Alexander, who supervised the first tests, has returned to the county for the final test and is visiting the herds in company with the county agent.

This test, like the first, is conducted free of charge to all farm federation members who entered into the tuberculosis eradication campaign some time ago. Tests hereafter must be made at the expense of herd owners.
