

MUNICIPAL PLANT TO FURNISH EXHIBIT AT WAYNE COUNTY FAIR

Authority for the light plant to take $100 worth of advertising at the Wayne county fair, and to place an exhibit in the fair in co-operation with local electrical dealers, was granted by Superintendent D. C. Hess by the board of works Thursday.

Education of patrons in reading meters and in other matters in which they can co-operate with the plant and as a result, get better service, is to be the object of the exhibit.

Old valves used in the plant, obsolete in pattern and incapable of further use there, are to be disposed of to bidders in the city, according to an order issued by the board.

To View Ft. Wayne Ave. City officials will view Ft. Wayne avenue within a day or two preliminary to returning to the contractor the five per cent maintenance fund which is always held back for one year on each new street.

Contract and bond for a gasoline dispenser at 1313 North G street, to be installed by Marshall Moore were accepted by the board, Thursday. The police board was ordered to specify which traffic line in the city were to be renewed by the street department.

Installation of a temporary water main on North Pittsboro street, from H street north, to accommodate patrons living on that street at present, was ordered by the board of works Thursday. The main will be replaced with a six-inch size when the street is permanently improved, according to the understanding between the board and Howard Dill, representing the water works.

Want Clean Streets Condition of downtown streets, which have been the source of complaints from citizens because of their alleged dirty condition, was taken up with the street commissioner. Although the streets have been remarkably clean all summer, according to Walker E. Land, president of the board, some complaints have been coming in the past two weeks that streets are not as clean as they might be.

Street Commissioner Schneider explained that with the dry weather here recently, the streets are harder to keep clean. A special effort will be made to operate the horse-drawn street sweeper during the early morning hours, before traffic has started, he said.

In connection with the condition of the streets, Mayor Handley said some persons had been burning leaves on tarvia-covered streets with the result that the covering is spoiled.

City Engineer Dell B. Davis suggested that the property owners need merely to rake the leaves into the gutter and burn them there, as the heat would not hurt the cement.

MOVIE MEN TO STRIKE FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 24.—With both sides standing absolutely "pat" all indications point to a strike of motion picture operators here Sept. 1. A new wage scale must be arranged by that date, and the men insist that they will not accept the figures proposed by the theatre owners. The operators are asking for an increase of $1 a day. Newspapers here today carried advertisements for operators for all theatres.

DUBLIN FAIR INCREASES ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EXHIBIT BY WOMEN AND OTHER ENTRIES

(Special to the Palladium)

DUBLIN, Ind., Aug. 24.—By action taken at a board meeting, Wednesday night, the addition of a new class for the special accommodation of Chester White hogs, not previously provided for, and the securing of a roomy brick building as well as two other stables for the accommodation of the horse class, are provisions for prospective exhibitors which the fair board is confident will assure liberal entries. The fair will be held Aug. 30 to Sept. 1.

Numerous breeders of hogs and sheep and owners of horses have stated their intention of exhibiting, and in the cattle department, also, the superintendent, Webster Rummel, is busily engaged in getting out a good exhibit.

More Space Needed In the women's department, more space than last year has been found necessary, the departments being crowded even then, and showing evidence of being even larger this year. The fair association will apply for use of the Odd Fellows hall, which if it can be secured, will provide sufficient space so that more displays can be grouped to show to best advantage and can be viewed more conveniently than in previous years. Florence E. Knipe for domestic arts and Madge Lambertson for domestic science, with Mrs. Carrol Ogburn, Mrs. Alice Moore and Mrs. Edna Ohmit, in charge of a baby show, will supervise the women's part of the fair. An old brick building, the abandoned U. B. church, will be used as one of the horse stables, much more satisfactory to exhibitors than tents used last year. The Huffman barn with equal space, and, in case of necessity, the John Shaller blacksmith shop where half a dozen horses can be stalled, will insure ample space for that department.

Volunteers Work

At the Wednesday night board meeting, it was arranged that volunteers should meet, Thursday morning, to build stalls partitions in preparation for the fair. Tent coverings for outside exhibits were arranged for also.

Officials of the fair this year are George Cooper, president, Ed Jackson, vice-president; W. E. Floyd, treasurer; R. A. Laymon, secretary; directors: Roy Mills, Webster Rummel, Henry Miller, Clark Faucett, Paul Caldwell, George Lambertson, E. S. Morgan.

Superintendents of the department are: horses, Nat Moore; cattle, Webster Rummel; hogs, Horace Cole; sheep, Lindley Baker; poultry, H. T. Kepler, E. C. Test; fruit and vegetables, Howard Whiteley; domestic arts, Florence E. Knipe; domestic science, Madge Lambertson; baby show, Mrs. Carrol Ogburn, Mrs. Alice Moore and Mrs. Edna Ohmit.

While the soft coal strike has been virtually broken, we believe that the public should be warned that coal will be very scarce for some months to come. Stocks all over the country are very low and every car that is loaded is snapped up by the railroads, steel plants and other large interests.

We do not want to spread "wolf" stories, but we honestly believe that the man who stores enough coal to last him at least until January is showing foresight.

Indiana Rotarian Heads Decide to Form 7 Groups; Reller and Heun Attend

Rotarian executives, meeting at Indianapolis, Tuesday and Wednesday, decided to sub-divide the Indiana district of the Rotary club into seven groups or sub-districts, Will Reller, president of the local club, said Thursday, upon his return from the conference. The group in which Richmond club is located will include Anderson, Muncie, Winchester, Union City, New Castle and Connersville. Robert E. Heun, secretary of the local club, who also attended the conference, was selected representative of the group government. Presidents and secretaries of about 50 clubs attended the meeting in Indianapolis.

Michigan City was selected as the scene for the next district conference of Rotary clubs, February. Every member of the Rotary in Indiana will be invited to attend the conference. Several members are expected to attend from the local organization. Methods for betterment of the organization will be considered at the Michigan City conference.
