

CHAUTAUQUA CLOSES WITH MUSIC, TALKS; GOOD CROWD PRESENT

Concerts by the Hadley company in the afternoon and evening, a lecture by Ada Ward and a sermon by Rev. Charles Whitman, composed the final program of the Richmond chautauqua, Sunday. Despite the storm earlier in the day, which washed out many bridges and delayed the out of town crowd, an excellent attendance was present in the afternoon and evening performances.

Rev. Whitman, platform manager for the season, leaves for Seymour Tuesday. He will speak at the dedication of the Centerville high school, Monday evening.

A notable feature of the closing days of the chautauqua was the children's pageant, given Saturday evening. About 100 children took part in the affair, costumes for which were made by Mrs. Frank Tillson, with her assistants, Josephine Thorn, Mary Agnes Beard of Liberty, Beatrice Owens, Louise Heet, Betty Price and Lois Ward.

Must Chose Place.

"Are you so busy with material things that you cannot hear the call of the civilization? Take your God given wealth and turn it to the service of the cross. Which shall it be, a place in the sun or the shadow of the cross? You cannot serve God and Mammon."

These were the words with which Ada Ward, English entertainer and lecturer, former welfare worker among the English and American troops in France, summed up the duty of America, as she sees it, in her lecture, "You Americans," given at the chautauqua, Sunday afternoon. America is in a position to lead the world, according to her statement.

Differences in English and American family life were pointed out by the speaker, who took occasion to give her belief that American family life "Movie, automobiles and other outside influences make the American home, the finest home in the world, the one least frequented," she said.

America Foremost

"I wonder if you are conscious of the privileges you enjoy. You are the most favored people on the face of the earth. Your boys understand, the boys who saw the cramped homes of Belgium and France, and the old-fashioned homes of England. Frequently they commented on England as 50 years behind. You have begun where we left off. Everywhere in this country you have electric lights. That is a coming thing in England. Wealthy and business people have it but poor people do not. You have telephones. I know of a town in England numbering 10,000 persons in which there is not a single telephone in a private home. The streets of Richmond are better lighted than many streets of London.

"This is a nation of specialists. I never realized that fact until I encountered your shoe shining parlors. Then I realized that an American never does anything for himself that he can get somebody else to do for him. I like this way of getting the world's work done."

Children's Vacation Ends As School Bell Calls Them Back to Educational Realm

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—The insistent ringing of the public school bell was heard in many parts of Indiana today, putting an end to summer vacations of from three to four months.

It was a sad day for many of the little girls and boys—and some of the larger ones too—as they swung down the streets or rode toward the places of learning. To them the day—that set aside in honor of Labor—had a double meaning, for to them the return to study was heralded as the hardest form of confinement and work. On the other hand, it was acclaimed by a few who felt ready to resume preparation for their places in the world affairs at a not far off date.

As usual, first day sessions lasted little longer than an hour, being given over to assignment to teachers and rooms and instructions concerning the purchase of books and supplies. The term, in most sections, will begin in earnest tomorrow morning.

Figures giving the probable number of children returning to school or just beginning their education today were not available. Many of the schools, especially those in the larger cities, will not open until a week from today. The course will be for eight and nine months.

The usual half-day sessions of the first two weeks of school will be observed only in the larger cities, it was said at the state department of public instruction.

SANTA CLAUS PROFITEER, BUT NOT MILITARIST NOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Santa Claus is joining the profiteers, according to a report to the Commerce Department today from Berlin, which advised of mounting prices for German toys. Christmas prices cannot be forecast, the report declared, but an increase of 150 per cent in the price of German toys, to take effect in the fall, has been decided upon, with further increases expected.

The Theatres

MURRETTE

William "Fat" Fong, the Chinese member of the cast that appears in support of Dorothy Phillips in Allen Holubar's production of "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction now playing at the Murrette theatre, is a discovery of Mr. Holubar's. While searching for a peculiar type of Oriental for his picture, Mr. Holubar encountered Fong, who was a peanut vendor in San Francisco. When he offered Fong a part in his production he had to give the Chinaman his word that there would be nothing in the production that would hold either him or his country up to ridicule. Fong told Mr. Holubar that the Chinese have a special abhorrence of pictures that show town wars and asserted that they frequently caused bad blood that ends in strife.

MURRAY

Roland Stone, a young American insurance agent, wanted to win the hand of the pretty daughter of the American consul to Bunkonia. That is why he traveled to that South American kingdom.

Like most Americans, he mingled business with pleasure, and immediately insured the lives of the king and all his ministers. The next day a revolution broke out in the land, and Roland found himself forced to take a hand in it, because if the policy holders he had signed were killed it meant that he would lose his job, and the hand of the fair Anna Mae.

The manner in which the impetuous youth jumped into the turmoil foiled the revolutionists and deposited their drunken king forms the story of "Red Hot Romance," a John Emerson-Anita Leone production released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which is now enjoying a successful run at the Murray theatre. The four day engagement will end on Wednesday. The story is a satire on the romantic, melodramatic stories laid in mythical kingdoms, with Basil Sydney playing the part of the prince, and May Collins portraying the role of Anna Mae.

cant, shall be received or considered by any concerned in making any examination or appointment under this act. This safeguard does not apply to the selection of presidential postmasters under the executive order of May 10, 1921, and you are apparently unwilling to apply it.

"The president, when this order was issued, said these offices should be classified to make them the business agencies of the government and that the order was designed to bring about an operation square with the requirements of any probable future legislation. This statement made clear the intention of the president that the principles underlying the civil service law should be applied to these presidential postmasters."

Statements by the postmaster general that "other things being equal, we send to the president the name of a Republican if there is one on the list" are construed by Mr. Foulke as an "open confession of the political considerations which determine the selections." Carver's High Diving Horses at Wayne Fair to deter Republicans without political influence from making the effort.

This horse dives from a solid platform 40 feet above the lower line of a 10-foot tank of water, no traps or mechanical appliances used. The horse climbs the run-way alone, the "Girl in Red" jumps astride and he dives of his own volition. This will be one of the features of the Wayne county fair, Sept. 13-15.

"If these places were actually classified by law your method of seeking the recommendations of congressmen and of selecting men only because they are Republicans, would constitute a violation of federal statutes and is not in accord with the stated intention of the President that the rule of three method should bring an operation square with the requirements of any probable future legislation."

Mr. Foulke warns the present Postmaster General that, in the language of his distinguished predecessor, Will Hays, "the largest element of causation in the results of the congressional nominating conventions and primaries has been the efforts of the gentlemen who were not appointed postmasters." Mr. Foulke also cites the remark said to have been made by a gentleman of long political service, "Every time I have appointed a postmaster I have made one ingrate and eleven enemies."

Social Service Annual Meeting Set For Sept. 18

Explanation of the work of the Social Service bureau will be made at the fifth annual meeting since the reorganization of the bureau which will be held in the Coliseum on the evening of Sept. 18. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and will be followed by a novel program. More than 500 persons are expected to attend the meeting.

FRIENDSHIP STATUE U. S. GIFT TO BRAZIL

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A massive monument, known as "Friendship" and presented to Brazil for the United States committee for Brazilian Memorial, will be dedicated shortly after the opening of the centennial exposition at Rio Thursday.

The statue, erected through donations by American business leaders interested in improving commercial relations between the United States and Brazil, measures 25 meters and 48 centimeters in height and resembles in design the statue of Liberty.

Has Hughes' Approval

John L. Merrill, chairman of the memorial committee, who inaugurated the movement to present Brazil with a lasting memorial as "an expression of friendship on the part of the United States," received the approval of Secretary of State Hughes for it before public contributions were asked.

The selected figure for the memorial consists of a colossal figure in bronze, symbolic of Friendship, holding in her right hand a sprig of laurel and supporting with her left hand the flag of Brazil, and the United States intertwined with laurel and palm, indicative of prosperity and peace.

A site for the memorial was provided by the Brazilian government on the Avenida Presidente Wilson near the harbor.

PA. LLADIUM CARRIER BOYS ENJOY PICNIC; PRIZES AWARDED WINNERS OF CONTESTS

Heavy rains, bad roads, detours and washouts had not the effect to deter the Palladium carrier boys from attending the first annual carrier boys' picnic held at Camp Ki-Ro Sunday night and Sunday morning rendered an early start impossible, the carriers of the Palladium in Richmond and surrounding towns assembled and clambered aboard three large motor trucks and after many harrowing experiences, reached the scene of the big time.

The first closed road was encountered on South Fifth street where some progress in progress. After the caravan and proceeded some miles, it was necessary to detour on account of a bridge washout on the Richmond-Liberty pike and, through erroneous instructions, the train passed through Abington in search of a road to Liberty.

South of Abington there was another bridge demolished by the high water and it was necessary to return to the Richmond-Liberty highway again and detour east. After another detour through Clinton and close contact with some muddy roads, the party arrived at the boy's camp intact.

In Charge of Events

Physical Director Sidney Peters and Assistant Director Mowe, of the boys' activities at Camp Ki-Ro during the summer took charge of the program of the day's events and the first half was run off before the call to dinner. The trip through the mountains had to be cancelled from the curriculum because of the late arrival.

A big chicken dinner with all of the trimmings was eagerly demolished by the carrier boys very shortly after the dinner call which came about 1 o'clock. The dinner was the biggest feature of the day for the boys and was thoroughly enjoyed by them.

Swimming had to be cancelled from the program of the day because of the high water. The boys contented themselves with watching the strong, swift current of the stream whose muddy waters carried large quantities of wreckage and brush and many watermelons from a patch upstream.

Prizes Are Awarded

The last half of the athletic contests and games was run off in the afternoon and the prizes awarded after which the boys were each given a large sandwich and the party started for home.

The events, contest winners and the prizes are as follows: The Hams, George Martindale, captain, defeated Bacon, and the Beefs, captained by Kenton Kimm, defeated the Porks in the baseball contests and each winning team received a two-pound box of candy; 50-yard dash, Frank Martindale, first prize, football and Wilson Morgan, second prize, indoor baseball; 100-yard dash, boys 14 to 15, Niel Logue, first prize, air rifle and Lewis Carroll, second prize, indoor baseball; 100-yard dash, boys 15 and over, Daniel Weaver, first prize, bathing suit, and Leslie Anderson, second prize, athletic belt.

Paul Revere race, Charles Weaver and Harry Hawkins, first prize, track suit and Daniel Weaver and Howard Fulle, second prize, basketball pants; Swatting contest, draw between Frank Martindale and Charles Hodkins, prize a negro doll; Tug 'o' war, the East defeated the West and the South downed the North, whereupon the South took the honors from the East, each member of the team winning a rubber ball.

CONTEST WINNERS

Shoe contest, Sam Morgan, first prize, basketball knee pads, Robert Kauper, second prize, tennis ball; Obstacle race, Lewis Carroll, first prize, boomerang and Lester Baldwin, second prize, airplane. The judges were unable to determine the winners in the peanut scramble and the prize was the results of which each one of the scramblers received a goodly amount.

Those who attended the picnic were: from Eaton, Ralph Warner, John Jones, Millard Warner; from Fountain City, Willard Hatfield; from Cambridge City, Herbert Hodson; from Dublin, Franklin Griffin; from Mt. Auburn, Spencer Morrow; from Richmond, Clarence Hawkins, Lewis Carroll, Leslie Anderson, Charles Weaver, Kenneth Rother, Luther Martin, Herman Pilgrim, Roland Fulle, Robert Kauper, Everett Lemon, Howard Fulle, Colon Cooke, Joseph Hob, Paul Kauper, Charles Hasselmeier, Wilbur Pond, William Sillin, Russell Reilim, Clarence Wessel.

Two New Madison Barns Are Destroyed By Blaze

(Special to The Palladium)

NEW MADISON, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Fire Sunday completely destroyed barns belonging to Mrs. J. F. Hageman and Mrs. Mary Zecek. Lightning striking one of the barns started the blaze. Loss caused by the fire could not be ascertained, but it is known that insurance is carried on the property. The two barns stood side-by-side back of the Hageman drug store.

'Tweedy Ted' Held for Senate Candidate at Chautauqua

Democratic advocates of the candidacy of Mrs. Lillian Tweedy, of Cambridge City, for the office of state senator, attended a "Tweedy tea" held in the Democratic tent at the chautauqua Saturday afternoon. About 65 persons were present. Plans for another meeting of the Tweedy club will be announced within a few days.
