

DETECTIVES GATHER NEAR FRENCH LEADER ON FOREIGN VISITS

LONDON, Sept. 9.—All the precautions taken to guard the crowned heads who from time to time have visited London, paled into insignificance compared with those taken to protect the French Premier while here recently to do his best to try to make Germany pay up. It is said they were due to the discovery, before he left Paris, that he had been marked down for murder by the German plotters who killed Dr. Rathenau.

Nearly 100 detectives were detailed to guard M. Poincare, including 30 sent over by the Paris Surete, the equivalent of London's Scotland Yard. Day and night ceaseless watch was kept over him. The hotel at which he stopped was surrounded by police. Several detectives were stationed at the hotel as guests, the better to look out for any suspicious character who might try to approach him. Even the preparation of his meals was superintended by chiefs who were brought over from Paris.

When the time came to leave the hotel each morning for the conference at Downing Street, he was accompanied downstairs from his suite — he never used the elevator — by as many as eight or more detectives who surrounded him and escorted him to his motor car. He was simply rushed into the automobile and at once the streets through which he was to journey were cleared as if by magic and speed limitations were ignored.

During the French Premier's stay detectives scoured Soho and other haunts of anarchists or Communists, listening and searching for any word or move that might denote a conspiracy against M. Poincare's safety. Perhaps he himself had nothing to do with it, but such an extraordinary precaution certainly conveyed the impression that while in London he was in deadly fear of his life.

ENGLISH TO PROBE TITLE BARGAINING

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The distribution of British honors, of peerages, baronetcies, and lesser distinctions, is to be investigated, but in this wise.

A royal commission has been appointed and will inquire into the matter, which savors of scandal, for it is known that honors have been more or less openly sold. But the committee will make no public report on what it learns. Neither political party has a clean record in this regard. Therefore, to prevent the wreckage of many glass houses, it was decided no one should be allowed to throw stones.

There is to be no delving into the past, so far as the public is concerned. The commission will simply advise on future procedure in the awarding of honors in years to come.

Rush Exhibitors Lead

In Hampshire Prizes

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 9.—First, second and third places for young herd in the state fair Hampshire swine show were taken by pigs exhibited by Rush county breeders. First, second and third prizes in the 50 head exhibit, and first and second in the 60 head exhibit, first for young herd owned by exhibitor and first for produce of dam and second for get of sire were taken by the litter. Credit for the good showing is given a small boy, a pig club member, who fed and fitted the pigs.

DEATH BY BURNING NARROWLY ESCAPED

GREENVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Ray Welbaum, 620 Martin street, had a narrow escape from being burned to death Friday when her clothes caught on fire while she was canning at her home. Mrs. Welbaum was sealing cans with a patent sealing wax when the wax caught on fire and the vessel in which it was melting exploded, throwing the contents over the clothing of the woman and about the room.

Her clothing were soon a mass of flames and the house caught on fire. Had it not been for her presence of mind Mrs. Welbaum probably would have burned to death. Seeing her predicament Mrs. Welbaum grabbed a heavy carpet and threw it about her body, smothering the flames. She then extinguished the fire in the room. Burns about the face and arms were suffered by Mrs. Welbaum.

STOPS CALF WAGON RIDES

(By Associated Press)
BUCYRUS, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Bucyrus bridegrooms will no longer be compelled to ride in the "calf wagon," at the behest of waggish friends. Mayor Charles F. Pickens has put a ban on the practice, after one newly married youth was strapped to a wagon and left on the public square from early afternoon until after dark.

This newest photo of the heir to Great Britain's throne and his brother, next in line, is an unusual one. It shows them riding together between halves of a polo match between Templeton and Hillmorton at Rugby, in which both participated.

Home Uses for Concrete

This homemade stone is a handy material to use about the place in the odd jobs of building and repair.

If the mortar is falling out from between the bricks of your house, giving it a ragged and run-down appearance, repair it with concrete. If there is mud in the driveway to your garage, make a concrete path. Put a permanent floor in your basement, permanent posts at your gate. If you are a farmer make your watering troughs, feeding floors, silos, of concrete.

All you need to know to undertake making anything of concrete is contained in a booklet which our Washington Information Bureau will obtain for you. Simply fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

COUGHS DISTURB SCHOOL WORK
School teachers should give the same advice to children who have coughs as this Florida teacher. "I recommended Poley's Honey and Tar to the children in my school who had the 'flu' and good results came whenever it was used," writes Mrs. L. Armstrong, Okeechobee, Florida. Poley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates—ingredients printed on the wrapper. Stood the test of time serving three generations. Quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup, throat, chest and bronchial trouble. A. G. Lukens Drug Co., 626-628 Main St.—Advertisement.

BRITAIN HOLDS OUT FOREIGN MADE RADIO SLOW TO BROADCAST

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Sept. 9.—England has been struggling hard to initiate something like a system of wireless broadcasting, based on American lines. The postmaster general has announced in parliament that no licenses yet had been issued to broadcasting stations, but it was the plan of the principal manufacturers of wireless apparatus in Great Britain to form companies to provide broadcasting service. Any bona fide manufacturer, he said, would be admitted to the organization.

"I have been informed," said the postmaster general, "that the broadcasting companies, when formed, will probably desire to impose on their members the condition that British-made apparatus only shall be sold by them, and I have intimated that I will assent to this condition for a period of two years. It will rest with membership of the companies to determine to what extent this condition shall apply to the component parts of the apparatus."

Limit Functions.
"The functions of the postoffice will be limited to approving types of apparatus submitted by members of the company, and inspection of individual sets will not be necessary. Provision will be made under which amateurs who construct their own receiving sets, and licensees who have already purchased imported receiving sets, will be allowed to use them."

The postmaster general said the revenue required for broadcasting would be derived partly from a contribution by the manufacturers to the company on each set sold by them, and partly by a proportion of the annual license fee which would be paid the companies financing the service. The cost of erecting the stations and providing the service, he added, would run into millions, and he had received no intimation from any firm that they were willing to undertake it without guarantee of payment from the government.
