Are you sure that you know how to take every safeguard to protect your home? Smoking, matches, stoves, kerosene, electricity, and a host of other things, if not properly guarded, threaten your home and your family's safety.

Our Washington Information Bureau has for free distribution a booklet illustrating exactly what should be done to make your home safe and the lives of your family secure.

A copy will be sent to any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

CLOSE NO. 13 SCHOHL IN WAYNE TOWNSHIP

Closing of Number Thirteen school in Wayne township, the last one-room school in the township, with a resulting saving of $1,200 per year to the township, was the result of a hearing held in the office of Township Trustee J. O. Edgerton late Monday. Patrons of the school both for and against the proposal were represented. County Superintendent C. O. Williams, explained to the patrons the plans of the county to transfer the pupils to Number Nine school, by back. The saving in cost of school operation will come through saving in overhead, janitor hire and teacher's salaries.

HAGERSTOWN HALTED IN OPERATING PLANT BY TEMPORARY WRIT

Temporary restraining order enjoining the town of Hagerstown from interfering with Robert Cass' operation of the municipal light and power plant of that city was issued by Judge W. A. Bond late Monday after an extended argument by attorneys for Cass and the town. By this order the plant remains under the management of Robert Cass until Sept. 24, when a hearing is to be held on the injunction.

In issuing the order Judge Bond questioned whether the public utilities commission should not have some decision in the issue of whether or not the town had the right to cancel a contract which had been approved by that commission. He also said the contract was capable of being cancelled only under certain conditions, one of being if the operator had failed to comply with its conditions.

Prevents Taking Over
Will Reller represented the town of Hagerstown in opposing the request for a temporary restraining order, and Gus Hoelscher represented Cass. Had it not been for the order the town would have taken over the plant Monday. Reller said:

"What the plaintiff is asking is extraordinary relief and when such relief is granted he must come into court with clean hands. The day Cass received notice that the town intended to cancel his contract he should have filed in the courts of this or an adjoining county these proceedings. He should show proper diligence in this matter. Instead, he has waited almost a month, then comes in and asks that an injunction be granted, without notice to the other side."
