

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO WITNESS MISSION
PAGEANT PRODUCTION

A large audience is expected to witness the production of the missionary pageant "The Search for the Light," which is to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday night at the East Main Street Friends church in connection with the School of Missions of the Federation of Missionary societies. The directors declared the machinery of the pageant in excellent condition, following the final dress rehearsal.

Mrs. John Shallenburg, of Baxter school, and Prof. Edwin P. Truelove, of the Earlham college faculty have been in charge of the staging of the pageant and were in direct supervision of all rehearsals. At the dress rehearsal some of the finer points of costuming and staging, especially in the Palestinian scenes, were made clearer by John Haramy, a native of Palestine and a graduate of Earlham college, who taught in the Friends schools at Ramallah, Palestine, during the last school year.

Three Principals.

The cast of the pageant consists of 148 characters in which there are three principals. These principals are Miss Louise Meerhoff, who will take the leading part, that of "The Seeker." Mrs. W. A. Ellis will act as "America," and Stanley Guyer will be "The Interpreter of History."

The theme of the pageant, "The Search for Light," is "Man's Quest for God," and its purpose is to show the inadequacy of the non-Christian religions, to exalt Jesus Christ as the only hope and light of the world, and to emphasize the responsibility of the church of the Living God in fulfilling its commission to carry the message of light and salvation to every creature. The time necessary for the production of the spectacle is approximately one hour.
