

SOCIETY

Mrs. Fred Miller was hostess for one of the most beautiful functions of the fall season when she entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon-bridge at the Country club Thursday afternoon. Huge baskets of bittersweet, grasses, brilliant autumn foliage and berries were arranged through the club's reception rooms. The luncheon tables held tall baskets of chrysanthemums in rich golden brown, red, yellow, and the more delicate shades. More than a score of dolls in gay-colored and quaint old-fashioned gowns concealed the lights illuminating the tables under their full, hoop-skirts. Each doll, an elaborate coiffure arranged under a hairnet and topped with a chic or coquettish, flowered and be-ribboned bonnet, wore crepe paper costumes in rainbow shades, some trimmed with flowers, others with full panners, or fancy ruffling, resembling the illustrations in Godey's books. Each cover was marked by a miniature old-fashioned girl painted on place cards. The colors in the gowns of the doll lamps and place cards were repeated in the chrysanthemums which formed the centerpiece. Covers were laid for 103 guests. During the afternoon bridge was played at 20 tables. The guests for whom covers were laid at luncheon were: Mrs. Yale R. Baking Powder—that's the big thing in successful baking

It determines failure or success in baking, more than any other ingredient.

If you do not always have satisfactory bakings, change to Calumet for just one trial.

It is pure; containing only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities.

Within the Calumet factories—the largest and most sanitary on earth—hundreds of skilled workers clad in white are busily engaged in producing the baking powder that is used by millions. Human hands never touch it. Its sale is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand. Pure in the making—pure in the baking.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
