

RUSSIA NOW OPEN TO EVANGELISTIC MOVEMENT, REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Soviet Russia is open to a large evangelistic and reform movement in the Russian church and outside of the Russian church, according to Bishop John L. Nuelson of Zurich, Switzerland, who is in charge of the Methodist Episcopal church activities in Russia and who has recently arrived in the United States after extensive traveling and investigation in that country.

Bishop Nuelson tells of a recent interview with the archbishop of Moscow and the whole governing body of the Russian church. He was asked many questions regarding the American churches in general and Methodism in particular.

The bishop says: "They told me, 'our aim is to purge the church of the elements of heathenism and lead the church back to the gospel of Jesus Christ, and to rid it of the monkish idea.'"

Quotes Dignitaries

Bishop Nuelson quoted the Soviet church dignitaries as saying, "We have to build a new church, which is a free church and under a republican form of government; we want to build on an evangelistic basis. You have had this experience in America, you can tell how to do this thing."

"I received two documents from these men, one an invitation issued by the governing body of the church of Russia to the Methodist Episcopal church to send fraternal messengers to their next conference which will meet in February 1923, in order to advise and guide them in the building up of their church. The second was one inviting the Protestant churches of America to send fraternal messengers to the church of Russia."

"The Board of Bishops have assigned three of its bishops to attend the conference in Russia and the Federal Churches of Christ will also send fraternal messengers."

MANY IN CALF CLUB; TON LITTER DRAGGING

Registrations in the boys' and girls' calf club are coming in to his office rapidly, but those in the Hoosier Ton Litter club are not so plentiful, reports J. L. Dolan, county agent. The scarcity of the swine feeding club registrations, unless remedied soon, would indicate a small number of contestants in Wayne county, as the closing date for registration is Jan. 25. Gold, silver and bronze medals are offered for this contest, and as Iowa, Illinois, Ohio and other states have taken up the Indiana idea this year, Purdue is especially anxious for a victory afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Henry Pickett, pastor of the Friends church of this city, will officiate. Burial will be in Quakerlynn cemetery here.

Can France Force Germany To Pay?

The sudden withdrawal of the last thousand of the American soldiers from the Rhine is interpreted by many Washington correspondents and editorial observers as an emphatic protest on the part of the United States Government against France's invasion of the Ruhr Basin and seizure of "productive guaranties" for the payment of Germany's reparations debt. This attitude on the part of official Washington, it is generally agreed, is due neither to sympathy for Germany nor lack of it for France, but to a conviction that the seizure of guaranties will not solve the reparations problem, and that it opens the door to a host of disastrous possibilities, chief among which is another world war.

Many American papers, on the other hand, wholeheartedly applaud France or resorting to a show of force, "the only language that Germany understands"; and they predict that her course will be fully justified by the results. The German-language press in the United States is pessimistic. "In taking from Germany her richest industrial district the French will deprive themselves of the last chance to get any further reparations," declares the Philadelphia Tageblatt, which thinks that the results of the Ruhr invasion will amount to "French suicide as well as unspeakable misery and chaos for Germany, and possibly civil war in the Reich." Other German-language papers express similar convictions.

THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, January 20th, presents a sweeping survey of the criticism from all quarters upon the present acute situation involving France and Germany and, in fact, the entire world. Other news-features of very deep interest in this week's DIGEST are:

Where Do Jokes Originate?

Some one has said that there are only seven original jokes in the world. If this is so, what a vast amount of thought must be expended in furnishing mirth-loving America with material. First and foremost among those who keep the public good natured are the newspaper "Wits" and what is known as typical American humor must be based upon their efforts. The best jokes, the cleverest epigrams, the most humorous incidents as they are printed in the press of the world are eagerly scanned each week by The Literary Digest editors and a selection of them presented upon the screen in motion-picture theaters under the heading "Fun From the Press." This new short reel creates unbounded laughter wherever it is shown. Many hundreds of theaters have booked it and we would suggest that you attend the theater in your locality where "Fun From the Press" is advertised and you will enjoy good entertainment. It is produced by The Literary Digest and distributed to theaters by W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.
