COUNTY MEETING TICKET.

We have the pleasure of informing our readers to-day, and more particularly those favorable to the removal of the County Seat, that the entire County Meeting Ticket has succeeded by an average majority of four hundred and eighty votes; and old DEARBORN STANDS REVERED from Lawrenceburg dictation and misrule.

We had anticipated this result—we knew that the People of Dearborn had the power, and we felt satisfied that they would exercise it, and like FREEMEN, march to the polls and redress their wrongs. We have not been mistaken in our opinions or statements.

Notwithstanding the effort that was made to rally party spirit, and bring it to bear upon a certain individual, both parties, generally speaking, uniting on the removal ticket. It is true, and we are sorry to have it to say, that a few persons refused to go the nomination, and the official returns will show who regarded the strictest, and sustained the pledge, made at Wilmington.

Mr. PLUMMER's majority over Armstrong is five hundred and seventy-three votes. Even in Lawrenceburg township, Armstrong's own citadel, Mr. Plummer obtained a majority of one hundred and forty-six votes.

We congratulate the friends of removal on this result; we do not think they could wish it better. We have now the strongest evidence that two-thirds, if not more, of the citizens of Dearborn, are decidedly favorable to the removal of the Court House; and the Lawrenceburgers have been very conclusively shown that they can rule no longer. We commiserate with them—we pity their condition—but it is beyond our power to aid them.

"THE BOBTAIL TICKET."

We hear this epithet applied to the County Meeting Ticket, on Sunday last, in Union township, by a young genius who was peddling handbills in relation to the candidates for Governor, and who was either afraid or ashamed to tell his name. We are informed that when he arrived at this place he offered to bet that a near connexion of his would be elected to the Senate, from a certain county in this State. "The Bobtail Ticket" was also made use of at the election in Randolph township, by a Lawrenceburg candidate.

The Lawrenceburgers certainly had a right to call our ticket what they pleased, and say what they pleased about it; but what good did it do them? If our ticket was a bobtail'd one, we are disposed to think that about four Lawrenceburg candidates for the Legislature are still worse off; for instead of having their tails bob'd, they have been entirely knock'd up!

COUNTY OFFICERS.

By a reference to the official returns of the Election in another column, it will be seen that JOHN WEAVER, Esq. is elected Sheriff, by a majority of 19 votes over WILLIAM DILS, Esq. the present incumbent; and that GEORGE ARNOLD is re-elected Commissioner.

SWITZERLAND COUNTY.

DANIEL KELSO, Esq. has been elected to the House of Representatives, by a majority of two hundred votes over his competitors. JOHN DUMONT, Esq. has a majority for the Senate; but as we have no information from Ripley, we are unable to say who is elected.

In Switzerland, for Governor, Noble received 793 votes, Read 297; for Lieutenant Governor, Wallace 771, Culley 295.

Some persons who were deeply interested in the result of the election in this county, endeavored to create a fus, because we printed some tickets with none but the names of the County Meeting Nomination on them. Now we recognize the right of every man, or set of men, to have tickets printed just as they please; and we will always be willing to print tickets just as they are ordered. It makes but little difference to Printers who they work for, so that they get their pay.

Mr. COLE, the junior editor of the Palladium, has copied some remarks we made on the County Seat question, in our paper of the 26th ult. He says he supposes it expresses the true sentiments of its supporters. If he has any doubts on that subject now, we refer him to the official returns of the election on Monday last.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET.—We make the following extract from the New Orleans Price Current of July 5th. It shows that Flour has taken a rise, and we are not sorry to hear there is a prospect for our industrious and enterprising Farmers to dispose of this staple commodity and realize something near its value. We are clear for rewarding industry, which is an exciting stimulus to renewed exertion.—Paoli Patriot.

Flour.—We have reduced our quotations for Flour to $7 a $7,50, at which prices the last sales were made—it is the opinion of those conversant with the market, however, that they will again advance, unless considerable arrivals should come in, as there is but little in market at present."

The New York Gazette states that several gentlemen left Philadelphia and New York simultaneously, at 4 A. M. and each party spent three hours in each city, on the 4th of July, and returned to their respective homes before dark! This unprecedented exploit was performed over the Camden and Amboy Rail Road.

For the Rising Sun Times.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The business of the election and other duties, together with slight indisposition, have rendered it inconvenient to furnish you with No. 4, for this week's publication; you will therefore please accept the following scrap in its stead.

It has often been said by practical metaphysicians, that the best method of deducing correct general principles from human nature, is to observe the actions of children before they have learned the art and deceit of riper years. If this criterion be correct, the following circumstance will be valuable to all who are seeking a knowledge of human nature.

About eighteen months, since, I was sitting in company with several young men, who, not being particularly engaged, were discoursing in groups, much after the fashion of the other sex. The youth who sat at my left was dandling upon his knee one of nature's little fair ones, who was probably five or six years of age. He appeared much delighted with her artless smiles, and agreeable chit-chat. At length he kissed her, and she resented it with a smile of disapprobation and a gentle blow on the cheek.

He not thinking her sincere, in thus opposing him, attempted to repeat this little piece of impropriety; but she resisted him so strenuously, that he desisted without accomplishing his object.

When she saw he had ceased his efforts, and there was no probability of his re-suming them, she looked at him with a cunning and wishful smile, and said,

"try to kiss me again."

UNITED STATES BANK.—The Board of Directors of the Bank of the United States have come to a conclusion to suspend their curtailments, and to increase their loans, prudently and gently at those points which most require relief, from five to ten millions of dollars. This is truly good news, and will be hailed by the commercial part of our country as the harbinger of good times, at least, for some months.—Mad. Repub.

BOWEL COMPLAINT.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Please inform the public, that an infusion of white oak bark in cold water, is a much more efficient remedy for the bowel complaint of children and adults, than any of the spirituous preparations of the shops, or quacks, and in four cases of five, is preferable to most if not all, of the nostrums usually employed in this distressing and fatal malady.

To prepare the infusion. Put into a quart of cold water, a piece of white oak bark, about the size of a boy's hand, and let it remain there till the water acquires the color of Maderia Wine. It is then fit for use.

The infusion to be used at discretion, —from a tea-spoonful every half-hour, to two table-spoonfuls, according to the urgency of the case, till the purging is checked. If it be necessary to sweeten it, use loaf sugar only.

The diet should be arrow root, or a water cracker broke very fine, made into a pulp with water; made pleasant to the taste.

Prevention being better than cure, prevention is perfectly attainable.—

Let parents give vigilent attention to the state of the stools—and on the first appearance of the disease, commence with the infusion, accompanied or followed by small doses of powdered rhubarb.—Cincinnati Republican.

NEW YORK, July 14.

All is quiet to day—but neither the authorities nor the citizens feel any assurance that the disturbance will not be renewed.

Whatever may have been the original design of the rioters, it is now generally understood that with many of them, or those who have leagued with them, a desire to plunder is the predominant motive, and of course that the whole gang of thieves and robbers, who made this city their head quarters amounting doubtless to some hundreds are enlisted in the cause. Some of them have reaped a golden harvest already.

Among the property stolen during the riots near the Five Points, on Friday night, were $209, four watches, 24 shirts, 1 1/2 dozen pocket handkerchiefs, $60 worth of jewellery, 7 silver spoons, &c., all of which were plundered from a colored man named John Rollison 157, Leonard street, whose house has been marked as an object of vengeance. Every thing in his shop was either stolen or destroyed. Many other poor families suffered in the same way; and in fact have been deprived of their all. Among others is a black woman with five children, residing at 156 Leonard street, whose husband was recently drowned. All her furniture and clothing is either missing or destroyed.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Governor HAYNE, of South Carolina, has declined to call an extra session of the Legislature, to which he had been urged by the State Rights party of the State, in consequence of the recent decision of the Court of Appeals, declaring the oath prescribed for militia officers unconstitutional. He announces that he will conform to the Laws as expounded by the Judiciary, and therefore directs that all officers whose commissions have been withheld, in consequence of their refusing to take the oath, shall now receive them, upon their taking the oath prescribed in the 4th article of the Constitution. He, however, intimates his opinion that the decision of the Court will only prevent the enforcement of an oath of fidelity to the State, until such time as it shall become part of the Constitution, by its being ratified by the next Legislature.

The tone of the Governor's proclamation is dignified and conciliatory. The excitement, however, in South Carolina is very great. Meetings have been called in various places, and resolutions expressive of the deep disgust inspired by the decision of the Court, adopted with great unanimity. It is impossible to foresee what will be the issue of this new agitation.

TORNADO.—A dreadful tornado passed over Williamsburg, Va., and the parts adjacent, on the afternoon of the 21st ult. From 50 to 70 chimneys were blown down in the old city of Williamsburg, but no lives lost—and many houses much injured or utterly demolished in the country. Several negroes and horses were killed, and many badly wounded.—Niles.

OUR NAVY.—We have no doubt of the correctness of the following remarks by an officer in the Navy abroad:

"I would say, what you may already know, that there is nothing that facilitates the operations of our merchants abroad, or that enables our commerce to succeed in all its relations with foreigners, so much as the sight of one of our men of war. All nations so much respect our flag, and are treated so civilly by our naval officers, that they are ever ready to favor the Americans. This is one great object in keeping up in times of peace a squadron in various foreign stations. The suppression of piracy is another, and a third is, that it forms a school for naval discipline."

LOUISIANA.—The Hon. Edward D. White, lately a member of Congress, is elected Governor of Louisiana by a moderate majority, over his competitor Gen. John B. Dawson.

OBITUARY.

Died, in Boone county, Ky., on the 4th day of July last, ISRAEL GILPIN, a Soldier of the American Revolution, aged 93 years and 9 months.

Mr. Gilpin took part, from the first, in his country's struggle for liberty. The battle of Brandywine was fought on his land. His wife and some of their children were taken into the possession of the enemy, a day or two after the action, whilst he was engaged in aiding and extending relief and comfort to the wounded and the dying. The foe, having gotten possession of his best treasure began to propose terms to Mr. Gilpin, but it was in vain. A letter was brought to him, with the name of his wife signed to it, proposing the re-union with his family, on condition of his abandoning his country's cause and going over to the standard of Great Britain. But he indignantly answered, that he knew the letter to be a forgery; that he knew his wife to be a genuine whig; and that nothing would so degrade him in her eyes as his abandoning the stand which he had for his country. And not only did he, on this occasion act the patriots' part, but he did so to the close of the contest. It looks like a mercy of heaven, that like Jefferson, Adams and Monroe, he has been taken from time on his country's birth-day.

Decided hope is entertained, in regard to Mr. Gilpin, that his was the end of piety. He had long been in the habit of expressing his exalted views of Jesus, the sinner's friend. He also had long entertained the most humble views of himself, and of his utter destitution of all righteousness of his own. He had moreover, avowed his resolve to throw himself upon the Grace of God; and his last hours were much occupied in prayer.

The memory of Mr. Gilpin had extended to it, by many of his grateful countrymen, Masonic and Military honors; and beside an eulogy which was pronounced by E. F. VAWTER Esq., two ministers of the Gospel (Mr. HARRISON and a travelling brother) improved the occasion with religious discourses; all addressed to an audience of several hundred persons.
