

RISING SUN:
SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 24, 1835.

REMOVAL.
The Printing Office is removed to the second story of the west end of Messrs. Haines & Lanus's new Brick Building, on Main street. Entrance, 5th door from the corner of Front and Main.

TIMELY NOTICE--FAIR WARNING.
The second volume of the Rising Sun Times is drawing to a close; and there are a number of subscribers on our list who have encouraged us with their names, but who have not as yet paid us for our work, except in promises. Now, the paper maker will not take promises from us; nor can we pay for ink, rents, provisions, &c. in this way; and promises will answer no longer. We had thought of riding around next month and visiting some of these delinquents; but on a second thought, we have changed our notion. Collecting tours by Printers, are generally a failure. We have known them to ride a week, and the collections would not pay the expense. So, therefore, our delinquents need not expect us to call. But they may rest assured that they will see some other individual instead of us, as soon as the year is out, unless some satisfactory arrangement is made with their accounts. Recollect, there will be no child's play about it--We have earned our money, and we must have it, if it is to be had. Two years is long enough, to send a paper to any person without receiving in the meantime, a little of the quid pro quo.

"H." is welcome to our columns. That individual who has courage enough to speak out against the visionary and foolish schemes of the present day, which can result in no common good, ought to be heard; and our paper will always be open to such persons. We should have no objection to hearing from "H." again.

THE LYCEUM.
We are requested to say that the Lyceum will meet on Monday evening next, at the Presbyterian Church, at 6 o'clock; at which time the few holders of the Church are requested to attend.

LARGE RADISH.
We have now in our office, where the curious may call and see it, one of the largest radishes we recollect to have seen. It is two feet in length, and measures eighteen inches in the thickest part. It weighed when first dug, eight pounds. It was raised in the garden of Mr. MAXFIELD HESTON, of this village.

NOTICE TO PENSIONERS.
We find a notice in the last Palladium, from the Cashier of the Lawrenceburgh Bank, that he has received twelve hundred dollars for the payment of Pensioners in this District; and that he will wait on them during Banking hours. There is nothing like occasionally reminding public men of their duty. Had nothing been said about the conduct of the Bank in relation to its Pension Agency, this notice would not have appeared, and our old Soldiers would have been compelled to find out when money arrived, the best way they could. It should be made the duty of the Branches to publish these notices in all the papers of their districts--and when it is not done now, it shows their penurious and unaccommodating disposition.

The Editors of the Palladium, in speaking of the publications made in the Weekly Messenger, and in the Times, respecting the payment of Pensioners at the Lawrenceburgh Branch, hold the following language:--

"As to the denunciations of the Editor of the Times, we are not surprised. Any thing that has its abode or location here, must receive a liberal share of the abuse of his pen. The people in this quarter understand him too well to marvel at his complaints."

Very good, gentlemen--but be pleased to tell us wherein we have denounced that uncorruptible institution, yeelped the Lawrenceburgh Branch of the State Bank of Indiana, or any of its officers. If we have denounced it, we know nothing of it, and would be pleased to have the asked for information. The Palladium has no superior in magnifying any thing said about the great town of Lawrenceburgh, or its institutions, into abuse, denunciation, and falsehood! It has labored long and long to convince the public that we cannot tell the truth about them; and that all we know is how to abuse them; but it seems that we are understood sufficiently well to make it necessary that the Editors of the Palladium should "marvel" at us.

The Editors of the Palladium, we suppose, are the organs of the Bank. We will not say that this institution has "bought them over"; or that they have received any accommodations; but certain it is that they are bound to white wash the conduct of the Bank in the case referred to--and no doubt they will, if they have not already, receive the pay, even if it is in the way of "a fair business transaction."

We have some papers on hand in relation to the pay of Pensioners at the Lawrenceburgh Bank, which we shall yet lay before our readers, and then they may judge of the matter to suit themselves.

FLOUR.
This article still maintains a high price in the Cincinnati market, without any cause arising from its demand. It has been bought up on speculation, as fast as it arrived, which has contributed to sustain the prices given.--Freighters have ascertained that Flour can be purchased at Portsmouth, Wheeling, and even at Louisville, and sold in this market at a reasonable advance, after paying expense. Large quantities have arrived by the river, during the last week, and much of it purchased to be drayed in the neighborhood of the Canal. These operations have checked the quick sale of Flour from Canal boats; and speculators, finding the prices nominal, and the demand limited, have stored their loads.

There is no demand abroad, at this time, to cause the high prices for Flour, in the Cincinnati market. Speculation, only, can be this cause, and while our Flour Merchants are disposed to make us pay such exorbitant prices for a necessary article of life, we are glad to perceive that our neighbours are not unmindful of us; and by furnishing supplies that will tend to stock the market, afford an opportunity for purchases at a reasonable rate.

OHIO STEAMBOATS.--The number of new steamboats built on the Ohio this year, between Pittsburg and Louisville, we learn from the Wheeling Gazette, is computed at no less than fifty. Of these 35 are for the southern and western States--leaving 15 for the trade of Ohio, and making the whole number employed on this river 60--which, it is estimated, transport up and down annually an amount of merchandize, of which the down freight alone is estimated at 14,300,000 dollars independently of the immense quantity of freight in keel and flat boats, and also of vast quantities of lumber. The value of merchandize transported up the river is estimated at $1,500,000--making the total value annually 16 millions of dollars!

LA PORTE LAND SALE.
By gentlemen just returned from the public land sale at Laporte we learn, that a very general sale of the lands in that District has been made. Four weeks were allowed for the two sales at the Laporte office, and so great was the demand for the fine lands of that country, that, with all possible industry on the part of the officers, the sale was not concluded until long after night of the last day. The amount of land sold is not precisely known, as the books were not entirely brought up at the close of the sales; but it is thought that at least three hundred thousand dollars were paid for land. An immense crowd attended the sale, and nearly all the valuable land in that District was purchased. The settlers generally got their homes at or near Congress price. The country is now receiving a heavy influx of wealthy and enterprising farmers, and in a very short time will vie with any portion of the state or the western country, in the variety and quantity of its products. To those who have seen the country it would be useless to recommend or praise it; to those who have not visited it, we would say, go and see the ease with which plenty is produced, and learn the facility with which the husbandman grows rich, and the pleasures and comforts of that truly interesting portion of Indiana.

Bicknell's Reporter says: "With regard to the city of Philadelphia, the full business, now almost over, has, up to the present time been excellent--fully equal to the expectations of our merchants. Goods to an immense amount have been sold, and at what may be considered fair prices for buyers as well as sellers. There are very few houses to rent within the borders of the city--a great number of private mansions are being erected, and in short, the indications all about us are of those of prosperity. The prayer of every good citizen must be, may this condition of things long continue."

The Bank of the United States is closing up its concerns as speedily as we presume, as comports with public convenience, and that of the debtors of the Bank. We find in the Boston Atlas the following statement:

The Bank has twenty-five branches. Eight of them are sold, or nearly wound up. These sales have been effected at one, two, three and four years' credit. In two instances the instalments have extended to five years. Two other branches will be sold in a few days. A negotiation for them is in progress. The eight branches above alluded to, are Portsmouth, Hartford, Utica, Buffalo, Louisville, Lexington, Charleston, and Baltimore. The two under negotiation are Fayetteville and Nashville.

EMIGRATION TO THE WEST.--We have so often mentioned this subject, that we would look on in silence now, if it did not almost exceed belief. The "movers" may find some room perhaps, in the wide and "far West," but where upon earth do they all come from? It would seem that the whole East and North had broke loose upon us and were pouring in almost as numerous (but not so barbarous we hope) as the northern hordes that overwhelmed ancient Rome. Certainly the great thoroughfare which is now constructing thro' this place, is well denominated "the National Road," it might be appropriately called even now, the Road of Nations, for we have samples of most of them upon it. A gentleman of this place informs us that he counted in one day this week, sixty three moving wagons crossing the ford below town. The average number would probably be two thirds of that. Truly, "Westward the course of empire takes its way."--Richmond Va. Palladium.

From the Western Citizen, (Paris, Ky.)

HIGH PRICES OF STOCK.
We attended Mr. Spears public sale the other day and mention it only to state the prices which some of the stock brought. The Jack Sampson was sold for 1501 dollars, on a credit of 9 and 12 months. Twenty-one, choice of sixty-three yearling mules sold for 35 dollars each, on 4 months credit we believe; and the whole lot averaged $69 66 2/3 cents. The blooded bull Oscar sold for $305, and the blooded cattle generally brought fair prices.

While mentioning this sale, we may mention sales of several blooded cattle in Fayette and Scott, as stated in the Observer and Reporter. The Rev. Mr. Dudley sold a bull calf 18 months old, a cross of the importation of 1817 and the Powell stock, $300. B. Warefield, Esq., his yearling bull Chief, by Pontiac, dam Mary Dacre, to a gentleman of Ohio for $300; and Capt. Grath, of Scott, his full-blooded short horn Durham Cow, Mary Owings, with her bull calf two months old by Pontiac, to Thomas M. Allen, of Fayette, for $350.

Extract of a letter from New Orleans, Post-marked, 5th September.--The city at present, has more strangers in it, than I have ever known at this season of the year, owing to the unusual degree of health--no one sick--and finer weather on one could desire.

A jury in Montreal has awarded $400 to a widow lady, for damages sustained by a person driving his cart against her gig, by which she was thrown out and injured.
