

RISE SUN:

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 1836.

The proceedings of the meeting held at Arnold's creek, on Saturday last, will be found in to-day's paper. We invite the attention of all interested in the erection of a Bridge at that place, to the proceedings; and hope they will not forget that this day week, is the time appointed for another meeting, when the Directors will attend to select the site.

STEAMBOAT DOLPHIN.

The steamboat DOLPHIN, built and owned by the Messrs. JAMES'S, of this village, is now running daily between this place and Cincinnati. It is the intention of the owners to keep her in the trade, and to leave Rising Sun every morning and return in the evening. Thus far she has performed admirably, and we trust the public will not fail to patronize her liberally. The convenience to citizens will be a very great one—and a person will not hereafter be detained a day or two waiting for a boat. The fare to Cincinnati and back, is $2 50.

The late heavy rains, it would seem have been general throughout the country. The river has been rising very fast for the last few days, and it now lacks but little of being as high as it was during the Spring freshet. The injury to the corn crops on the river and creek bottoms, will be incalculable. This morning, (Friday) the rain continues, and the river is still rising.

It will be seen by and article in to-day's paper, that the Trustees of Indiana College, located at Bloomington, are about instituting a Department for the purpose of 'giving instructions in Civil Engineering. Certainly this is a very good idea, and we trust that some of the young men of Indiana will avail themselves of this opportunity to study this important branch of science at home.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS.

For the benefit of the Public, we have concluded to publish, commencing next week, the Law of this State, entitled "An Act for opening and repairing roads and highways," or so much thereof as we may deem important. There is much talk about altering, laying out, and repairing roads in this county, and we are often asked "what's the law" on the subject? We wish all who are interested in these matters to have the law themselves, and for this reason we have concluded to publish it.

We received through the Post Office the other day, a piece of poetry (original of course) addressed "To Miss R—," and signed "J. C. V." It is inadmissible; but we will gratify the author by giving the first verses verbatim:—

1 Dear girl indulge my humble Claim
Thou art my hope my joy my rest
The letters that compose thy name
Stand all engaged to make me blest,
Oh! dear—Mr. J. C. V. must be in a bad way. We advise him however, to go and pour out his lamentations in person to Miss Rosa, (or whatever name she bears), and not attempt to make poetry for a newspaper. He would certainly feel ashamed of himself were we to publish his production at length.

The BEN. FRANKLIN is a splendid new Steamboat built and owned by Messrs. STRADER & GORMAN, of Cincinnati, and has taken the place of the Swiftsure in the Cincinnati and Louisville mail line. She passed down on Wednesday last, for the first time, in gallant style, "walking in the water like a thing of life." She is of a beautiful model, with six boilers, and double engine. The question now is "will she beat the Pike? If she does she will have to run monstrous fast; and we are of opinion she can do that.

TEXAS.

We have nothing later than that published last week, of importance, from Texas. The papers continue to give extracts from letters and documents relative to the battle which resulted in the capture of Santa Anna. We find the following paragraph in the Cincinnati Gazette of Thursday last:

"TEXAS.—Our latest accounts from Texas are those received from Houston's Camp, of date April 26. By many, the capture of Santa Anna, the chief executive officer of Mexico, is still questioned. Whilst we admit that a cloud hangs upon all our intelligence, from that country, well calculated to obscure whatever comes to us, in the shape of information, still we think it as reasonable to doubt, that there has been a battle, resulting advantageously to the Texans, as to doubt the capture of Santa Anna. That the capture of Santa Anna establishes the independence of Texas, is a different matter. We see very little legitimate connection between the one event and the other."

We perceive by the last Madison Banner, that the citizens of that place have some idea of constructing a Branch Rail Road to intersect the Cincinnati and Charleston Rail Road in Kentucky. The Lexington and Louisville Rail Road passes within twenty miles of Madison, and the Cincinnati and Charleston Road passes through Lexington; so that if all these roads are finished, together with the one contemplated from Madison, through Indianapolis, to the Lake, then we can travel from Charleston to Lake Michigan in Rail Road Cars.

But here is another slap at poor Lawrenceburgh! The Burghers will certainly object to this, because it will be a sad inroad upon their calculations; for it must be known that the Burghers would not have consented to let Madison unite their Rail Road with hers at Napoleon, or some other point, had it not been that the Burghers calculated on their Road being the thoroughfare for the trade from Charleston to the "far West." We shall not be surprised to see the Palladium man fly into a pet about this matter, and attempt to rear up the Banner for having the audacity to call public attention to it.

FAMILY MAGAZINE.

We have heretofore neglected noticing this work, for the reason that we did not wish to be too hasty in giving it a puff. It is published at Cincinnati, by Mr. ELI TAYLOR, monthly, at $130 per year. Each No. contains 40 large pages, elegantly printed, and is interspersed with a number of Wood cuts. We have five numbers before us, and we have not the least hesitation in pronouncing it a valuable publication—such a one, indeed, as every member of a family, male and female, can glean instruction from; and what should recommend it still further, is, it is a Western publication, and looks to the West for its patronage.

CONGRESS.—We see no improvement in the doings of Congress. The members of both houses seem to be daily, carried away from their proper business, by extrinsic clamors. Abolitionism one day, Texianism another.—Any thing but the plain direct business, that the nation might expect them to transact.—We have not given any statements of what has been done in the last three or four days, of which we have information of their doings; for the reason that these doings are conclusive of nothing.

Cincinnati Gazette.

HAIL STORM.—Between four and five o'clock on Thursday evening, the 12th inst., a violent hail storm occurred, such as we have never before witnessed. It was preceded and followed by heavy peals of thunder, and considerable quantity of rain accompanied by a strong wind. The cloud arose in the North and extended to the South. In a few moments the earth was literally covered with hail stones, generally of the size of common walnuts. Vegetation is almost stripped of its foliage and presents the appearance of having been whipped with switches. It extended North and West of this place to the distance of four or five miles, and to the South a short distance, perhaps not more than one mile. We have not yet learned the extent of damage sustained, but it must be considerable. The fruit is materially injured. Our citizens whose dwellings fronted to the north, sustained considerable loss from the breaking of glass in their windows by the hail stones.

Bloomington, Ind. Paper, May 29.

On Saturday, the 14th inst. the sum of Thirty eight thousand, One hundred and thirty Dollars, were received for Land at the Land Office in Crawfordsville, in this State.—Early as it is in the season an unprecedented tide of emigration has commenced pouring into our Great West. The most of this may be fairly attributed to the wisdom of our recent State Legislature. Sober calculation can hardly conceive of the improved, populous and enterprising appearance of this Hoosier State of ours, ten years hence. Gentlemen who have recently visited the neighboring and eastern States, say that they take pleasure in letting themselves be known as Hoosiers. If the world stand, and Providence do not frown on us—the time is not distant, when all mankind will acknowledge that Hoosier means any thing else than a lack of wisdom, wealth, taste or indomitable enterprise.—Com. Watchman, May 29.
