IOWA GUARDSMAN IS GUILTY.

Capt. Oliver W. Kulp Disobeyed Orders in Not Stopping Prize Fight.

Capt. Oliver W. Kulp of the Iowa National Guard, commanding a Davenport company, was convicted of disobedience of orders in failing to stop the prize fight in Davenport on Nov. 21, and sentenced to be reprimanded. This verdict was communicated by the recent court-martial to Gov. Cummins, and was disclosed with the findings of the executive, who says officially that, as he has no power to increase the penalty and no desire to lessen it, he is compelled to approve it. The telegraph companies are held to have been "absolutely without justification or excuse" and guilty of "gross negligence" in failing to deliver telegrams from the adjutant general to the captain of the Davenport company, and it is decided that their course could be accounted for "only by their desire to have the exhibition take place."

GIRL COMES FAR TO AID LOVER.

Journey 10,000 Miles to Ask Nebraska Governor for Pardon.

As the result of a romance John B. Martin, now confined in the Nebraska State penitentiary, may secure a pardon. He was convicted of swindling. Inga Anderson, Martin's sweetheart, filed application for the pardon, and appeared before Gov. Sheldon and urged her petition. Among other things she told the Governor she had traveled 10,000 miles to see him and to ask for her lover's release. Martin and Miss Anderson have been sweethearts for several years. Three years ago Miss Anderson's father moved to Alaska, taking the girl with him. The father died and the girl began mining for herself. She struck it rich and is now very wealthy.

USE PICTURE TO HELP INSANE.

Illuminated Painting of Christ Shown to Hospital Inmates.

The physicians at the State Hospital for the Insane in Massillon, Ohio, tried the experiment of exhibiting to the patients a big painting of Christ illuminated by electric lights. It is believed that by thus concentrating the attention of the insane upon this picture a beneficial therapeutic effect will be produced in their recovery. Many of the patients, recognizing the subject of the painting, raised their hands in supplication toward it and some fell on their knees and wept.

Meningitis Cure Discovered.

Cerebral spinal meningitis, the dread disease, which in 1905 took more than 1,000 lives in three months in New York City, has apparently been conquered by Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Dr. Flexner, after almost three years of research and hundreds of experiments, has discovered an anti-toxin serum with which to combat the merciless "spotted fever."

Moorish Ruler Twice Victor.

Recent fighting near Morocco has resulted in two victories for Abd-el-Aziz, the Sultan of Morocco. The ReKannas, followers of Mulai Hafid, the "southern sultan," attacked the Shragna tribesmen, partisans of Abd-el-Aziz, but were repulsed with a loss of 200 men. After receiving 500 re-enforcements from Mulai Hafid the ReKannas attacked a second time, but again suffered defeat.

Pours Molten Lead Into Ear.

James H. Conkling, a prominent business man, is in the Thrall hospital in Middletown, N. Y., unconscious as the result of molten lead being poured into one of his ears. There is a theory that Conkling injured himself while mentally unbalanced. He has been in poor health for some time and disappeared a few days ago.

SLAYS RECALLED WIFE.

Attempt at Reconciliation Ends in Murder at Feast.

Having reassembled his family for a reunion after an estrangement which had lasted for a year, Dr. Walker R. Amesbury, formerly a British army surgeon, at dinner in Hyde Park, Mass., shot and killed his wife, who was formerly Anna Reese, a concert singer. At the doctor's request his wife had returned from Danville, Va., where she had been teaching at Roanoke college, and his sons, Walker, aged 20, and Ira, aged 17, had returned from New York, where they had lived since the family was broken up about a year ago. Mrs. Amesbury's mother, Mrs. Jennie Reese, was completing the dinner preparations when the doctor and his wife became engaged in a quarrel. The two sons admonished their father to remember the day, when suddenly the doctor drew a revolver and fired at his wife's breast. The woman fell unconscious and died within a few moments.

MATRIMONIAL RUSH IN N. Y.

Hundreds Seek to Wed Before License Law Makes It Difficult.

Cupid has been having an "inning" in New York. Beginning Jan. 1 a new law requiring licenses to wed will be in force, and hundreds of couples have been rushing to the ministers to escape the publicity which will follow the recording of all marriages. There are commonly about 250 marriages a day in the city, but for a week this number has been increased threefold, bringing the biggest matrimonial rush the city has ever seen. One minister announced that he married twenty-five couples in one week and had engagements to unite twice that number before Jan. 1. There are many objections to the new law voiced by ministers and others. The objectors say that the law makes marriage more difficult, while they believe that all difficulties in the way of matrimony should be smoothed away. They believe that the new law will induce elopements.

VANDERBILT WEDDING IS OFF.

Society Folk Hear Count Is Dissatisfied with the Settlement.

New York society is stirred by a report from Newport that the wedding of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, heiress to the $12,000,000 Vanderbilt fortune, had been called off owing to dissatisfaction on the part of Count Szchenyi, the Hungarian to whom she was betrothed, with the amount of the marriage settlement which was to be made to him. In all the salons of Newport the story went that the sturdy Americanism of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Reginald Vanderbilt, the prospective bride's brothers, had revolted against the marriage of their sister to a man who they believed had revealed himself as a fortune hunter and that they had persuaded their sister after much trouble that the foreign nobleman is unworthy of her. The Vanderbilt family, however, will go no further than the admission that the wedding has been postponed.

PUT PUMP ON PIVOT.

Warring Families in Double House Evolve Unique Plan.

A war has been in progress for some time between two families using the same well in Marion, Ohio. The man who built the house occupied by the two families drilled a well exactly on the line between the two lots. The purchasers "fell out," and as a result there has been a lot of bad feeling whenever one family trespasses on the lot of the other to get water. A neighborhood Solomon suggested that the pump be so adjusted that it would turn around, permitting the handle and spout to be over the lot of the family which wanted to use it. The suggestion was followed. Each family is so pleased over the solution that the contention is about ended.

THINKS WEST NEEDS TROOPS.

If Navy Fails, Officer Says, 20,000 Japanese Could Control Coast.

Col. T. C. Woodbury, acting commander of the department of the Columbia, U. S. A., in a statement said that the whole Pacific coast would be helpless in case the navy should prove unable to prevent the landing of a force of 20,000 Japanese or other foreign army at any of the numerous unprotected bays along the coast. He said there are not 2,000 regulars on the coast to resist an attack by land, while 15,000 infantrymen are needed.

Frisco Has a $200,000 Blaze.

Fire destroyed nearly the entire block bounded by Mission, Jessie, First and Second streets, in San Francisco. Several factories and stores were burned out and the loss will amount to more than $200,000. Most of the buildings destroyed were only temporary affairs, so that the loss was principally in stocks carried by the firms involved.

Engineer Fails to See Signal.

Rakich, the last of his family, fled from Lodz, Austria, to this country, but was followed, according to a diary which he kept, and which was found in his pocket after the shooting. The other day he withdrew his money from a bank and was about to leave for another city, fearing pursuit, when he was shot from ambush. Three unknown foreigners, who had been seen loitering about Bedford, are suspected and farmers are in pursuit.

VOTES "DRY" TO GET BIG GIFT.

Hudson, Ohio, Takes Preliminary Step to Obtain Ellsworth Benefit.

Because a gift of $200,000 supposedly made by J. W. Ellsworth, millionaire New York coal man, which promises to make the town a model village provided that the sale of liquor ceases before the money is paid over, Hudson, Ohio, voted out saloons by a vote of 206 to 188. The town's sentiment is overwhelmingly "wet," but the chance to get municipal light and gas plants, with a sewage disposal plant and the remodeling of the old Western Reserve College at a cost of $100,000 overcame the saloon sentiment.

FIND CHILD'S TONGUE.

Clue to Disappearance of Girl Causes Arrest of Father.

Sheriff Bauman of Fremont, Neb., directed that Olaf Olsen of Rosalie be arrested, and that Mrs. Olsen and her two children be sent to Fremont. This is the result of the sheriff's investigations of the mysterious disappearance of 4-year-old Lille Olsen, daughter of Olaf, two weeks ago. A thousand men searched for her in Thurston and adjoining counties. One day Sheriff Bauman discovered a piece of flesh in a wheat shock on the Olsen farm. Physicians pronounced this a portion of a child's tongue.

CHICAGO SOLDIER ENDS LIFE.

Anton Garisch Commits Suicide in Akron, Ohio, by Drinking Poison.

Anton Garisch, son of Andrew Garisch of Chicago, and honorably discharged from the Fifty-fifth United States artillery at Fort Hancock, New Jersey, a month ago, committed suicide in Akron, Ohio, by drinking carbolic acid. He was out of work and despondent. A year ago near Fort Hancock Garisch captured an Italian murderer of a policeman, receiving a stab in the side which laid him up a month. For this act he received a reward.

Verdict of Chicago Jury.

Thomas Chamaleas, the Greek proprietor of the Savoy, a saloon in the levee district of Chicago, has been found not guilty by a jury of his peers. Chamaleas was charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday and with selling liquor on that day; he admitted the truth of both accusations; the court ruled that such actions were in violation of the law—the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

GRAIN CROPS SHORT, BUT WORTH FAR MORE.

Government Final Estimate Shows Great Decline in Cereal Production.

PRICES MAKE FARMERS HAPPY.

They Will Get Half a Billion of Dollars More This Year than Last.

The government report shows a shortage of 785,987,000 bushels in total crops as compared with the crops of 1906, which were the largest ever raised in this country, and a shortage of 377,287,000 bushels as compared with the yields of 1905, which were also very large.

The chief shortage is in the corn crop, with 335,000,000 bushels, oats with 211,000,000 bushels and wheat with 101,000,000 bushels.

There is something of an offset to the big losses in the feeding grains in the increase of 6,431,000 tons of hay as compared to that of 1906, and of 3,043,388 tons as compared to the crop of 1905.

Prominent features of the final revision of its crop estimates for the year by the Department of Agriculture were the increases made in the reports of area seeded to spring wheat, corn and oats. In each of these particulars as well as in the estimated weight of spring wheat and oats the official reports ran more or less counter to the general impressions of speculators. In a few instances, such as the weight of oats, the figures given were at variance with all the experiences of the trade for the year to date.

Figures of the Report.

The report gave final estimates of acreage, production and value of farm crops, showing winter wheat acreage to be 28,132,000, production 409,442,000 bushels and value per bushel 88.2 cents. Spring wheat acreage was 17,079,000,
