It seemed like old times to see Silas Swayne circulating among the Republicans at the court house Monday. Silas is nothing, if not busy. He does not look a day older than he did fifteen years ago. He attributes his youthful appearance to a clear conscience and hard work.—Kentland Enterprise.

Deputy Game Warden E. E. Earle was here yesterday, his business relating to the case of the State vs. the Monon railroad waiter, who was arrested here for serving quail to two game wardens on the train. The trial will come up here at the February term of court, and Mr. Earle thinks there is no doubt that a conviction will result.

Bart W. Sigler was down from DeMotte yesterday, and added his name to the Republican subscription list. He says that all of Abe Helleck's old friends up there are glad he is going to be a candidate for state senator, and they are for him to a man. Business has been a little dull up there at DeMotte, as well as elsewhere, and even politics which usually gets to going good and strong there during campaign year, has been a little dull.

Three small children of Chas. Bauer, of Otwell, Ind., Sunday night were playing with a broken doll, and a four-year-old child gave the baby, six months old, a broken doll arm. The little one attempted to swallow it and choked to death within three hours.

Farmers are in the Republican office almost every day asking if we know of any farms to rent. The "classified column" ads have attracted their attention and they are watching this column all the time. It won't cost much to test the efficacy of this column and all are invited to try it.

Rev. "Billy" Sunday, the baseball evangelist, has agreed to visit Elkhart for a revival campaign, Jan. 1, 1909. The contention over the call extended the evangelist is now at an end and the matter is said to be definitely settled. Rev. W. H. Brightmire, president of the Elkhart Ministerial association, secured Mr. Sunday's promise to come to Elkhart, having had a personal interview with the revivalist after a quick trip to Bloomington, Ill., Saturday.

John Bruner is in receipt of a letter from a Mr. Wolff, one of the Hallett, Okla., boomers, who says that a smelting co. with a capital stock of $1,000,000 has located there and will begin operations at once employing 50 men.

Chas. Platt has returned from a three weeks visit and hunting trip in northern Minn. As a nimrod Charley rivals the great Russell. He brought home a fine specimen of a mountain lion and Charley avers that it is the largest one killed in Minnesota this year. Other game also fell before the marksmanship of Mr. Platt, including a number of the large, white jack rabbits.

The Rag Pickers Child company repeated their bill of the previous night to a small pleased audience. This company is one of the best repertoire companies we have had this season. Mr. Brookhart, who takes the part John Thomas, is the author of thirteen other plays they carry in repertoire and is himself a powerful and pleasing actor. His leading lady Miss Virginia Myer is wonderfully clever in her part as well as pleasing in the specialties. The pianist is without doubt the best "rag" player ever here with a show.

In a part of the Spirella corsets there is an extension of soft cloth two or three inches below the boning, making a garment as well as corset. The Spirella corset has three supreme advantages over all corsets. First every corset is boned with Spirella, second a style corset designed to meet the requirements of every type of figure, third expert selection and fitting for the customer at her home where she can obtain proper measurements and a garment adapted to her figure. None of these can be obtained in store.

Stomach Muscles in Old Age

People should be more and more careful, as age advances, to see that their bowels move regularly. In this way they can keep themselves in good health and prolong life. The bowels are not as active in middle-life and old age as they are in youth, and with the majority there is a tendency to constipation of a chronic and obstinate nature.

To ward off the possibility of serious diseases use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. It is especially suited to the use of elderly people because it is prompt but gentle in action, and does its work without griping or weakening, as is the case with salts, purgative waters and cathartic tablets. These should not be used by children, women, old folks or weak people, because they are too violent in action and generally gripe. Furthermore, the results are temporary as reaction sets in and the bowels are bound up more than ever.

A remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is very gentle in action and yet thoroughly effective, and as it contains tonic properties, it strengthens the system instead of weakening it. The results are permanent because gradual, and many can in a short time do away with the use of all laxatives. It will cure the most chronic constipation, dyspepsia, liver trouble, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, weak stomach, bloating, crowding, nervousness and such other stomach, liver and bowel troubles.

To prove how effective it is in serious cases the experience of Mr. Armstrong, of Decatur, Ill., can be cited. He suffered from a gunshot wound during the Civil War which caused a partial paralysis of the bowels and he has had ever since to use a laxative. He says he never found anything so effective, or which worked so near to nature, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Try it and you will say the same. The price is 50 cents or $1 a bottle at any drugstore.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin may have a free sample bottle sent to their home by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only open to those who have never used it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Get out your pen and write for a free sample bottle. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "No Laxative So Good and Sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." This product bears every guarantee No. 17, Washington, D. C.

LOST SOUTH SEAS CONTINENT.

Australian Professor Seeks Solution of Ancient Mystery.

The lost continent of the South seas is a pet study of Dr. Woolnough of Sydney university. The main difficulty in the way of reconciling existing conditions with an original great area was that depths of 2,000 fathoms occurred between the islands. It was necessary to look for land evidence of faulting or breaking to account for the submarine depths. The granite area in Viti Levu was found to be from 400 to 600 square miles in extent, underlying the modern volcanic rocks. A range of granite mountains with precipitous cliffs on each side gave evidence of heavy faults creating chasms of great depth. He found the rivers forming a marked rectangular network, an upraised coral reef 200 feet above the sea level, conglomerate rock showing sea shells at a height of 800 feet above the sea, and certain tilts and tufts which had formerly been submarine and were now at a height of 4,500 feet. All these indicated a tremendous uplift sufficient to cause greater faulting in the original continent. The rivers of Fiji were of comparatively youthful development, and even at present passing through the canon cycle.

REPARTEE OF THE JUVENILES.

Washington Children in Smart Exchange of Compliments.

Evidently there was a severance of friendly relations between two of a group of small girls who a minute before had been romping about the sward in Dupont Circle, for just as the writer approached the daughter of a southern legislator called out to her small companion from the west: "The girl with the red dress on is a cowgirl!" The girl with the red dress on is a cowgirl!" Again and again the taunting challenge was hurled at the red-dressed western maid, who finally, with one supreme effort at self-control, retorted: "Oh, very well, then, the girl who is a hollerin' is a sheep!" I'd sooner be a cowgirl than a sheep, 'cause the president is fond of cowboys and cowgirls, but not even a secretary likes a sheep!"

He Knew How.

"How," asked the young man who had just bought the village paper and desired to win prominence as an editor, "can I get the public to become interested in my journal? I know the principal thing is to make a good paper, but if nobody takes it how will anyone find out that it is good? Something must be done to attract attention—to cause the people to understand that we are on earth." "That'll be easy," said the traveling printer, who had stopped over to assist in putting the patient on its feet. "Just print an item saying that a certain preacher in this town will get into trouble if he doesn't cease paying attentions to a certain married member of his flock and cease quick. I'll bet the paper containing that item won't be off the press 40 minutes before there's a copy of it in every house in this town."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fat Men and Jobs.

Employment agents say it's about as hard to get work for a fat man as for a gray-haired one. According to their statements, employers of labor hold that a fat man is indolent. They assert that the hustler, the fast, nervous, energetic worker, is sinewy rather than fat, and does 30 per cent. more work than the soft, fat fellow. "It is not uncommon for us to advise fat applicants to diet," said an employment agent, "and reduce their weight before beginning to canvass for a job." So far as recorded, Dr. Osler has expressed no opinion on the expediency of chloroforming men who are running to adipose tissue.

All Were Prime Ministers.

An eminent surgeon was once sent for by Cardinal Du Bois, prime minister of France, to perform a very serious operation upon him. The cardinal said to him: "You must not expect to treat me in the same rough manner as you treat your poor miserable wretches at your Hotel Dieu." "My lord," replied the surgeon, with great dignity, "every one of those miserable wretches, as your eminence is pleased to call them, is a prime minister in my eyes."—Success Magazine.

Worse and Worse.

A convict in a German prison had been extremely refractory. One means and another had been tried, but nothing could break his spirit. One morning the governor said to the warden: "I say, Huber, the scoundrel is behaving worse than ever. Put him on bread and water." "But he is already doing two fast days, sir." "Then give him a cookery book to read. We must break his spirit somehow."—Illustrated Bits.

Simple and Logical.

A teacher observed what he thought a lack of patriotic enthusiasm in one of the boys under his instruction. "Now, Tommy," said he, "tell us what you think if you saw the stars and stripes waving over the field of battle." "I should think," was the logical reply of Thomas, "that the wind was blowing."

Information.

The visitor to New York was in search of information. "Do you know anything about the copper corner?" he asked his host. "No," was the reply, "but I know the corner copper."
