

PAROLED YOUTH IN COURT AGAIN

Floyd Maston Pleads Guilty to
Trespassing Charge; Balac
Pays Fine.

Out on parole after action against him brought in the circuit court, Floyd Maston was again haled into court Thursday morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing. Decision in his case was withheld until Friday morning pending investigation by the court. Maston, who is but 15 years old, was recently found guilty of taking automobiles for joy rides while the owners were away from their cars.

Alex Boyer, an employee of Max Furwick, appeared in court Thursday morning charged with larceny. He is charged with having taken several automobile parts but told the court that the few pieces he took was with the knowledge of the complaining witness. The case will be heard Saturday.

Pays for Swat.
It cost Steven Balac $11 to swat a fellow-worker but that swat was such a good one Steve paid the fine with satisfaction. The complaining witness against him, one Stanley Blacharski, appeared in city court Thursday morning with a badly swollen and discolored eye. He and the defendant had had trouble at the toy factory. Testimony satisfied Judge Gilmer that the complaining witness had a swat coming and deserved just what he got. But there was no complaint of provocation and Balac was fined $11 and costs, the minimum.

Because of the illness of Atty. Charles Bingham, counsel for the defendant, the case of R. L. Hilton, charged with passing worthless checks, was continued to Tuesday, Aug. 5.

Found Not Guilty.

Howard Smith, employed by J. W. Wittner, 632 S. Michigan st., was found not guilty on a charge of larceny brought by Carmine Pucha, who claimed that defendant failed to give him back change for a $5 bill tendered in payment of three gallons of ice cream.

It took evidence of City Engineer Anderson to finally decide a case of trespass against Mrs. M. Stekluk heard Thursday morning when it was shown to the satisfaction of the court that the defendant had allowed her cows to run loose over residential property. Anderson showed that the property over which trespass was made was within the city limits.

W. H. Nichols Takes Bride In Chicago Starts On Tour

William H. Nichols, proprietor of the Twentieth Century garage, left South Bend the other day in an automobile bearing "all the comforts of home," bound westward with San Francisco and Seattle as objectives.

His traveling companion was Lloyd Reedy, an architect of Chicago.

Thursday the outlook was bad for Reedy so far as the journey was concerned. The reason lies in the following terse telegram received by The News-Times from his Chicago correspondent:

William H. Nichols, South Bend, licensed here to wed Miss Anna Kicing of Chicago.

And on a honeymoon—well, three is considered a crowd.

Nichols apparently has "put it over" his closest friends in South Bend. None of his intimates could be found who had the slightest inkling of his real intention when he left the city on his overland tour and at his place of business his associates were equally surprised.

In telling his plans for the trip Nichols emphasized the point that he was going to "take life easy" and just loaf along, not trying to break any speed records, but brooding nature and "roughing it."

Nichols and Mrs. Nichols too, of course, is not expected back in South Bend until fall. Meanwhile his South Bend friends are awaiting some details of his wedding.

ALLEGED SPEEDER CAUSES TROUBLE

Clarence Elliott May Be Arrested for Violating the City Ordinance.

Turning suddenly into an alley near 731 Blaine av., without warning, Clarence Elliott, negro, 118 Polk st., is alleged to have forced John Lipper, a motorcycleist, to crash into a Blaine av. building at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Lipper sustained an injured ankle and a general melee that threatened serious proportions followed. The fight was broken up only when Elliott and the three other negroes with whom he was riding jumped into their machine and rode away.

According to eye-witnesses, Elliott was tearing along at a close to 50 mile an hour clip. He made the turn, it is alleged, without warning. To protect himself from smashing into the auto and to prevent serious injury, Lipper smashed into a house at 731 Blaine av., injuring himself and damaging his machine.

Elliott, according to witnesses, stepped his car and jumped out to see what was wrong.

"What are you trying to do?" he demanded of Lipper.

A wrangle followed. Elliott swung on Lipper and blackened his eye, according to witnesses. Onlookers rushed to Lipper's aid, one man swinging a baseball bat. The negroes rushed the man with the bat and his wife took up the hue and cry. Elliott decided then that the going was too warm, started their car and retreated.

Lipper will confer with City Atty T. W. Slick Thursday morning preparatory to preferring charges against Elliott for alleged violation of a city ordinance.

A plant growing on mountains in central Europe develops enough heat to push its flower stalks through snow and produce blossoms.

Thirty-one miles an hour is the top speed of the fastest ocean passenger liner afloat, the Mauretania, which holds the world's record.

Constable Does a Willard When Prisoner 'Lands'

Byers Knows Just How Jess
Felt When Dempsey Got Busy in Toledo.

Constable Robert Byers can now appreciate how Jess Willard felt after the famous Jack Dempsey punch landed on his jaw. The constable's sense of appreciation grew out of an experience encountered Wednesday afternoon.

He went to the Singer Mfg. Co. to serve a peace warrant on Frank Nagy and to bring him to Justice J. W. Wyplanyski's court to receive instructions concerning the warrant. He located his man with little difficulty and things went along fine for the constable until he started across the railroad tracks, near the Singer gate, to board a Washington street car.

Score Knockout for Nagy.

Nagy apparently objected to the firm grasp Byers had on his neck and coat collar, for, no sooner had they crossed the tracks, and started across an adjoining field to the car line, when Nagy gave a sudden turn and with great force succeeded in placing his closed fist against the constable's jaw. While the constable lay on his back in the field taking the count, Nagy lost himself from the clutches of the law.

According to the constable's own story this is not the first time he has encountered like experience in carrying out his constabulary duties, but it is the first time that he ever really appreciated the damage that can be caused with one blow from a man's closed fist.

To Be More Careful.

"I guess I will have to revert to my old system in bringing these fellows to the justice court," he said to Sheriff Law Duke after he had related his Wednesday's experience. "When I serve papers on fellows I think I'll get 'em with me on the way to town I am going to have them walk in front of me and I will have my gun pointed at their back; then they won't attempt to get away."

"The constable has to be congratulated for his nerve," Sheriff Duke said. "He's going back and try to get Nagy again." When asked if he intended to sue Nagy for damages the constable said he had received enough damage already.
