

ICE CREAM SODA SHOWS HARD KICK

Fort Wayne Visitor Swoons After Taking Famous Luxury on Saturday.

Score another count against national prohibition. The favorite argument of the dries, that no case has ever been recorded of a man drinking a soda, then going home and beating his wife, or doing any of the other regulation stunts which drunks are supposed to do, has been refuted in South Bend.

Fred Lawken, who gave his address as Fort Wayne, didn't beat his wife, according to the records, but here is the history, told by the blotter at the police station.

Drunks Soda Water.
Lawken was drinking a soda water in a N. Michigan st. drug store late Saturday night, when he gave the customers a thrill by dropping to the floor unconscious. The police ambulance was called, and Lawken was taken to Epworth hospital, where he was released Sunday.

The moral to this story is, after the suppression of tobacco, the deadly ice cream soda should receive some attention as one of the world's greatest evils.

Many Women are Attending Retreat At Notre Dame

The spiritual retreat for women, given annually by the Notre Dame Mission band, opened Sunday evening in the Sacred Heart chapel at the University of Notre Dame. More than 250 women, the majority of whom are from South Bend, were present in the university chapel, when the retreat was opened by the Rev. James Wesley Donahue, C. S. C., retreat master, who preached a sermon on "The Great Prize."

A large number of women from cities in northern Indiana arrived in special cars in time for the retreat. Walsh and Eadin halls, reserved especially for the women retreatants, have been taxed to their capacity early Sunday evening. More out-of-town retreatants are expected to arrive at Notre Dame Monday morning.

The spiritual exercise will open Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock with mass, at which Fr. Donahue will officiate. In the evening Fr. Donahue will preach a sermon on "The Triumph of Love."

COPPERS WILL HAVE TO BE "SPIFFY" LOOKING

South Bend coppers have been elected to set the pace for the city's Beau Rameau in the matter of personal appearance. Chief Kline has issued an order that hereafter all officers on duty must present as neat appearance as possible, special mention being made of clean collars, carefully pressed and tucked in, and caps set straight fore-and-aft on the head.

James Cutting, detective and general utility man of the department, has a kick coming on the new orders. His hair won't be long enough to keep neatly combed for some time yet. Some of the older members of the force are still more out of luck, as they haven't any hair left to brush.

DR. FOIK ENTERTAINS DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

William Bishop, past president of the National Library Association of America and now librarian at Michigan university in Ann Arbor, was a guest of the Rev. Dr. Paul Foik, C. S. C., librarian at the University of Notre Dame on Saturday.

HOLD MARSHMALLOW ROAST.

The Young Peoples society of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church held a marshmallow roast Saturday night at Springbrook park. About 100 members of the society attended.

SAILORS

When you think of Home furnishings think of "Sailors."

Cleaning Up the Town With Creased Pants and Shined Shoes Etc., Etc., Etc.

Chief Kline has directed his men to keep their shoes shined and their pants creased—again a desperate effort to get back in the good graces of the ex-administration organ, resembling that of Mayor Carson when he called the retail grocers into conference to see what could be done to save them from invasion by the federal government in its war on the high cost of living.

The mayor explains now, however, that the retailers will have to handle these government wares without profit—and he has sent a member of his board of works to Washington to "bring home the bacon."

If we may judge the appetite of administration officials on "bacon" at all by their apparent appetite upon beads, it is mighty little of it that once reaching the city hall, will ever get away, save into those officials' pantries.

The retailers will see mighty little of it, profits or no profits, and the public will pay the expense of the works board's member to Washington. You wouldn't be able to pry it loose with an order of the courts; that is until it is found to have vanished. Then they would be around begging for someone to take it over—while they investigate everybody connected with the administration below the "ranking heads."

BUT the point is that Chief Kline is going to insist that his patrolmen, etc., keep their shoes shined, their pants creased. That will help considerably—another grand step taken in the direction of "cleaning up the town"—and you are not supposed to be a student of Shakespeare's "all that glitters is not gold."

One may expect a splendid array of shined shoes and creased pants at the hearing of Dr. Arthur Lovgren tonight. Lovgren is the man with the consummated gall to bring "Tony" Barrett into this question of liquor disappearances.

The charge, of course is not that but that he failed to report it to the chief, and it is claimed that such a report under the rules, should be made in writing.

We had never thought of it in this light before, but possibly Lovgren is one of the several officers on the force who can't write. Five have been appointed to the present force of exactly that calibre; three of which can neither read nor write.

How Could They Report In Writing?
These assuredly were not "inherited" by the mayor. Neither were the two who were discharged by the Keller administration, nor the one by the Goetz administration that have been reinstated by the Carson board.

WONDER if something can't be done to induce the board of safety to try the chief's darling, Gasoline Sergi. Kimmerly next. It seems that some automobile castings were disposed of recently for something like $14.00—say July 11—and somebody forgot to turn in the money.

It requires more gasoline to keep the police automobiles in motion than for all the equipment of the fire department—and when do they figure on getting that Cadillac back into operation. Ought there not be some investigation into how it came to be broken up.

Employment of Joe Luther's automobiles by the police administration has become so frequent, that it is causing a strain on the automobile market. Nobody wants to see Mr. Luther owning all the automobiles in town.

ABILITY OF PAINTER APPRECIATED WHEN HE BECOMES INSANE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Ralph A. Blakelock, whose power as a painter was recognized only after he had been committed to the Middletown asylum for the insane, died Saturday at a camp in the Adirondacks, according to word received here today.

His friends recently obtained his release from the asylum and had sent him to the camp in the hope that the quiet of the woods and mountains would restore his health.

Born in New York in 1847 and almost wholly self-educated in his art Mr. Blakelock never realized to the full the fame his work had brought him and received only a pittance of the fortune his talents earned.

For many years he hawked his paintings for them never more than a few dollars and undergoing the severest hardships. In 1899 his mind gave way under the strain and he was taken to the asylum suffering from a delusion that he was the possessor of great wealth.

He remained there continuously for 17 years during which his paintings had been recognized at their true value and he had been made a member of the national academy and received honorable mention at a Paris exposition.

FINDS STING IN SOFT DRINK, GETS TEN DAYS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—"It's like this, judge," explained Arthur Lucas, colored, charged with being drunk. "Ah went to de circus and de clowns had a sign which says: 'Revo, where is dy sting?' and ah says to meself, says ah, dat ah'll just try some of dat stuff. Ah did. Yuh Honah, deed ah did, and here ah is."

"Some ad for Revo, if that's de case," remarked Judge Ruth. "Ten days for you."

BISHOP WHITE TO BE WITNESS IN LARCENY CASE AGAINST RECTOR

Special to The News-Times: GOSHEN, Ind., Aug. 11.—Bishop White of South Bend will be one of the witnesses in the trial here Monday of the Rev. R. A. Robinson, rector of St. John's Episcopal church in Bristol, who is charged with grand larceny. The case was continued from Saturday after counsel for the defendant had asked that the complaint be dismissed because the Rev. Robinson had been arrested twice on the same charge.

The trial has occasioned quite a stir in this section, as the defendant is well known. An attempt was made to secure Rev. Robinson's release Saturday, when his attorney submitted evidence that he had been the victim of false arrest. It was charged that the method by which he had been apprehended was illegal.

Mulligan of the Knights of Columbus committee on war work charities, who returned here today on the transport LaSavoie.

KIDDIES SHOW WAY TO INCREASE YOUR CAPITAL

Increasing the capital investment 100 percent in a day is an accomplishment that comes not in the lifetime of every business man.
But Harold Palmer did that Saturday. He and his side-kick, Clarence Britton, started off from their homes at 539 Lincoln way E. early Saturday morning with 10 cents capital.
They invested it in newspapers and at nightfall counted profits which totaled 20 cents.
"Business was great," said Palmer from his soap-box news-stand at the corner of Michigan and Jefferson sts. "but it would have been better if we only had more capital."

PACK HOWARD PARK FOR POPULAR BAND CONCERT

A crowd estimated at seven or eight thousand heard the concert by Fred Elbel's band at Howard park Sunday night. It was one of the largest audiences on record. Benches, piers, canoes and boats were filled with listeners for nearly two hours.

The program was arranged with a view to suiting the "popular taste," and it "went big," according to Director Elbel.

The next concert is scheduled for Sunday evening at Leeper park.

"CARE FOR ALL LIVING THINGS," SAYS BROOKES

"The life of grass and shrubs depends upon the care given them by their protector and cultivator, man, and he should no more neglect them than he should neglect the cultivation of his own body." So declared Capt. Nehemiah Brookes of the Salvation Army, in a sermon preached at the army hall on E. Jefferson Blvd., Sunday night.
Comparing man with all other life on the earth, he asserted that man is a grass that has its day, but the soul of man never dies. "The robes of Christ's righteousness are the soul's reasonable attire," said Capt. Brookes, "and the filthy rags of sin should have no place."
"The body of man receives consideration in rest, food, clothing and application of medicine for cure of diseases. It is foolishness on the part of man to omit consideration of the soul's eternal welfare."
