Saturday, Aug. 23.

AUDITORIUM—"My Little Sister," with Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

LASALLE—"The Peace of Roaring River," with Pauline Frederick.

CASTLE—"Through the Wrong Door," with Madge Kennedy.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

ORPHEUM.

Juggling DeArmo opens the program of vaudeville being presented at the Orpheum the last half of the week. Pat and Peggy Houghton with an act entitled "A Summer Flirtation." Rito Mario and a company of 10 talented musicians have the headline position, while Britt Wood follows with a comedy act. Lillian's dogs complete the bill.

OLIVER.

A new play of the season, called "Her Man of the NC-4" will be the attraction at the Oliver theater Sunday evening. The story is said to be a thrilling romance of the French Canadian North with the heroine a girl of the wilds. She nurses an aviator back to health and then he quietly flies away with her through the clouds, back to civilization and happiness. Cecelia Jaques a Canadian actress and W. Springer will appear in the leading roles. The piece is playing at popular prices.

The company playing "On The Hiring Line," which will be presented at the Oliver, matinee and night, Saturday, Aug. 23, is the first one to be sent from New York since the beginning of the actors' strike which has tied up many of the New York theaters for the past two weeks. It is not to be played by a patched up cast or understudies, as in the case with many plays since the beginning of the strike, but with the original cast and company as selected by Mr. Tyler many weeks ago.

The rehearsals have proceeded without interruption and after the engagement here on Saturday, "On The Hiring Line" will go to Chicago for a run at the Blackstone theater, beginning Monday next. Incidentally this is one of the important productions Mr. Tyler has ever made. South Bend will have a chance to enjoy it before Chicago and from Chicago it goes directly to a Broadway theater in New York.

LASALLE.

Poverty and the big city stifled the heroine of "The Peace of Roaring River," and so she journeys to the land of the great outdoors and the Roaring River in quest of love and happiness. What happened there in the great lonely stretches of the plains will enthrall every man and woman who sees this wonderful picture. Pauline Frederick, the emotional actress, is featured and in the heroine role is given wonderful dramatic opportunity. It is her strongest play and gives her by far her strongest role. Thomas Holding, another good actor, is cast in the leading male part. Tomorrow, "Yvonne From Paris" features dainty Mary Miles Minter.

CASTLE.

Madge Kennedy, that gracious little comedienne who established herself in the hearts of screen fans with her first picture, "Baby Mine," grows better with each succeeding screen appearance and now in "Through the Wrong Door," today's Castle attraction, has seemingly reached the zenith of her popularity. The plot supplies her with a good part, that of a high-spirited eastern girl who falls her scheming father's plans for her marriage with a wealthy broker and who finds real love awaiting her in the great west.

Tomorrow, Pauline Frederick is the star of "The Peace of Roaring River."

AUDITORIUM.

"My Little Sister" the photoplay at the Auditorium today in which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is starred, is said to reveal the unwieldiness that marks the average police system, are the other pictures for today To-sult. It is a heart-gripping story as pitiful as it is true. "Hearts and Saddles" a two reel western comedy featuring Tom Mix and "Vod-a-vil Movies" showing five specialty acts, are the other pictures for today. Tomorrow's feature is George Walsh in a six act comedy drama "Putting One Over" with "Hearts and Flowers" a Mack Sennett comedy and the Pathe News.

Health First Campaign Aided
by Red Cross

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 22.—In order to promote the progress of the "health first" campaign in Indiana the lake division of the American Red Cross has assigned two more public health nurses to conduct classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Miss Gertrude Ludwig has been assigned to this task in Madison county, and Miss Stella Barns to Jeffersonville.

FARMERS HOLD MEETING.

ANDERSON, Ind., Aug. 22.—Two hundred representative farmers of Wayne, Delaware, Randolph and Madison counties were present at the 44th district of the Indiana Federation of Farmers association held here Thursday. It was brought out in a speech by Lewis Taylor, state secretary, that the federation will seek to nominate men on the various party tickets at the next primary election which are sympathetic with the farmers.

A matrimonial newspaper and fate combine forces to bring the unexpected ending of "The Peace of Roaring River," today's extraordinary attraction at the LaSalle.

Pauline Frederick is featured as the disheartened little shop girl whose future is influenced by a cleverly worded ad.

It matters not that this was but a fake insertion put in a matrimonial journal by a jealous and scheming woman—she goes west just the same—and finds happiness, too.

Mary Miles Minter, the vivacious and sparkling golden-haired interpreter of American girlhood, has through the medium of the screen carried her bubbling spirit and joyous personality into most of the homes of this broad land and her enchanting style is a model for many devoted millions of her girl compatriots. They will all want to see her latest comedy, "Yvonne From Paris."
