AMATEUR TEAM ISSUES
CALL FOR CANDIDATES

The reorganized South Bend A. A. football team will hold practice every Tuesday and Friday evenings until the opening game next month. Mr. Gus Jena was highly pleased with number of candidates who attended the first meeting. Among the others who will represent the team will be Paster, Finley and Webster, former stars of the S. B. high school, who won places on the Northern Indiana high school eleven, Culp, Brinkman, J. Fredericks, Schenberger and others.

Mr. Jena will have plenty of good material to make his backfield squad one of the best in the state. Gundering, an ex-navy player, will be in condition to tackle any position that Mr. Jena chooses. From present indications the lineup of the South Bend A. A. football eleven will be: Paster and Schlager, ends; Choyinski and Finley, tackles; Gore and Trogen, guards; Schoot, centre.

Members of the club are requested to report for practice on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Howard park. Experienced players are invited to join the club.

IN THE
—AT—
CHAIN-O'-LAKES

The big thing on the Country club calendar for next week is the second annual individual championship of the St. Joseph Valley Golf association, play in which will begin next Saturday, Aug. 30. The qualifying round, 36 holes, is scheduled for that day and on the following Monday and Tuesday the matches will be finished.

Seven prizes are to be awarded. They will be given for low medal score in the qualifying round, for the individual championship, the runner up in that class, the championship consolation, Class A and Class B championships, and both runners-up.

R. C. Davidson, last year's champion, looks like a good material in the light of the records made by the St. Joseph team during the season's play.

The prizes will be on display at the clubhouse after next Wednesday. Anyone who has a frog in his throat will be viewed with suspicion at the Country club. One of the are they animals?—which appeared Thursday night is missing and somebody must have taken it.

It was some picnic, wasn't it?

But to get back to the Valley league event. In looking over the list of winners last year, we notice that four of the six prizes went to South Bend and Laporte was in on the play, too. So it's up to Chain-O'-Lakes members to come out in force and repeat.

Forty-eight players will qualify, divided into three classes—Championship, A and B. There's a chance for everybody.

The official announcement says play begins at 8 a. m. We wonder who will get out there that early?

Last year's congestion on the course during the big three days—count 'em—three—will not occur this year, since eighteen holes are available.

American flyers near the Mexican border seem to have as hard a time as this belonging to certain players at the country club. They're either getting into the rough, or being lost entirely.

But golf balls don't cost $7,500 a piece.

Which is fortunate.

The sport ed. wants to know who can play in the Valley league championship. Answer—Members of the affiliated clubs. South Bend, Mishawaka, Goshen and St. Joseph. Each entrant has to put up a fee of $1.

BILL HAYES WILL NOT RETURN TO NOTRE DAME

William Hayes, the sensational sprinter who equaled the western record in the 100-yard dash at the Western Conference meet held in Chicago last June, will not return to Notre Dame this fall. Official announcement to that effect was made on Saturday by Knute K. Rockne, track coach at Notre Dame. Hayes had been offered a contract back were about on the campus for several weeks, but nothing definite could be ascertained until the announcement was made by Coach Rockne.

It was learned, however, that Hayes has enrolled at Georgetown which university he will represent on the grid path. Followers of the giant star do not believe that he will have the opportunity to meet the star sprinters of the east next spring, since the leading eastern schools strictly live up to the three-year rule, requiring that all candidates intending to make a bid on any varsity team must live at the school at least one scholastic year before entering major competition.

ROBERT VERMANDE WINS
PARK TENNIS TITLE

In an interesting match game, Robert Vermande, of 1922 E. Wayne st., added another championship to his list Saturday afternoon when he defeated Robert Johnson in the finals for the city park tennis championship, taking three sets, the score being 6-2, 6-1, 6-2. Vermande won the high school tennis championship for two consecutive years, in 1917 and 1918, and in the latter year he took first honors in the city park championship, also being a runner-up for the city championship.

By Associated Press:
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 23.—By bunching hits off Johnson in the first two innings Cleveland scored enough runs to win, six to two. Noyes was not scored upon in the six innings he pitched but his good work was wasted as Coveleskie was a mystery except in two innings in each of which he allowed one run. Score:
Philadelphia 000 110 000—2 8 1
Cleveland 010 000 000—6 11 0
Johnson and Perkins; Coveleskie and O'Neill.

HERRON DEFEATS
YOUNGER RIVAL

Youthful Golfer From Atlanta
Loses to Oakmont Club Expert.

By Associated Press:

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 23.—Playing golf that would have been credited to a veteran expert, S. Davidson Herron, the 22 year old representative of the Oakmont country club, won the national amateur championship of the United States on his home course Saturday, defeating Robert T. Jones, II, of the Atlanta Athletic club, six and four.

Herron's victory was won over the beautiful Oakmont course, where he first learned the strokes of the game from W. C. Fownes, Jr., a former national champion, also a member of the local club and a semi-finalist in the titular tournament just brought to a close.

Jones made a game struggle against Herron, and for the morning 18 holes and the first eight of the afternoon he fought every inch of the way. Herron's putting was deadly, he either sank them or rolled them close to any spot on the green and it was this more than anything else that brought him victory.

First Break.

The first break by Jones was at the ninth hole of the afternoon round. Herron had shot the first eight holes one under par, yet he was only leading by a hole. Bobby had clung to him desperately, fighting for every shot, expecting that the Oakmont player would soon leave him an opening. But Herron continued his wonderful shooting. The 27th is 462 yards up-hill. It requires two terrific woods to get on and nearly every player in the tournament has required three to reach the green. Jones drove first and hit a long ball. Herron followed with a terrific slam and was several yards ahead of Bobby. Bobby's second was in rough at the left.

Slaps Brassie.

Then Herron slapped his brassie to the far-off green, his ball resting not more than 12 feet from the pin. Bobby was short with his chip and lost the hole.

He managed to halve the 28th, but he lost the 29th, four to five where he was in a trap with his second and short with his third. The 30th hole is 612 yards. Both players got off the tee well. Herron played his second and it found trouble. Then Jones addressed his ball with a brassie. He topped badly and the ball ran into a trap a few yards ahead.

Bobby, his head down, walked into the pit with his mashie-nickel. The ball rested in grass on an up-slope of the pit. Bobby plunged his club into the heavy grass but failed to get it. He tried gallantly twice more, but the ball stayed in the trap. It was hopeless and he picked up.

At the 31st, a short hole, Herron again pounded his iron on the velvet and Bobby was in a trap. Bobby's out was over and in another trap. Herron's approach putt was dead and he won the hole and became dormie.

They halved the 32nd in four, both shooting their second well on his chance. fmkMr0,0thETA0IN the velvet and the youthful golfing phenomenon from the south had just his chance for the national title. Herron reputed 129 strokes for the match, not counting the 30th hole where Jones picked up after trouble in the trap, as against the par score of 126.

GARLAND AND TILDEN

WARD PULLS BONER AND
BROOKLYN TAKES GAME

By Associated Press:
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Brooklyn batted Schupp hard Saturday and beat St. Louis, 7 to 3. Ca-dor pitched shutout ball until the eighth, when four hits and a "bone" by Ward were good for three runs. With the bases full, Hornsby popped up a fly over the plate that Krueger missed. Schupp, who was on third, dashed for home. Ward covered the plate, received Krueger's throw and stepped solidly on the pan, believing it was a force-out. Umpire Rigely called Hornsby out on an infield fly, however, and allowed Smith to score, declaring that Ward should have tagged the runner. Score:
St. Louis 000 000 030—3 9 9
Brooklyn 010 010 007—7 10 2
Schupp, Jacobs and Clemens; Cadore and Krueger.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS, 5-4.

By Associated Press:
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—Jourdan scored the tying run for Minneapolis today against St. Paul with a home run in the sixth inning and his single sent over the winning run in the seventh. Minneapolis won, 5 to 4. A double and a triple by Catcher Hargrave accounted for all St. Paul's runs. Score:
St. Paul 000 100 000—4 7 2
Minneapolis 000 000 000—5 10 1
Niehaus, Williams and Hargrave; Robertson and Owens.

Baseball Bids Fair to Succeed Olympic and Army Games

In connection with the introduction of baseball into many nations whose soldiers learned the game while fighting as the comrades of Americans in France, and with the novel suggestion of a magazine writer who asserts, "I am ready to urge the claims of international baseball as capable of arousing far more international fervor than the more monotonous game of armaments and war," the National Geographic society has issued the following bulletin, based on a communication from J. R. Hildebrand, concerning the great American sport:

By J. R. Hildebrand.
Some historians assert that the Greek games formed the foundation for the lucid thinking and the lofty art concepts that made her product classic. Yet the Olympian and the Pythian games at their best afforded no such spontaneous, yet intricate, interplay of muscle and mind as baseball.

Baseball needs no advocate. A game which holds sway among a highly civilized people is its own defense. Still it is interesting to compare baseball with the Greek games in two points wherein baseball is criticized.

Some hold that professional players of today reap rich rewards in comparison with the garland of wild olives, often thought to have been the sole prize of an Hellenic champion. Others argue that professional baseball affords exercise for 18 paid players and mere amusement for thousands of inactive spectators in the grand stand.

The first objection is based on a misconception. If hope of reward robs baseball of its sporting merit, the Greek festivals also must lose prestige. An Olympic winner's wreath was only his service badge. He was banqueted for weeks, taken back to his native city in a chariot, and sometimes the walls were torn down for his triumphal entry. Usually he lived thereafter at public expense. He was showered with costly gifts by friends. Cicero complained that a Greek champion won more honors than a Roman general.

Pride of Home Town.

While the competitor got no share of the gate receipts in the ancient world series, his "home town" was bound to heap fortune upon him, in addition to the tributes of admirers. His fame was good municipal advertising at a time when bill boards did not mar the landscapes. Athens regarded an Olympian victor worth a standing reward of 500 drachmas, and free rations for the rest of his life.

The reason for these material rewards is not far to seek. A Greek could no more train 10 months to compete in the games, and continue his normal pursuits, than can a modern baseball player. The second objection, that of too few participants, applies only to the professional game, whereas baseball still would merit claim to being a national pastime since it is played by practically every American boy who has full use of two arms and two legs.

In the light of modern psychology there is much to be said for the mere spectator. One need not even enter into the highly technical studies which show that he who watches any human exercise with sympathetic interest—and there is nothing unsympathetic about your baseball rooter—gets the same physical reaction, in modified form, as the actors in the play drama. Spectators at a prize fight assume mist belligerent attitudes. It is sufficiently obvious that the sense of relaxation, the release of mental tension, the open air and sunshine to be had on grandstand and bleachers, is beneficial.

Indeed the man who buys his grandstand or bleacher seat probably benefits more from his muscular inactivity, plus lung exertions, than the Turner who goes seriously about his arduous exercises with horizontal bar and other contraptions that make sorry work of his play.
