

THREE ACCIDENTS TOLL OF SUNDAY MOTOR PARTIES

South Bend and Niles Ambulances Are Busy Caring For Injured.

Automobile accidents Sunday resulted in several people being injured in South Bend and vicinity. None of those in the accidents were seriously injured.

Two persons were injured and two automobiles were smashed up in a head-on collision which occurred on the Berrien Center road, four miles north of Niles, about 7 o'clock Sunday night.

Hitchcock Injured.
Robert Hitchcock, 830 N. Johnson st., was rendered unconscious, but it was reported later in the evening by Dr. Henderson, of Niles, who was called to the scene of the accident, that he was not seriously injured.

According to the report made to the local police, Anthony E. Lucky and a party of friends were driving south on the Berrien Center road. Hitchcock was driving north, and crashed into the Lucky car when he attempted to pass to the left of a car just ahead of him, going in the same direction.

Mrs. Megan Injured.
Mrs. J. R. Megan, 510 N. Notre Dame av., was the only one hurt in the Lucky party. She was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, South Bend, in the Niles police ambulance. It was reported from St. Joseph's at midnight that it was not believed that Mrs. Megan's injuries are of a serious nature.

Hitchcock was brought to South Bend in the police ambulance, in charge of Officers Laskowski, Wright and Luther. He was taken to the home of Frank Melander, a brother-in-law.

Justice in Accident.
Joseph Wypyski, justice of the peace, was injured in an automobile accident which occurred on the Division road, about a mile west of the city limits, at 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Wypyski turned his machine out to avoid collision with a horse and buggy, and the car partially overturned, giving everybody in the machine a shaking-up. The police ambulance was called, but Wypyski refused their assistance. He was later reported not to be seriously injured.

ARREST HANS FOR SHOOTING KOLACZ

Trial Under Assault Charge Is Set for Court Sept. 3.

Joe Hank 1605 Kendall st., will be tried in city court Sept. 3 for assault. It being alleged that he is the man who fired two shots at Patrolman John Kolacz Friday night. No attempt to arrest Hank was made until more than 17 hours after the assault, the "hunk heads" of the police department refusing to take enough interest in the patrolman to protect him, until the matter had been given publicity.

Hank was one of a gang of men whom Officer Kolacz dispersed about midnight Friday at Sample and Chapin sts. He gave the officer an argument at that time, but finally started in the direction of his home.

About three hours later, when Officer Kolacz was making another round of the territory, he found Hank at the same corner. After some words Hank, it is alleged, went home and got a gun, and opened fire on the patrolman from a dark spot between two houses.

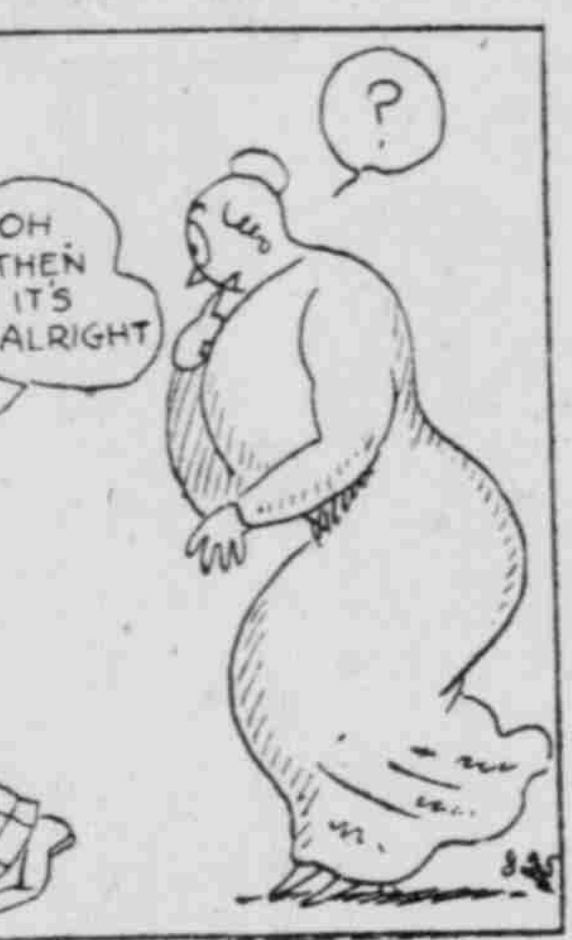

At the same time, another member of the gang, who has not yet been identified, threw several bricks and stones at Kolacz, one of which struck him on the shoulder.

Hank has quite a long and unfavorable police record.

MILL OF JUSTICE HAS HEAVY LOAD

City Court Hears Pleas of Tramps, Gunmen, Speeders and Several Drunks.

With tramps, beggars, gun toters, speed demons, and a domestic tangle or two, city court had an unusually heavy grid Monday morning, when the prisoners arrested Saturday night and Sunday appeared before Special Judge J. J. Kovacs.

Warren Carrigan, who was arrested Sunday when several residents complained of him begging for food at their homes, said he was just discharged from the army two weeks ago and was looking for employment. He was neatly dressed and made a good appearance. The local chapter of the American Red Cross was advised of the matter and immediately a search was made for employment for the young soldier. Shortly after the session of court he was working at the Oliver hotel.

Special Judge Kovacs suspended a sentence of 60 days in the state penitentiary, pending the good behavior of Carrigan.

Jack Williams, who would rather beg his meals than dig down to manual labor, will, for the next 90 days, toil for the state along agricultural lines at the state farm at Putnamville. Judge Kovacs sentenced Williams after he said he was through being easy with tramps. Within the past several days a number of tramps have been arrested on begging charges.

Gun Toter Sentenced.
Carrying guns and concealed weapons is a thing for which Special Judge Kovacs has pronounced dislike so when Leslie Straus was arraigned before him in city court Monday morning he was fined $50 and costs, which means he must serve the next 90 days in the state penitentiary.

Suspend Sentence.
George Garasi, who was arrested for assaulting a citizen Saturday night, was arraigned and given 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended during Garasi's good behavior.

Frank Mesner, who did not know he was driving too fast Sunday night, but who according to the police, was exceeding the city speed limit, was given a fine of $1 and costs.

Joe Modzeleski, who was arrested on a charge filed by his wife for assault and battery, was released after Deputy Pros. Schock learned that divorce proceedings had been filed in superior court.

TO READVERTISE FOR BIDS ON IMPROVEMENT

Readvertisement of the proposed improvement of the Edwardsburg road was ordered at the meeting of the St. Joseph county commissioners at their meeting Monday morning. No bids were received on the several improvements advertised and these, together with new ones, were ordered readvertised.

No bids were received for the Calvert st. bridge nor for the crossroad north. The Calvert st. bridge was requested, but a committee headed by George Witwer and it is believed will be greatly needed by the new Studebaker addition. The bridge is to be of reinforced concrete and is estimated to cost about $8,000.

Bids were ordered advertised for supplies for the county asylum for the quarter ending Nov. 30.

FOOD SUPPLY IS GOING RAPIDLY

Only Small Amount Is Left for Local Postoffice—To Order Additional Amount.

The present supply of army food, which is being distributed through the medium of the local post office, is rapidly decreasing. Asst. Postmaster R. A. Schnell is now making an effort to obtain more from the army supply department, and as word has been received from Washington to the effect that more food will be allotted the different post office authorities, no shortage is expected in South Bend. The present supply is limited to a small quantity of bacon, corn beef, roast beef, corn hash, baked beans, corn, black pepper and green peas. Mr. Schnell declares that "contrary to the propaganda spread by a number of grocers throughout the country, the army food is as good as can be procured," and to prove this statement, he says, "Whitman Bros. and Inwood and Sons, respectively, have ordered a carload of corn and two carloads of beans, which they will put on the market in an effort to break the present high prices of staples."

"The food which Mayor Carson is endeavoring to get through the headquarters department at Washington will be more expensive than the food sold by the post office authorities," states Mr. Schnell, for in dealing with the army supply department direct, the postal authorities are able to undersell those who must bid against other purchasers as will Mayor Carson's representative.

Police Hunt for CHECK ARTISTS

Members of the South Bend police department are today searching for a pair of crooks who visited this city Saturday and successfully forged two fraudulent checks on two prominent furniture dealers.

According to the police, Sailor Bros. Co. were the heaviest losers. They, the police say, cashed a bad check for $75. The Ries Co. was nearly trimmed out of $60.

The men, police say, are thought to have intended their operations to a number of merchants who did not make a report of the crooks' activities to police headquarters.

A representative of Sailor Bros. Co. denied Monday afternoon that they were included in the list of unfortunate merchants who were swindled by the two clever crooks.

REVENUE OFFICE TO CLOSE FOR CHECKING AS COLLECTORS CHANGE

The stamp department of the internal revenue collector's office located in the postoffice will be closed at noon on Aug. 28 and will not reopen for business until Sept. 2. This is simultaneous with the closing of similar offices in Indianapolis, Lawrenceburg, Terre Haute, Vincennes and Evansville for the purpose of checking with the state office prior to the retirement of Peter J. Krayer, collector for the sixth internal revenue district and the succession to his place on Sept. 1 of William L. Elder.

Mr. Krayer is returning to South Bend and will make his home here.

RETURNS TO Y. M. C. A.
G. A. Cooper resumed his duties as physical director at the Y. M. C. A. Monday morning after having served in the same capacity at Camp Eberhart during the summer.

TEACHERS OPEN FIVE-DAY MEET

University Head Addresses First Session, Saying School Is Business.

"School is a business," Dr. Chauncey P. Colgrove, president of Upper Iowa University, Fayette, Ia., asserted in his lecture on "The Part of the School in the Community" at the opening session of the teachers' institute Monday morning and showed that in size and importance it is the biggest business in the world.

The institute will continue for five days with the first half of both the morning and afternoon sessions being devoted to lectures on subjects of general interest, followed during the last half by sectional meetings of specific interest to the primary teachers, the intermediate and grammar grades, the high school and the rural teachers.

The speaker at the afternoon general session was Dr. W. D. Moriarty of the department of English at the University of Michigan who discussed the length of the school day in relation to the most efficient results in his lecture on "The Most Needed Child Labor Law."

In proving that school is a business from the point of size, Dr. Colgrove showed that 20,000,000 children and 600,000 teachers would be engaged in that pursuit during the next month, and from the point of importance he stated that its problems are those that concern the future of the nation in this new era and that the success of the League of Nations in practice depends more upon the lessons taught in the schools today than upon all the senate debates.

"School is the price that civilized society pays for being civilized," Dr. Colgrove continued, "and the other institutions of society must, and do, cooperate with it." He cited four co-operating institutions, the state which contributes its laws and organization and gets from it good citizens, the family which supplies the children, the customs and traditions and expects as its return good homesteaders, business which supplies the taxes and gets from it intelligent workers who can supply the wealth with which to pay the taxes, and the church which gives to the school its ideals and is repaid by men and women who are actuated by duty, right and justice.

"Civilized society prospers only when schools function properly," said Dr. Colgrove in conclusion.

MATCHING PENNIES BY BOYS IS TABOO; BIG GAMBLING O. K.

If you are down town playing poker in some one of the city's detected gambling-hells, that is a virtue, and a thing to be overlooked; it is a game for full-grown men, playing for big stakes—but when boys, out in the outskirts take to matching pennies for a pastime while waiting for a street car, that is a violation of the law that is swift.

Accordingly three young men were taken in Sunday by Detectives Pailo and Koczorowski, charged with gambling on the streets, and, of course, it must have been by special direction of Chief Kline since the police are expected to arrest no one or perform no other duty, without first consulting him, and getting his directions. The youngsters are held on $25 bond each, and their trials set for Sept. 2.

The three young men are mere boys, and were waiting for a car at the outer end of the Chapin st. line Sunday; a wait of about 20 minutes. Someone suggested that they match pennies, and they did, being so engrossed when the detectives came up. "Bang!" Here was another chance to make a "west side" splurge to captivate the advocates of law enforcement, by showing that something was being done, and hence the arrests. Meanwhile the public is expected to forget about this downtown stuff and think only of the boys who were raked in on the "west side."

LAY OFF SIX HUNDRED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Six hundred workmen at the Lackawanna Steel Co.'s plant were laid off today. Pres't McCullough of the company said the lay-off was due to recent slackening of steel orders.

Goes to Jail of Own Will to be With Children

Mrs. Marie Miller is a visitor with Sheriff Duck at the county jail. She wanted to come to jail, and it is no one's fault in particular besides her own that she is there.

Sheriff Duck was ordered to serve habeas corpus papers on her at her home in New Orleans Monday morning, and bring her to the county jail to be held in custody by the matron. When one of the deputies went to the Miller home Monday morning to get the children, Mrs. Miller said she did like to have her children with her and that she would accompany them to the jail.

She came back to South Bend with her children and is now with them in the county jail. Superior court will act Tuesday morning on the case as to who shall keep the children.

One Miller, her husband, filed the proceedings saying that his wife intended to leave the state with his children, and that she is not a fit person to care for them. It was feared by court officials that she would harm the children, if she had advance word of the sheriff's visit.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR HITS TREE

Thief Chase Ends Disastrously for St. Joseph Police Chief and Driver.

Special to The News-Times: ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 25.—Mrs. George Burkhard is suffering from internal injuries and several broken ribs. Frederick Alden, chief of police here, is confined to his home with a sprained leg and other injuries, and Peter Nelson is in jail, charged with larceny, following a real moving picture thriller staged in and about St. Joseph yesterday.

Nelson was known to have stolen a watch in St. Joseph. Late in the afternoon a telephone call from Stevensville, seven miles south of here, brought word that he was there. The chief of police was ready to go, and Mrs. Burkhard offered her services to take him to apprehend the man.

Tries to Pass Car.
Driving at what witnesses say was at least 40 miles an hour over the smooth road to the south, Mrs. Burkhard attempted to pass a machine ahead of her. Another car was passing from the opposite direction, and the woman lost control. The heavy machine swung into the ditch, cut off the posts on which two mail boxes were placed, and struck a tree, winding the front axle almost completely around it. Chief Alden was thrown out of the car into the ground.

The steering wheel was driven into Mrs. Burkhard's abdomen by the force of the impact, breaking several ribs, and injuring her internally, although the extent of these injuries has not been ascertained.

And Nelson? Policemen waited for him at his rooming house in St. Joseph after the accident made it impossible to go after him, and when he came home they arrested him.
