

ARMY OFFICERS WON'T KICK MUCH AT LATEST RULE

All Below Brigadier-general
Must Play on Government Time.

BY LOUIS LUDLOW.

News-Times Washington Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—How would you like to be an army officer and to receive a command from higher up to play golf at regular intervals on government time? Wouldn't that thrill you with a grand and glorious feeling?

That is exactly what has just happened to all officers of the army below the grade of brigadier-general, except that the officer is not obliged to confine his sporting propensities to golf in order to meet the requirements. If he prefers tennis, he can play tennis. If he likes to row, then it is rowing for him, or if his fancy runs to basketball, baseball, swimming, boxing or any one of other enumerated sports he can take his choice.

To be sentenced to play baseball is not going to make any army officer mad. It is not anticipated that these new orders will create any mutinies in the army.

Fitness Essential.

"The war has demonstrated," says an official announcement of the war department, "that physical fitness is one of the essential qualities of an efficient officer. It is now equal in weight with 'intelligence' and 'leadership' on rating cards. It is peculiarly a self-imposed duty of every officer so to regulate his manner of living and to prescribe for himself such course of physical exercise as to be at all times physically fit to perform any duty to which he may be assigned, or to meet any reasonable test for demonstrating such fitness."

"For all officers below grade of brigadier-general, except those actually attending drills and other instructions with troops, duties shall be so arranged that all officers shall have one-half a day a week, in addition to Sundays and holidays, to be devoted to physical exercise."

Required To Exercise.

"All such officers are required to avail themselves of this one-half day each week, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, for physical exercise and each officer, unless excused for physical disability, shall then engage for a period of not less than two consecutive hours in one or a combination of the following forms of exercises which most appeal to him: walking, swimming, tennis, golf, baseball, rowing, medicine ball, handball, football, basketball, in-cross, boxing, fencing, wrestling, track events, horseback riding, physical exercises without apparatus similar to Swedish exercise exercise with gymnasium apparatus."

The order also provides that in January of each calendar year each officer below the grade of brigadier-general shall be examined by a board of medical officers to determine his physical fitness and commanding officers may at any time direct physical examination of any officer whose physical fitness appears to be unsatisfactory.

Why be Fat?

Become Slim This Season.

Have you heard about the new system for weight reduction?

You may eat and drink all you need. There is no tedious exercising. Take a little oil of korein at mealtimes and when retiring; also follow the simple, clear directions. A loss of weight, 10 to 50 pounds (whatever you need to lose), may be expected by this safe and pleasant system of fat reduction.

At the druggists get a small box of oil of korein capsules, and start at once. Be of normal size, with good figure and attractive appearance, agile, quick-witted, healthier and more efficient. By reducing weight now you are likely to avoid one or more diseases: heart, weakness, stroke, apoplexy, etc., and to add many years to your life. Remember—oil of korein. Become thin and stay so. HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitter-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French Scientist, the most effective remedy for nervousness is the Bitter-Phosphate, which is a complex nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitter-Phosphate.

This is a registered preparation, which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and, being easily and quickly assimilated, is of great value. The greater strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long standing nerve weakness. And there are many cases of those who care about exercising to procure the genuine Bitter-Phosphate as sold by Wettick's Original Cut Haste Medicine store in South Bend and all good druggists.

women and who sacrifices it all on the altar of love. Romance in all its splendor is the keynote of this story and the role of the man who spent most of his life counterfeiting love, is one aptly suited to Mr. O'Brien, who has won screen recognition in support of Norma Talmadge and other feminine favorites among the screen stars.

Tomorrow Ethel Clayton is the star of "Men, Women and Money."

AUDITORIUM.

Departing materially from her usual vampire roles, Theda Bara, starring in "A Woman There Was," the new Fox production, made her appearance on the screen of the Auditorium. She assumes the role of a princess of the South Sea Islands, and displays emotional force in expressing her passionate love for a white missionary. After thwarting the jealous rage of a native admirer, saving the life of the missionary and breasting an angry sea during a typhoon, the heroine receives a death thrust at the hands of her pagan followers. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, in a two-reel comedy, and Topics of the Day are the other offerings on the bill. Tomorrow brings Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris) in Lois Weber's new production, "Home;" Harold Lloyd in a comedy, "Just Neighbors;" the Pathé News and Mutt and Jeff will also be shown.

LASALLE.

Written by Cosmo Hamilton, author of "Scandal," "Who Cares?" and other successes, "Men, Women and Money," today's picture at the LaSalle, will find particular favor with the members of the feminine sex. Besides telling a story that is gripping in its heart appeal, it presents a regular fashion show. The heroine is a girl who becomes heavily involved in debt, so that she is forced to work as a model in the very shop where so many of her own wonderful gown creations were purchased. The manner in which she puts selfishness aside and becomes interested in a real man, makes for excellent screen entertainment.

Tomorrow, "The Firing Line," a story of the love-triangle, features Irene Castle.

OLIVER.

"Peck's Bad Boy," who hasn't been seen here for a long time, will be in town on Thursday at the Oliver theater and besides being up to his old pranks, is said to have invented a lot of new ones to provide fun and laughter. Irving Berlin has furnished many new musical numbers which are introduced during the action of the piece.

CASTLE.

"The Perfect Lover," starring handsome Eugene O'Brien in his first important role, is the Castle's attraction for today. The story deals with the affairs of a youthful genius, who wins great success by catering to the vanity of beautiful women.
