

PRIVATE MEETING OF SAFETY BOARD

Policeman Will Guard Inner
Sanctum to Keep Prying
Reporters Away.

The board of safety will meet in their stronghold at the city hall tonight. This is the organization formerly known as the "board of public safety," but the "public" idea has been carefully eliminated under the administration of the police department by Chief Kline.

Reporters, as well as the rest of the public, are invited to stay away from the meeting, and to be satisfied with the statement which will be made after the session by Harry Josephson, clerk of the board. "I have nothing to give out."

A policeman will guard the door of the board office to see that the prying ear of no representative of the press or public is within listening distance of the star chamber session.

Will Not Choose Head.

One thing which will not be done at tonight's meeting will be the choosing of a head for the detective department. The resignation of William Barnhart, sergeant of detectives and head of the Bertillon system, on Aug. 8, left the detective force without a head, and the board has seen to it that this condition has prevailed since, probably for the "safety" of someone.

The alibi that is being used now is the "vacation" fairy-tale, which has been useful to the police administration in other cases, particularly in the contest between sheriff and police for the custody of liquor seized in raids.

Board Vacating.

Now it is the board who is vacating, with the result that no detective head can be chosen on account of the absence of some member of the board. Two members present were deemed enough to discharge Bert Miller from the force on the famous "perjury" charge, and two members have been sufficient to perform business of greater importance, but it will take three members, the full membership of the board, to select a sergeant of detectives, the board says.

Meanwhile, the Bertillon system of identification, the finger print system and other modern police methods, started when John Kuehnert was chief of detectives and thrown into the scrap-heap by the Kline administration, continues to be neglected.

PART OF WHALE STOWED IN SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 29.—Hidden in the safe deposit vault of a New Bedford bank lies a 20-pound lump of ambergris removed from a sick whale off the Hatteras capes and brought into court here by Capt. H. A. Mandy, in command of the Provincetown whaling vessel John R. Manta.

No one in America knows the present market value of ambergris, and a cablegram has gone forward to a famous chemist at Paris to inquire the worth of the find.

TAKING A WIFE WAS / HIS KIND OF SPREE

Charles H. Wilson, a Methodist minister's son, who admits he has eight wives living in New York City and was remanded to the tomb. He recently finished an 18-months' prison term at Waukesha, Wis., for grand larceny. Wilson attributes his "marriage spree" to the actions of his next wife, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Stanton Wilson, whom he married in Davenport, Ia., and also the fact that he was a traveling salesman. His rules for winning women, sent from his cell in the New York tomb, follows:

"The way to win a woman is to go right after her. Women like to be swept off their feet."

"Always make your appeal to the better side in woman's nature and the good that is in them. They shun sordidness."

"Be neat and orderly about your person. Dress well, not necessarily expensively. I never paid more than $18 for a suit in my life."

List Opportunities For Returned Ex-Service Men

Several hundred opportunities for returned soldiers, sailors and members of the marine corps have been listed by the special soldier representatives working throughout the state under the direction of the state free employment commission, in cooperation with the local volunteer bureaus established a few months ago and maintained under the supervision of the United States employment service. Announcement to that effect was made on Thursday by Dan V. White, state superintendent of the Indiana employment office.

Special representatives of the commission have been engaged in Lake county, South Bend, Ft. Wayne, Terre Haute, Evansville and through central Indiana cities with headquarters in Indianapolis, canvassing the industrial centers, seeking information about employment for the returned warriors.

A general disposition among the employers to give preference to discharged service men is reported by the special representatives, who also state in their reports that while some industries are not active, there is little unemployment except among those who do not want to work.

The number of former soldiers not being able to find employment is a small one, according to the canvassers. The unemployed are chiefly professional and technical men, whose business or profession have been adversely affected by war conditions.

FARMERS TO JOIN NEW ASSOCIATION

Men Representing Every Township Meet and Dis- cuss Working Plans.

A unanimous vote was taken to join the Indiana Farmers Federate association by representative farmers at a meeting held in County Agriculture Agent Bird's office Thursday afternoon. They will begin township and county organizations at once.

The entire number of the farmers present, representing every township in the county were heartily in favor of the organization and assured their support of the movement in every township in the county.

J. A. Warren, director of the first district, gave an explanation of the work as it is being planned and carried on throughout the state of Indiana. W. E. Mallard, state organizer of the movement, also gave a talk at the meeting outlining the plans and telling of the meeting held in Marshall county.

Yoder is Secretary.

P. B. Yoder was elected secretary and treasurer of the county organization. John H. Easterday was elected temporary chairman. It was also voted to raise the quota for the county of $3,000.

A nominating committee of five, of which Asa E. Mathews is chairman, appointed the following township chairmen: James Proud of Olive township, G. T. Davenport of Warren, Asa E. Matthews of German, H. G. Longley of Clay, Delbert Shimp of Harris, Henry Zimmerman of Center, H. W. Newman of Portage, Chester Laflin of Penn, Dudley King of Union, J. H. Easterday of Madison, Alexander Rupel of Green, R. E. Geyer of Liberty and Herman Goppert of Lincoln.

A meeting will be held next Tuesday at which time permanent officers will be elected for the county organization and completion of plans made. The place of meeting was not decided upon but left to Mr. Bird. It is expected Mr. Warren will be a speaker at that meeting.

NOTRE DAME GYMNASIUM WILL BE ENLARGED—NEW LOCKERS TO BE PLACED

In addition to Notre Dame gymnasium will be erected in time for occupancy when the football candidates report for initial duty on Sept. 15. The addition of a rectangular shape will be built on the left side of the gymnasium facing the Carroll campus. Work on the addition which will be of yellow fire brick started Thursday afternoon.

With the increasing number of candidates for regular berths on the university football, baseball, basketball and track teams, definite steps to relieve the congestion were taken following a conference held between the Very Rev. Dr. James Burns, C. S. C., president of the university, the Rev. James Boland, C. S. C., steward and purchasing agent for the school and Knute K. Rockne, athletic director and head football coach.

The new plans in the building when carried out will accommodate 100 new candidates. Reservation in the new addition has been made for new steel lockers, shower baths and a supply room holding all the athletic equipment used by the varsity teams.

NO SUCH LUCK.

We have about abandoned hope that the ticket speculators would strike in sympathy with the actors.

Y. M. C. A. CAFETERIA TO OPEN ON SEPT. 10

Sept. 10 has been set by Mrs. Ida Westbrook, new manager of the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria, as the tentative date for the opening of the cafeteria following a period of several months during which it was closed for repairs.

The entire place has been redecorated and renovated and new equipment has been installed in the kitchen and dining room. Among the improvements are a larger pantry, new steam table, new utensils, and new counters.

Mrs. Westbrook is trained in such work having managed a cafe in Omaha, Neb., for a year and a half.
