

VISCOUNT UCHIDA PEEVED AT KING; WILLING TO QUIT

Remark of King George of England May Cause Removal of Jap Minister.

By HENRY W. KINNEY.
TOKYO, March 30.—All of Japan, at least the part that takes an interest in politics, is interested in a scandal which has led Viscount Uchida, Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the most important members of his staff to indicate to the government that if their resignations are wanted, they are willing to step out.

This action follows a certain form of "near-resignation," which accords with Japanese custom but for which there is no corresponding word in English. It is a step only little removed from an actual resignation, and the affair is regarded as a very serious matter. As soon as it became known that the foreign office was on the verge of an explosion, much speculation was indulged in, and this was heightened when the premier asked the house of peers to refrain from taking up the matter of interpolations or otherwise. The fact that this advice was strictly followed added to the significance of the situation, and when this was followed by strict injunctions from the emperor to the newspapers, the matter being served on the newspapers, and the government publishing matters relating to foreign affairs, the public stood on tiptoe.

Make Guesses.
The Japanese have been in the habit of making guesses as to the intentions of the government and the ministry of foreign affairs, and in this regard to the Japanese being a favorite one, but it is a matter of fact, certain that the involved is one of internal politics, namely, a less likely remark which King George said to have made to Saionji, Japan's chief delegate to the Paris peace conference, who called at the British court yesterday. Prince Saionji reported to the emperor that King George had said to him that he was opposed to efforts being made for the extradition and trial of the Kaiser. The foreign office gives out periodically to certain favored persons and institutions a sort of bulletin on current events and the remarks of the king were given as they had been reported by Saionji.

Spills Beans.
Now it appears that this was "spilling the beans" with a vengeance. It is not known who protested, whether the original kick came from the British ambassador or from Prince Saionji, but it is likely that the latter was the complainant. As the thing stands, the powers that be admitted a serious blunder has been committed by the foreign office, and the foreign minister, and especially the director of political affairs bureau, are the "goats."

This version receives practical confirmation in one of the police press releases issued to the newspapers, as follows:

"It is requested that no article regarding the audience granted by King George of England to Prince Saionji, during his stay in London, be published, as the foreign office deems it injurious to the relationship between Japan and England."

Newspapers Guarded.
As a consequence of this notice, the newspapers have been extremely guarded in their discussion of the affair. One of them, the Niroku, said: "The foreign office is in serious commotion owing to a question of grave responsibility. It is true that the foreign office authorities have made a serious blunder; if a protest is made by certain countries, the matter will assume serious national importance and the government will have to step down. The question involved is serious enough to compel the resignation of the government, but the opposition should cooperate with the authorities to remedy the case, especially as the diplomatic authorities are repents of their carelessness and are going to apologize by offering as a victim the director of the political affairs bureau."

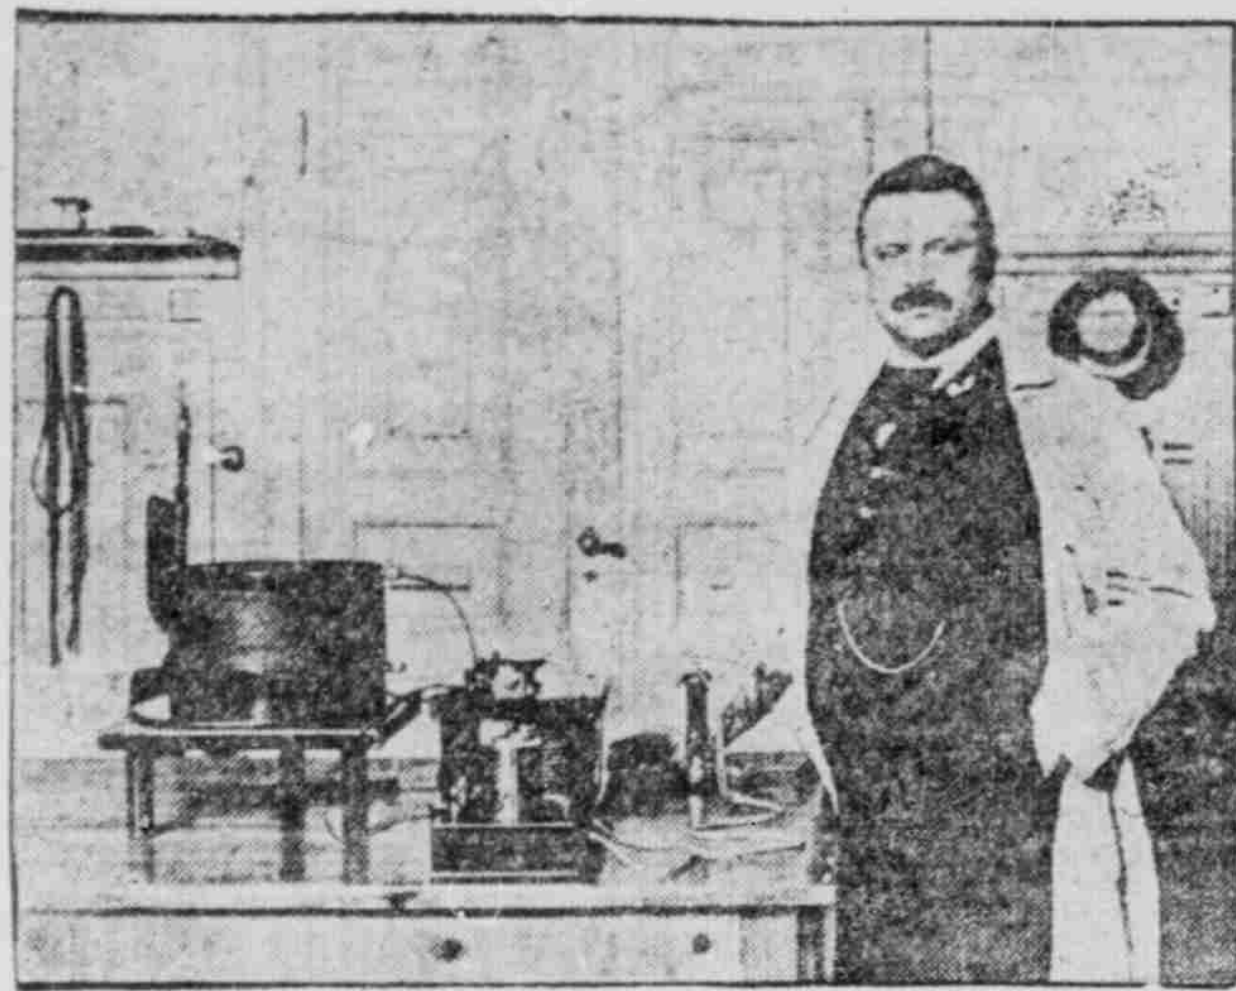

In the same connection it is significant that Foreign Minister Uchida a short time ago, in response to an interpolation in the house, stated:

DR. BURKHART

A Sensational Discovery

The noted scientist, Waldemar Poulsen, of Copenhagen, is at present busy with a new discovery, in which his aim is to get electrical energy from the air. According to Poulsen this discovery, if the experiments are successful, will bring forth a revolution in the electrical industry and will put wireless telegraphy entirely in the shade.

that there were substantial reasons why the Kaiser should be held responsible for originating the great war, and for this reason Japan had agreed to the insertion in the peace treaty of the clause relating to his punishment.

CLAIMS SPIRITS ARE AN EXPERIENCE

NEW YORK, March 31.—One "case of spirits"—$23,000.

Samuel Regal, vice president of the American Fashion company, checked this item off against experience Wednesday.

Several years ago Samuel met Cecilia Rosenthal, a widow, in Topeka, Kan. According to Cecilia, Samuel asked her to marry him and she said she promised.

But when she got to New York, Regal told her he couldn't marry her because of a warning given him "by the spirit of his third wife," according to Cecilia.

A verdict in a lower court awarded Cecilia $23,000 for breach of promise and the supreme court upheld the decision today.
