

MAKE BIG SCORES AT WEEKLY SHOOT

Fair Weather Brings Out
Large Number at St. Joe Valley Gun Club.

There were 21 shooters who took advantage of the wonderful weather Saturday afternoon to participate in the weekly event of the St. Joe Valley Gun Club. Mr. Collins, of Kankakee, Ill., a visitor at the local club, was high man in the club event with 48 targets. Collins is considered as one of the crack amateur shots of the country and his showing yesterday was indicative of his ability. He was closely pressed for high honors in the club event by Myers with 47 and McInerney with 45 which is considered good shooting. Scores in the club event:

Collins	48
Myers	47
McInerney	45
Cady	43
Rugger	42
Augustine	42
Gustafson	42
Holland	42
Greiger	42

Witamyer Jr.	36
Muessel	35
Dennis Jr.	32
Witamyer Jr.	30
Stamard	29
Mrs. Myers	24

Ten Pair.
Collins again took the high honors in the ten pair, or doubles event, with 15 busted targets. E. J. Cady was right behind him with 14 and Staples and Augustine tied for third with 13.

Doubles Event—10 Pair.
Collins	15
Cady	14
Staples	13
Augustine	13
Myers	12
Greiger	11
Rugger	10
Gustafson	10
McInerney	9

In the practice event of 50 birds Rugger carried off the high honors with 48. Collins and Myers were tied for second with one less target than the club president. In addition to the scores made below Messrs. Mue-maw and Beckel tried their hand at a few in the practice and enjoyed the sport immensely. The scores:

Back on the Old Job Again

By ED HUGHES

4-2

BY ED HUGHES
(Famous Sport Cartoonist)

Mighty few, even to the best of us, are sure of their job from day to day. "No one is indispensable" tinkles the dulcet tones of the time-clock. Just around the corner there is a fellow or—yes, a lassie—who can "carry on" in your job if you get out of step with the boss' music. When the boys marched away to France most of them were told that their jobs would be "held open for them." When they returned they could rest up a bit on their laurels and then get back on their old job again. Later some of them found the "help wanted" page as interesting as the sports page.

But there is one fellow, the only case of his kind on the docket, who is always sure of his old job back again. He labors during a part of the spring, all summer, and a little of the fall. Then he deliberately raves, puts on his jorkin, and marches into the boss' office and tells him he is going to take a much needed rest—say about a half a year.

Breaks Ranks.
"Be back on the job some time in April. All right with you?" he explains.

The boss frowns, mutters something about being awfully sorry to lose him, wishes he could stay a little longer, and before he can add something about raising his salary the employee extraordinary has "broken ranks."

All Try Their Hands.
The Boss: You've guessed it—Mr. Sport Fan—adventures for help. Many apply but only a few work at the job long. Wrestler manages to obtain a headlock on the position for a time but the hold is soon broken. Pug clinches with the job, but eventually goes to sleep on the thing and is fired. The boss is obliged to put his hand in the pocket to let the boss in due time.

Let's (a hard worker) is temperamental. He gets into too many "heats." No one will stand for that long. Jockey has quite a "pull" with the boss for a time but he ultimately comes to a "short end." Basketball is but a "passing" fancy for Mr. Fan. His application finds the boss in due time.

Psychological Appearance.
And then when the boss quite naturally desponds of ever finding satisfactory help there is a rap on the door. He opens it (just about this time) and perceives to his unbounded delight, the employee extraordinary baseball.

"How about my old job back again?" queries Rich the Boss.

Now isn't that "getting away with murder" as the boys on the corner say?

Paddock of California
Fails to Equal Record

By Associated Press.
BERKELEY, Cal., April 10.—The world's record for the 100 yard dash was equalled here today by Paddock of the University of Southern California, in a meet against the University of California, the time being 9.34 seconds, the same as that made by J. D. Kelly, whose death was reported yesterday.

CHILLED WATERS FAIL TO STOP THIS WOMAN

WARSAW, Ind., April 7.—Winter-chilled waters are no barrier to Miss Leah Melick of Warsaw, when she feels like taking a swim.

Miss Melick took her first spring swim late in March, thrashing around in Center lake for about 20 minutes. Last November the young woman also gave a demonstration of cold-water swimming.

Helen, 13-year-old sister of Miss Melick, is being converted into a cold-water swimmer. She already has "been in" this year.

SOUTH BEND IN STATE TOURNEY

Seven Teams Show Medium
Form at Fort Wayne in Five Man Event.

BY JEHOSEPHAT SPAHR.
Seven South Bend teams opened the state tournament here this evening, which were followed by eight teams from Gary on the late shift.

The Greenings and Bucktails got away to a good start, both opening with good 900 totals for their first game. But none of these South Bend teams finished with enough wood to be considered seriously as prize contenders.

It was thought that the Bucktails, who usually get away slowly, would get going good as all of them with the exception of the anchor were rolling good 10 pins, but they had a bad second game, which ruined them as serious contenders. The Bucktails started strong the last game but a couple of fouls with bad railroads, gave less than 2700.

The Standards fought a game uphill battle as did the Studbakers, but the Buckeyes never got started together although Kromer and Haugan were going well. All of the South Bend bowlers completed in the doubles and singles, Sunday morning.

The five-man scores are as follows:

Petition for Adoption of Nine Year Old Girl

Special to The News-Times:
COLUMBUS, April 10.—In the circuit court here Herbert and Minnie Williams, of Indianapolis, have petitioned for the adoption of nine-year-old Burton Garner, Mrs. Williams' son, who was born in Elkhart. The child's father, Charlie Garner, is dead and the boy's grandmother, Sarah Garner, who adopted him in the Scott circuit court at Scottsburg, has given her consent to the Williams adoption. It is asked that the child's name be changed to Burton Williams.

It is the desire of George N. Mannfeld, the chief of the fish and game department, to have the fishermen of the state donate as many bass, crappie and bluegills as possible to be used as breeders in the various hatcheries of the state. Donations will be received up to about the middle of April, when it is supposed that the fish will begin nesting in the open water, after which they should not be molested.

GUSTAV J. T. MEYER.
The angler who fishes to the confining of depth and distance from shore line has a better chance of winning than the fellow who angles at haphazard. I can safely say that the angler who works the hardest is the most successful. The old rule of persistence and common sense wins out in the long run against faint heart and poor judgment.

Everybody naturally starts out in the spring after bass, but it is not always this species that is found in the creel on his return home. I don't mind telling here about a trip taken in the early spring a few years back with a friend, also a bass fisherman. When we hit the stream we separated, my friend going up stream, and I tried, failed and towards evening, not having landed a single bass, I finally resorted to worm fishing and was fortunate enough to land a pound sucker. As we met in the evening I asked my friend what luck he had met with and he replied that he had only caught one, about a pound; but he did not offer to show me the fish. After quite a spell he popped the same question at me and I told him I, too, had caught but one, which hefted around a pound. Nothing more was said by either of us until we were about to part for our respective homes, when my friend's suspicion got the better of him, and he asked to see my bass. I told him if he would show his I would do likewise, and the showdown proved them both to be suckers.

We all have that natural instinct to go to the wilds where all cares are forgotten, and fishing certainly furnishes a fine excuse. We do not need the fish to sustain life, and pork is really much cheaper when we foot up our expenses at the end of the season, but fishing has that charm of making us forget ourselves and our cares and tribulations, and by doing so renew our hold on life and happiness, which is, in my opinion, more important than all the book learning and money grabbing in the world. No real sportsman can withstand that strong impelling instinct that clamors for a fishing trip when he feels the warm rays of the sun in the

DETROIT TIGERS DEFEAT INDIANS

Dauss of Detroit Pitches Air-Tight Ball for American Leaguers.

By Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, April 10.—Playing errorless ball and hitting often and opportunely, the Detroit American league team defeated the Indianapolis American association representatives here this afternoon in an exhibition game by a score of 8 to 1.

Ty Cobb was the big attraction and, although it was his first day in a Detroit uniform since last October, he repaid the large crowd of fans by registering a double and a single in four trips to the plate. He didn't have a chance in the outfield.

Dauss did not allow an Indian to reach first base during the three innings he worked for the Tigers. The teams will meet again tomorrow afternoon. Score:

Detroit . . . 110 003 012—8; 12; 0.
Indianapolis 000 100 009—1; 4; 2.

Dauss, Love, Eayres and Stange; Crum, Adams and Henline.

NOTRE DAME TEAM DEFEATS FRESHIES

Coach Dorais' Outfit Shows
Unexpected Strength Against Yearlings.

Coach Dorais started his 1920 baseball machine against the Freshmen crew yesterday afternoon for the second time this year and won, 5 to 0. The varsity slabsmen had a big day. Foley, Stelnly and Lally had just enough to keep the yearlings swinging hard and wild.

The score sheet credits them with a total of 14 strikeouts in seven frames. The varsity hit Sharpe and Lally for a total of six safe hits while their hurlers allowed but four safeties.

Stelnly Star Hurler.
Stelnly, making his debut as a varsity hurler, was the real sensation of the afternoon. Starting work in the fifth inning, he struck out the first three men who faced him. In the sixth frame he whiffed three of four men facing him, the second man up getting on base on an infield error. Stelnly seemed to have his hook curves working in mid-season form. Foley, the Columbia university (of Portland, Ore.) hurler held forth on the mound for the first four innings, striking out seven and allowing but two hits. Dorais was very much pleased with the speed shown by the varsity infield combinations which are his big problem this year. The choice for second and third base positions is a close one, with two class A men for each job, of the varsity hitting which the sixth with one on was the feature of the varsity hitting which the Freshmen hurlers kept well in hand.

Time Trials.
Rockne's relay men experienced their first real speed workout yesterday, the candidates tearing through a fast quarter for the mile relay trials in good time. Hoar and Wynn led the field, with Willett, Desch and Starrett finishing in order. The two-mile relay men turned up a fast half, all finishing close in a trifle over two-five. Kusper, Meehan, Burke and Sweeney are the entrants for the event. Hammer, Murphy and Schuler are playing away for the fourth place in the four-mile quartet which Rockne may send to Des Moines.
