

THEATERS

ORPHEUM

The League of Nations, an excellent musical revue features the Orpheum for the first half of the week. Claude West, blackface comedian, assisted by doughboys representing the allied nations, and a girl depicting Miss Liberty, have an act that is up to the minute. The quartet gets away big in their song, "Wonderful Mother." Several good solos are rendered.

Lillian Watson, a demure girl, sings character songs which are clever, the one in Hebrew dialect being especially meritorious. Her final song concerning Armenians, Portuguese and Greeks is new. Behind the clever lines there is more than a grain of truth. Her act is good, but it failed to impress the matinee audience.

Rose and Thorn, the Yale boy and the Swede girl, have a humorous act consisting of songs and patter.

Ella LaVail, an aerial artist, opens the bill. She pulls a new stunt at the end of her act, making the giant swing on a trapeze.

Keno, Keys and Melrose close with an acrobatic act and have a couple of thrilling stunts. Topics of the Day and Kinograms are shown.

LASALLE

"Red Hot Dollars" is the name of a typical Charles Ray picture in which this popular player is featured at the LaSalle today. Ray has the knack of touching the funny bone of most of his spectators and he does it with quiet, effective methods that are peculiarly his own. "Red Hot Dollars" has to do with a young chap in a rolling mill who does his employer a good turn, is elevated to a manager's position and then gets into trouble while befriending a girl. Claude George is the attractive miss who attracts the star and the picture is one that will please LaSalle patrons.

On Tuesday Norma Talmadge will be seen in a new comedy, "She Loves and Lies."

CASTLE

Pauline Frederick will be the attraction at the Castle Monday in her latest picture, "The Pilaster Case." As the name of the picture implies, it is of the mystery-drama type and is sure to please those who are partial to the "thriller" variety of picture.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Norma Talmadge will be at the Castle in her newest release, "She Loves and Lies." This is one of the big Talmadge productions and will be played at advanced prices.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE. Constance Talmadge in her latest screen production, "In Search of a Sinner," played to large crowds at the Oliver theater all yesterday.

afternoon and night. The story concerns a young widow whose husband had been so good to her that she died of living with him and after his death she determined to find a wild man and marry him. She went to New York and there she flirted with a man in Central park but is disappointed when she discovers that he belongs to the Purty league. However, she determines to make him wild, which she succeeds in doing and is happy when she learns he really loves her. Some of the funniest situations imaginable are shown and Miss Talmadge is as clever as she has been in her former pictures. "In Search of a Sinner" will remain at the Oliver until Wednesday, showing continuously each day from one o'clock on.

IN OLD KENTUCKY.

One of the thrilling scenes in "In Old Kentucky," today's feature at the Auditorium, is where Anita Stewart rushes into a burning barn to save a thoroughbred racer from the flames. Miss Stewart as Madge Bricker, the little mountain girl, is visiting in the Blue Grass region, being in love with the young master of the estate. In order to keep him from winning a race and thereby restoring his finances, an enemy sets fire to the barn and when Madge discovers it, she rushes into the barn and saves her lover's horse. The picture is one of the best seen here for some time. It contains a good story, well acted and beautiful scenes are shown of the Kentucky mountains. Topics of the Day will also be shown. The bill will be repeated tomorrow.

NIGHTIE NIGHT.

New fashions in farces crop up every few years. The latest fashion in bed-room comedies has been set by "Nightie Night," and Adolph Klaubner and Adelaide Matthews, which, after a record-breaking run in New York, will stop off at the Oliver opera house for one performance, April 15th, en route to the LaSalle theater, Chicago.

CLARENCE.

Booth Tarkington looms very large in the public eye, and a new play from his pen is quite sure to attract more than usual interest. His latest comedy, "Clarence," which is enjoying a prosperous run at the Blackstone theater, Chicago, will be presented at the Oliver theater on Saturday matinee and night by the original cast that is appearing in Chicago, which includes Gregory Kelly, Ruth Gordon, Grace Filkins, Robert Adams, Eyrone Beasley, Betty Murray, Clara Blandick, Joe Wallace, James T. Ford and Guy d'Enery. The newspaper reviewers of both New York and Chicago, almost without exception, have pronounced "Clarence" the best of latter-day American comedies.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT
PLANNED NEXT FALL

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11. — A "Made-in-Indiana Industrial Exhibit" will be given at the state fair grounds late in November or early in December by the state board of agriculture, according to Charles F. Kennedy, secretary of the board.

Great quantities of a kind will not be permitted, but a diversity of kinds will be encouraged for the show, it was said.

A large part of Kerman, one of the provinces of Persia, is covered with a frightful salt waste.

THE SEASON'S SENSATION

NORMA TALMADGE

in her latest and greatest

"SHE LOVES AND LIES"

NORMA WANTED TO "SETTLE DOWN." SHE LOVED HER HANDSOME YOUNG HUSBAND—LOVED HIM WITH ALL THE DEVOTION IN HER SOUL. BUT HE—WELL, HE WASN'T READY YET FOR SLIPPERS AND SMOKING JACKET. HE WANTED TO "PLAY WITH FIRE." WANTED JUST ANOTHER WHIRL AT THE "WHITE LIGHTS."

SO NORMA HIT UPON A NOVEL PLAN TO MAKE HIM LOVE HER. SHE WOULD BE HIS AFFINITY! AND HOW SHE WORKED. CLEVERLY DISGUISED SHE LURED HER UNSUSPECTING MATE INTO LOVING HIS OWN WIFE. LURED HIM WITH ALL THE TIGERISH CHARM HER BEAUTY AND GRACE COULD COMMAND. MAN-LIKE, HE FELL. AND THEREIN LIES THE HAPPY ENDING.

IT'S A WONDERFUL PICTURE. IT'S THE TALMADGE TALENT IN ITS VERY BEST LIGHT. "SHE LOVES AND LIES" IS PACKED FULL OF UNIQUE SITUATIONS. IT WILL CREATE HUNDREDS OF NEW NORMA TALMADGE ADMIRERS IN SOUTH BEND.

WILL YOU HELP KEEP THE PRICES DOWN?

In bringing such pictures as "She Loves and Lies," "Male and Female" and "Everywoman" to the Castle and LaSalle, Manager Rhodes is desirous that patrons of these houses be given advantage of the lowest possible prices. The low level can only be maintained with your help. So, during the showing of this big picture, admission up to 6 o'clock p. m. will be 22 cents for downstairs and 17 cents for balcony. After that hour, 30 cents and 20 cents respectively. So by getting there early, you help keep the price of high class attractions down to a minimum.
