

ARCHDUKE THINKS AUSTRIA WRONGED

Member of Hapsburg House Says Three Alsace-Lorraines Were Made.

BUDAPEST, April 11.—The allies have made not one but three Alsace-Lorraines of Hungary, declares Archduke Joseph of Hapsburg, the man who wanted to be king of Hungary but whose aspirations were thwarted by the supreme council at Paris.

"We have not deserved such treatment," he said to a correspondent when he received in his palace here, "We did not want the war," he continued, "we protested against taking part in it."

"The Germans felt the war was bound to come, and inasmuch as they were ready while the other nations were not, they felt it was best it came when an opportunity was presented by the murder of the Austrian crown prince, particularly as it was believed Russia was thus inviting war."

Falls to Understand.

The archduke professes to be unable to understand why the allies object to him. "Of course I am a Hapsburg," he said, "but why should there be so much enmity against the Hapsburgs on the part of the allies? Is it left-over propaganda? The people of Hungary want a king and that Archduke Joseph is the best liked man in the country."

The correspondent found him working at his memoirs on his desk in the library off his palace which is resplendent in marble, tapestries and rare bronzes. He is a short man of medium weight, slow in movement, deliberate of speech, with a typical nose and pale blue eyes of the Hapsburgs. He still wears a military uniform and about his neck hangs the grand cross of the Leopold order. Commenting on the Hungarian peace treaty, he said:

Country's Fortune.

"The future of Hungary now, with our restricted frontiers, appears mainly agricultural, although I am sure sooner or later our lost provinces will be returned to us. Fortunately for me, I am a farmer."

The archduke formerly possessed three estates. One of these of 50,000 acres is in Transylvania which is occupied by the Romanians. Another large farm is in the formerly Hungarian territory, now in Czechoslovakia. "I wonder if I shall ever get these farms back," he said. "I earned them with my own money many years ago. Money which I earned myself. There were not crown properties passed to me by inheritance." The archduke still retains a farm of 10,000 acres at Alcsuth which he now manages, often working in the fields.

RUSSIAN OFFICERS IN CONSTANTINOPLE MUST BE REGISTERED

By Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 11.—Gen. Arapiev, commanding the south Russian forces in Constantinople in conjunction with the British commandant, has issued orders that all Russian army and navy officers in Constantinople must register before April 12, under penalty of arrest. This is presumably for the purpose of sending those of Russian back into Crimea. It is estimated that more than 50,000 Russian refugees are in Constantinople, probably half of them men of military age.

There is little employment, consequently Russians have become a great burden on Constantinople, which is vastly overcrowded. Food is becoming scarcer daily because of the farmers' refusal to ship food here. The Americans have already sent 200 refugees of military age from Proti back to Crimea and it is expected that a general deportation of officers and soldiers will begin soon from Constantinople and other refugee centers to Crimea.

BRITISH MINISTER IS ON WAY TO U. S.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 11.—Sir Auckland C. Geddes, the new British ambassador to the United States, left Sunday morning for Liverpool, where he will board the steamer for his voyage to America. There was a large gathering at the Euston station to see him off, among the number being Ambassador John W. Davis and Mrs. Davis and Andrew Bonar Law.

In a message to the press, Sir Auckland told of his appreciation of the manner in which the British press had helped him since his appointment.

"The press," he said, "is one of the most important, perhaps the most important, engine whereby mutual respect and understanding between the British and American people can be maintained and whereby their relations can be kept free from misconception. In the admirable tone of the British press I see every indication that I may regard it as a powerful ally in my efforts to promote international understanding."

RESERVE BANK HEADS CONCLUDE CONFERENCE

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A series of conferences attended by the governors of the federal reserve banks and members of the federal reserve board ended Sunday night without any announcement as to probable changes in re-discount rates of reserve banks.

Higher rates were discussed as a possible means of checking the increasing flow of commercial paper into the reserve institutions, but there was no indication of the attitude of bankers.

Commercial paper re-discounted by the reserve banks has almost doubled in amount since November.

SAYS RESERVATIONS ARE POLITICAL BUNK

By Associated Press.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 11.—Atty. Gen. Palmer, whose campaign through Georgia was interrupted by illness, declared in an address here Sunday night that most of the senate reservations to the peace treaty were "political bunk."

Referring to the vote cast for him in the Michigan primary, Mr. Palmer said he was consoled "by the fact that there is so large a 'German vote,' so large a red radical vote, and that a senator of the United States has been sentenced to the penitentiary for two years."

GREAT SEAL HERDS MIGRATE NORTHWARD

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 7.—Residents of Sitka say that the herds of seal migrating northward toward Bering sea this spring are greater than they have been in years and that the migration is three weeks ahead of its usual time. Countless thousands of the government-owned seals are passing sitka. Government officials say the great size of the migratory herd is evidence that the government protective measures have been effective.

PROPAGANDA USED AGAINST AMERICA

Bolsheviki Also Employ Posters to Stir Anger Against Allies.

THE HAGUE, April 11.—The bolsheviki are conducting a strong campaign against America, England and France by the skillful use of huge propaganda posters in Moscow, says G. Nijpels, correspondent of the Amsterdam Handelsblad who visited soviet Russia this winter. He found much to admire from an artistic standpoint in the designs of which he saw many in the railway stations.

"This poster campaign is certainly a very clever piece of work," he writes. "Both the educated and unlettered classes are struck by them, the first by the writing beneath, the second by the drawings themselves. The campaign was directed along three great lines: First, to cultivate hatred, loathing and fear for such men as Kolchak and Denikin; second, to breed hatred of the entente, especially against the 'capitalistic triumvirate,' France, England and America;—never Japan, Italy, the Poles or Czech-Slovaks—but always the bourgeoisie parading upon the proletariat; and, third, to prevent desertion among the red soldiers."

Claiming that it holds fish more securely than the usual type of hook, a Norwegian has patented a fish hook with the barb at one side of instead of inside the point.

WHY?

When we make an increase in prices we feel that the public should know the reason why.

When we held the price through the war and past war times we did well. We hoped to be able to continue the old prices, but it can't be done.

We have granted another increase in wages, which makes an increase of more than fifty percent in eighteen months—twenty percent in less than two months.

The new wagons we are buying are two hundred and fifty percent higher than in 1917.

There is not a single cost item in our business that has not increased from ten percent to four hundred percent in three years, and it seems there is no relief in sight.

We are confronted with a most serious condition in the ice industry. We cannot continue the present delivery service at prevailing prices. There is no other company giving like service for the money.

Beginning April 12th prices to family trade will be increased twenty percent. This is lower than many other cities are giving.

We believe the public will see the justice of our action. We ask your cooperation, and assure you that no increase is ever made by this company until we are forced to do it.
