"The battlements which you should build around your home to save your family are family discipline, reverence for the Bible, the family altar and consistent Christian living," Bob Jones told his audience at the tabernacle Thursday night. He took his text from the eighth verse, 22nd chapter of Deuteronomy. "When thou buildest a new house then thou shalt build a battlement on thy roof that thou shalt not bring blood upon thy house if any man fall from thence."

Speaking on "The Home and Home Problems," he symbolized the battlements which should be built on the roofs of every Christian home as the elements necessary for developing Christian lives.

A driving rain which continued through the afternoon and evening, kept many from attending, but an audience of more than 1,500 was present when the speaker took the platform. In his preliminary remarks, Mr. Jones complimented the spirit of the audience, declaring that the best evidence of the right spirit at the tabernacle of the revival was presented by the size of the audience on such a night.

C. P. DuComb of the executive committee, in a short talk, outlined the plans for the churchmen's night tonight. More than 3,000 churchmen representing every Protestant denomination of the city, are expected to meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 and march in a body, headed by the Redmen's band, to the tabernacle.

Both Mr. DuComb and Mr. Jones commended the press of the city for the manner in which it has cooperated in the campaign both in handling the accounts of the meetings and in the space allotted.

Opening his sermon on "The Home and Home Problems," Bob Jones denounced the false spirit of personal liberty which leads a man to declare that it is his affair and his alone to do with his home, his wife, his children, his neighbors, his country, his world, his God.

"When a man says that he has the right to walk up a crowded street wearing his shirt because it is his personal liberty, he talks like a fool. You haven't any right to do anything on earth that will injure a neighbor, and you have no right to put into your hands materials bought with ill-gotten gains. God has a

Indiana Railway Workers
Urge All Union Members to Return to Work.

By Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 15.—Resolutions pledging their loyalty to the brotherhoods and urging the striking yardmen and "likewise all other strikers to return at once to their allegiance to the brotherhoods" were unanimously adopted Thursday night at a mass meeting of men from all four of the railroad brotherhoods. The resolutions also urged the insurgents "to report at the earliest possible moment for work in their regular positions with their respective employing companies."

Slight improvement was reported Thursday in local yard movements, and in the transfer of freight into Indianapolis. Shippers and motor truck operators decided to establish motor express routes to cities and towns within a radius of 75 miles of Indianapolis, and to make longer hauls at special rates. About 300 trucks are now in operation. Truck operators agreed to place 1,000 trucks at the shipper's disposal.

Little change is reported in conditions generally throughout the state. Many communities are experiencing shortages in gasoline, coal and food-stuffs, but no actual famine conditions have been reported. About 25,000 employees of industrial plants are idle as a direct result of the strike.

Inquiry by agents of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice discloses that the strike here was incited by agitators sent by the I. W. W. and kindred organizations.

JONES' EPIGRAMS.
Lots of homes are broken up because women won't seem interested in their husbands' bragging.

There is just as much religion in helping mother at home as there is trotting out to your religious meetings.

I never did believe God wanted a woman to put a $50 hat on a 10-cent head.

The time to go to church is when it is raining. It doesn't take so much Christianity to attend when the sun is shining.

There would be more happiness in American homes if father had to do the housework a week out of every year.

A man can go to hell having respect for the Bible, but it's a hard job.

Usually when a man begins talking about personal liberty, he talks like a fool.

The wave of lawlessness that is sweeping the world began at the firesides of homes where the children are not taught proper respect for discipline and law.

Boys never come home for spiritual help to dancing, card-playing, pleasure-seeking mothers.

You parents cannot teach your children by beating them in the head. I want you to use the rod, but in the right place.

will about that house you build. Yet there are people in this world who have taken the blood out of human hearts with which to buy material for the house.

Draws Contrast.
He pictured vividly the home of the saloonkeeper and the gambler in contrast with the poor mothers whose life-blood, the character and souls of their sons and husbands, has gone into the building of those homes.

Willingness of all to help in bearing the burdens of the home, he said, was a primary need for peace and happiness. "It would bring happiness into the homes of all Americans if every son and husband kept house just one week a year; and girls, there is just as much religion in helping your tired mother as in trotting off to the B. Y. P. U. or the Epworth league."

The loafer he characterized as one of the evils of today, declaring: "The time has come when the world will never again excuse idleness. Work is the one great need of the hour." Bringing this point home to the audience, he said: "You don't teach that child the dignity of service."

Need of Peace.
He stressed the crying need for peace and harmony in the home, for the spirit of Christianity which "will check the grinding of the divorce mills which are set to destroy the home life of America."

"There are men in America who are actually being driven from God by eternal nagging of their wives. I know of them; they are being sent to the church by nagging wives who profess Christianity."

He pleaded for what he said was a primary need in rearing of a Christian family, that fathers and mothers set the example of Christianity by prayer and by conscientious effort to keep right with God.

"Some fellows don't pray at home," he said, "because their own square and they are ashamed of the sham."

Speaks of Children.
Speaking of the crying necessity of setting an example to children while they are in the character forming age, he told of incidents where children mimicked the slightest action of their parents.

"When I spat through a grating thoughtlessly and turned to see my little son spitting, I called to God to help him that if that boy was to do everything his father did, he would be a clean Christian life. The man who thinks he has sense enough to rear children without the help of God is an egotistical fool," he declared.

He named the four figurative battlements of the Christian home. "First," he said, "is family discipline which brings a respect for the authorities of God, father and mother and in later life brings a respect for the law. The man who in his childhood took his father's word as law is going to respect the laws of the land simply because they are laws made by the proper authorities."

Reverence for Bible.
"There is the reverence for the Bible. If there isn't some reverence for the word of God brought back into the homes of this country, the homes are going to ruin."

"I would place as a battlement the family altar and set apart a period of every day for family prayer."

"The last battlement is consistent Christian living. Live a life which will show to your children the good of Christianity. Do you wonder that some children wonder if religion isn't a joke and the Bible a lie when they see their parents living in a

Feik Will Submit Proposition Today.

The proposal for an agreement between the contractors and the union employees who are on a strike in South Bend will be submitted to both sides by U. S. Commissioner Fred L. Feik, Friday afternoon, according to the announcement made by Mr. Feik, Thursday evening.

Any team in South Bend within the required age limit may arrange for games by calling Main 9551.

Teamsters Back.
The teamsters who quit work nearly two weeks ago, following the refusal of employers to accede to their demands, are back on the job, according to reports from all sides.Intimidation.
Declaring that several of the striking laborers desired to go back to work but were prohibited by intimidation, Mayor Carson, Thursday morning issued proclamation to safeguard those "desiring to pursue their usual vocation" as the executive termed it. However, union officials have repeatedly denied that there had been any material evidence of intimidation or threats to those who refused to join the walk-out but maintained that powerful persuasion characterizes their efforts to bring the remaining laborers in line.

At the meeting held in the Pink room of the Oliver hotel, union leaders said that over 400 men had left the city to accept jobs in other locations rather than return to work under existing conditions here.

SEN. HITCHCOCK SAYS
BRYAN IS APPEALING
TO REPUBLICAN WOMENBy Associated Press.
BEATRICE, Neb., April 15.—United States Sen. G. M. Hitchcock, speaking here Thursday night charged that William J. Bryan had been appealing to republican women voters to enter that state primaries April 20, so that by their votes they may be elected a delegate to the national convention.

Mr. Hitchcock's address was in connection with his campaign as a democratic presidential candidate.

Mr. Bryan "fears to trust democracy," he said, "and he is appealing to republican women voters to enter that state primaries April 20, so that by their votes they may be elected a delegate to the national convention."

Reports Says Six Other States Have Joined Against Carranza's Government.By Associated Press.
AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, April 15.—Military forces of the new "republic" of Sonora, have crossed the state line of Sinaloa, captured two towns and are continuing towards Culiacan, capital of the neighboring state, thus taking the aggressive in the state's fight against the Carranza government of Mexico.

El Huerta, one of the most important mining camps in Sinaloa, about 15 miles from the Sinaloa-Sonora boundary, and San Blas, a railroad junction point, have fallen to the Sonora forces, according to official information received here.

Agents Active.
Reports that six other states—Michoacan, Oaxaca, Tlaxcala, Tabasco, Campeche and Jalisco—have joined forces with the Sonora movement against Carranza, remained unconfirmed Thursday night. It is known that agents and sympathizers with the Sonora movement were active throughout Mexico seeking recruits.

Reports to military headquarters here say that Prest Carranza plans to send thousands of troops against Sonora in efforts to put down the uprising. Leaders of the Sonora movement declare this plan means a new revolution.

More than three thousand Sonora troops have entered Sinaloa, it was said, and these included a large command of fully equipped Yaqui Indians, conceded to be among the best soldiers in Mexico. Other troops are being rushed to the forces in Sinaloa and to guard the line between the two states.

OPEN AIR MEETING
OF RALPH N. SMITH
STOPPED BY RAIN

GOSHEN, Ind., April 15.—On account of the rain, an open air meeting which was to have been held here this evening, with Ralph N. Smith, of Laporte, candidate for the democratic nomination for representative in the Thirteenth district, was postponed.

The measure was deferred to the house rules committee which will decide whether it should be made a special order of business before the house Thursday night.

The resolution would direct the judiciary committee to investigate charges made against Post by Chairman Johnson of the immigration committee, and others, and if the evidence warranted, to report a resolution of censure against Post.

Mr. Hoch intended to present his resolution when the house first convened and arose to do so but Rep. Mondell, the republican leader, told Mr. Hoch that he "would not do that now" and the Kansas member temporarily abandoned his plan. Later he conferred with republican leaders and decided to offer the measure.

Whereas, it has been charged on the floor of the house by other members of the public, that Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, has, in the discharge of the official duties, and in the exercise of his authority, actually and unlawfully used his power in connection with the deportation of alien enemies of the country; that he has in his official capacity, pursued toward those who would destroy by force and violation of the government or its institutions, a policy subversive of the welfare, the peace and the dignity of the United States; that he has in an unwarranted manner submitted to the demands of those seeking to prevent the deportation of alien enemies; that by flattery, grant and unwarranted aid, he has hindered, delayed and prevented the deportation of alien enemies who by act and counsel would undermine and overthrow the government of the United States; and whereas, the said offenses alleged to have been committed by the said Louis F. Post, constitute, if true, high crimes and misdemeanors against the United States.

Therefore, be it resolved that the committee on the judiciary is directed to inquire into the truth or falsity of said charges against the said Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, and if it find that said charges are true to report its findings to the house together with a resolution providing for the impeachment of the said Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor.

And be it further resolved, that the committee on the judiciary, hereinafter provided the said committee shall have power to send for persons and papers, to take testimony and to compel the attendance of witnesses.

Early action on the resolution was predicted by leaders.

The fight on Post has been smoldering in congress for some time. Chairman Johnson, of the committee, addressing the house last Monday, charged that Post had agreed to reduce the bail of an alleged anarchist, Paul Boner, from $10,000 to $1,000 and he permitted the transfer of the prisoner from New Orleans to New York at government expense. When convicted as an anarchist at Morgantown, W. Va., Boner, according to Johnson, stood up in a crowded courtroom and ex-

Discuss Chicken
at Headquarters
of Chief Kline

At his desk in the office of the chief of police, Sergt. James Cutting broached the subject of chickens Thursday night.

"You know those chickens I got a few days ago," he said to Police-woman Minnie Evans.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Evans, as every one in the room sat up to listen with the expectation of hearing a thriller.

"Well," continued the sergeant, "several of them now weigh over a pound."

"Surely not," spoke Mrs. Evans; "those chickens couldn't have grown that fast."

Everyone else in the room thought a pound was very light weight, until the sergeant came to the rescue with an explanation.

"You see," said Sergt. Cutting to Mrs. Evans, "I said several of them weigh over a pound. It does take several to weigh over a pound. They are brown leghorns."

Beyond these remarks, there seemed to be absolutely nothing going on in and around the office of the chief. Reports were as meagre as ever. It seemed to be understood, however, that Mayor Carson expected his chief of police to do his bit in enforcing the proclamation he issued Thursday, in which the mayor said that "all citizens desiring pursue their usual vocations will be fully protected in their work."
