

COURSE IN IRISH HISTORY AND ART OFFERED STUDENTS

Celtic Studies Added to Curriculum at Notre Dame, Says Announcement.

New courses in the language, history, music and art of Ireland will be added to the curriculum at Notre Dame and will be taught at summer school for the first time, according to an announcement from the president's office. The summer session will open June 18 and will continue for six weeks.

"The object of these Celtic courses," says the announcement, "is to give the student a correct and thorough knowledge of the language, history and life of the Irish people from the earliest times to the present day. These subjects are now becoming subjects of wide and fast-growing interest and are finding a place in the foremost schools of various grades. Hence it is believed the courses offered will be of special interest to teachers in view of the coming demand for trained instructors in this field.

Instructors Named.
The work of the Celtic department of the summer school will be conducted by Rev. Hugh Gallagher, C. S. C., a specialist in the Gaelic language and Irish history; Mr. J. O'Hegarty, at least one other competent specialist.

"These courses will not be open to preparatory students, though mature persons may be admitted to them by special permission. Regular credits will be given in all these subjects to those who are candidates for degrees, and any one of these courses may be followed by special college students of college standing who are not seeking college credits.

Courses Offered.
The following courses will be offered in the Gaelic language:

1. Elementary Gaelic: The initial mutations, aspirations and eclipses, declensions, conjugations, and as much of the etymology of the language as can be covered with thoroughness. This course aims to fit the student for a good understanding of simple texts in Gaelic. Two hours a day, eight hours a week.
2. Intermediate Gaelic: For those who have had at least a half-year in Gaelic. This course will include a brief review of course 1, the completion of etymology, syntax, the reading of Gaelic texts, translation from English into Gaelic, and conversational practice in Gaelic. Two hours a day, eight hours a week.
3. Special Course in Gaelic: For those who speak the language but who have had little or no opportunity to read or write it. There will be in this course as much application of grammar as the needs of the student may demand. One hour a day, four hours a week.

The following courses in Irish history are offered:

1. General History of Ireland: From the earliest times to the present day. Four times a week.
2. Social History of Ireland: Specializing in a much neglected phase of Irish history. In this course will be studied the laws, customs and domestic life of the Irish people from the early pagan times to the cessation of the Brehon laws. Twice a week.
3. History of the Gaelic Literature of Ireland: Beginning with the Ogham inscriptions and reviewing the various phases of literary activity in Ireland from the introduction of Christianity to the present day. Twice a week.
4. Irish Influence on European Civilization: Twice a week.
5. The music of Ireland: A special course with particular attention to the psalm-tune and the harpers of Ireland. Twice a week.
6. Irish Political Movements in the Nineteenth Century: Twice a week.

FIRST SUMMER SPRAY FOR APPLE TREES

The time to apply the first summer spray is just as the fruit buds are beginning to open. This is usually four or five days before the trees burst into bloom.

For this spray use lime sulphur solution (testing 32-0 Baume) one and one-half gallons to 50 of water and one and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead. As a safe guard against aphids one-third pint of nicotine sulphate may be added to each barrel of spray. In case liquid lime sulphur is not available use four pounds of the powdered form to each 50 gallons of spray. The most important single operation in an orchard is spraying. The most important word on this subject is "thoroughness," says C. L. Burkholder of the horticultural extension staff of Purdue university. Leaflet No. 49 and bulletin No. 80 of the Purdue horticultural extension department tell when to spray and what with, but the entire surface of the tree must be covered with a film of spray, if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

COVER ROUTE OF PROPOSED TRUCK TOUR

H. C. Ridgway, the tour organizer, and Jerry Wolf, tour advance man, left Friday to cover the entire route of the trip to be made from April 29 to May 5 by the local truck dealers to demonstrate the use of the truck on the farm. B. J. McGee, the tour director, will remain in South Bend to assist in the completion of the arrangements that are being made locally.

Mr. Ridgway and Mr. Wolf will meet with committees in the various towns to be visited on the tour. These committees will plan full schedules of work for the trucks to do when they arrive in these towns. It is planned to have the farmers submit lists of work that they desire to have the trucks do. John Farneman, who has been named as tour master, will assign the trucks to the various tasks.

Thousands of circulars will be sent out to the surrounding towns announcing the tour to the farmers of northern Indiana and southern Michigan within the next few days.

Free lecture on Christian Science, at the church edifice, Main and Madison sts., Tuesday, April 20, at 8 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Court and School Heads Work for Truants Welfare

Glenn Trickett is 14 years old, and is in the sixth grade at the Perley school. But Glenn does not want to go to school.

Harry Trickett is 10 years old, and he also dislikes to attend school. John Trickett is employed at the Studebaker plant. He is the father of the two boys, and he confesses his inability to keep them in school.

The father was arraigned in city court Friday morning on a charge of failure to keep his children in school. He told Judge Glimmer that he leaves home for work at 5 o'clock in the morning and does not get back home until 7 o'clock at night.

School authorities told Judge Glimmer that Glenn is a bright boy, and that something should be done to keep him in school. The school authorities say that the boy would rather work than attend school.

Since school began for the present semester in January, Glenn has been absent 45 days, and Harry 25 days out of 150 days.

Mrs. Trickett, the boys' mother, told the school authorities that Glenn is beyond their control. Glenn told the school authorities the same thing.

What to do with Glenn is something that is worrying the school authorities. His teacher says that the boy has a good mind, and that to allow him to quit school at this time would be criminal. They do not believe that either he or his brother, Harry, should be allowed to stay out of school.

Judge Glimmer appeared determined to fine the father in city court Friday. Deputy Prosec. George A. Schock took the view that perhaps the parents of the boys can find some way in which to keep their children in school, and asked the court to continue the case for two weeks in order to give the parents an opportunity.

The father and mother and the two boys were ordered by Judge Glimmer to appear in court two weeks from Saturday, May 1, and if at that time it is shown that the boys are regular attendants at their classes, and the prospects are good for their continued attendance, the case against the father will probably be dismissed. On the other hand, if the irregularity should continue, and it becomes apparent that the boys are beyond their parents' control, then the judge may fine both parents, and order the children taken from them.

The school authorities expressed themselves as anxious to find some method whereby parents will be brought to the realization that it is for the benefit of their children to exert every effort to keep them in school without invoking the criminal statutes.

However, they are determined that children of school age, where there is no valid reason for them not being in school, shall be regular attendants in their classes. Judge Glimmer and Deputy Prosec. Schock declare that they will cooperate in every way with the school authorities for the best interests of the children.

The case of Glenn and Harry Trickett is only one of numerous cases of like kind encountered by the school authorities. Parents do not compel their children to attend school, and then they wonder why the law steps in and punishes them.

PREPARE STATISTICS ON THRIFT WEEK

Officials of the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices Thrift week was observed locally, have compiled a report which shows that a total of 39 1-7 pages or about six pages a day were devoted in the local newspapers to Thrift week publicity in a variety of ways.

According to the report 232 column inches or 1 5-7 pages of newspaper write-ups were given; there were 2,122 column inches or 14 1-2 pages of Thrift week advertising, and 3,122 1-2 column inches or 23 1-7 pages of general advertising built about the Thrift week idea and containing the words, "Thrift Week."

Reports on the observance of national Thrift week show that at least 622 of the leading cities of the country participated under the leadership of the Y. M. C. A. The governing body of 32 states and mayors of hundreds of cities, including South Bend, issued proclamations.

There was a tremendous amount of publicity let loose during national Thrift week and the few days preceding it. Newspaper publicity carried the Thrift message to millions of people. Newspaper articles, editorials and advertisements which have been sent to the national Thrift week committee from the 622 communities that observed this event total over 43,000 column inches. If these were put into one newspaper it would make up practically 256 solid pages.

MRS. ALICE BAKER IS GRANTED DIVORCE

The divorce action brought by Mrs. Alice E. Baker against William M. Baker, which has hung fire in the local courts for the past number of months was finally terminated Friday morning when Judge Slick sitting in the circuit court awarded Mrs. Baker a divorce, granted her the custody of the one minor child and ordered that she be paid the sum of $4,000 alimony. The taking of testimony was begun Tuesday morning and consumed the major portion of the court's time since that date.

In her original complaint Mrs. Baker charged cruel treatment. The defendant filed a cross complaint alleging cruelty and cited one instance when the plaintiff is alleged to have pursued the defendant through the streets of South Bend armed with a revolver and threatened to kill him. An answer in general denial followed and the suit was held up until the plaintiff, who is a patient at Healthwin hospital, suffering from tuberculosis was able to testify.

SHOE DEALERS HOLD MEETING

Stores Will Close Wednesday Afternoons During July and August.

South Bend shoe stores will close every Wednesday afternoon at 12 o'clock during the months of July and August, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the Shoe Dealers' division of the Commercial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

The new closing schedule will afford both employers and employees needed rest during the heat of the summer, according to opinions expressed at the meeting.

To further cooperation among shoe dealers and to promote good fellowship, it was decided to hold a social evening on the first Tuesday of every month. A luncheon will be served at 6:30 at the Oliver hotel and the meetings will be addressed by speakers familiar with the problems of shoe dealers. The first of the social affairs will be held on Tuesday, May 4.

About 20 shoe dealers attended the meeting Thursday night in the Chamber building. A short talk by Charles W. Wake, a representative of the White Star league, an organization for the purpose of furthering Americanization in the United States, was made on the need of Americanization in South Bend. The shoe dealers pledged their support in the observance of American day, which will be held on May 1. The program for the day includes talks, parades and exercises at the schools of the city.

Prohibit Automobile Accessories From Mails

Principal and accessory parts of automobiles are among the important items which are struck from the prohibited list for parcel post transmission to Great Britain and Ireland according to an announcement just received by post office authorities from the London office.

The entire list includes: principal and accessory parts of automobiles, motorcycles, and motor tricycles, except pneumatic tires, musical instruments, including gramophones, pianolas and other similar instruments and accessory parts of musical instruments, records, and other means of reproducing music, clocks, watches and the principal parts of clocks and watches.
