WILL WED SOON

MARTHA BILINSKI

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bilinski, 227 S. Chapin st., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Martha Bilinski, to Chester C. Reich, 612 Lincoln way W.

Miss Bilinski is one of the leaders of the younger set of the city, and is prominent in the activities of a number of young people's societies. She is a sister of Frank Bilinski, city clerk.

Both Miss Bilinski and Mr. Reich have been active participants in various social and charitable organizations. The date of the wedding has not yet been set.

The current events department of the Progress club held its regular meeting Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock in the club rooms. After the brief business session Mrs. E. M. Anders reviewed an anonymous article entitled "Boys" which appeared in the March number of the Atlantic Monthly. Mrs. M. B. Mather discussed "Americanization," the other side of the case," by John Kalamur, and Mrs. N. S. Lindquist talked on the subject, "Educating the Nation," by Frank E. Spaulding, all of which were taken from the Atlantic Monthly. The last meeting of the year will be held May 3.

Miss Mardelle Hildebrand, 923 Riverside dr., will entertain with a towel shower this evening as a courtesy to Miss Dorothy McCauley, whose marriage will take place Saturday, Wednesday afternoon Miss Marie Williams, 1033 Lincoln way W., will be hostess at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Robertson tea room and on Thursday evening Miss Ruth Czizian will entertain with a miscellaneous shower at her home, 805 N. Main st.

The Eastern Star auxiliary held its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the Masonic club rooms. Following the transaction of the usual business, the time was spent with needlework. Refreshments were served during the social hour to 65 members by the hostesses, Mrs. Clara Weaver, Mrs. Mae Ranger, Mrs. Anna Longfield and Mrs. Rose McLaughlin. The next meeting will be held at the same place May 3.

In honor of their 56th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bernhardt, 723 W. Wayne st., entertained with a family dinner at 6 o'clock Monday evening. Covers were laid for 16 at a table attractively centered with spring flowers. The evening was spent socially.

Mrs. Charles Krause, 1085 Woodward av., announces the engagement of her daughter, Rosa L. Krause, to Frank R. Whipple, of Jackson, Mich., son of Mrs. Lucius H. Whipple, of Duluth, Minn. The wedding will take place in June.

Thirty-five relatives, and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Caldwell at their home north of the city Friday evening, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mr. Caldwell. Games and music afforded entertainment during the early part of the evening. At 10:30 o'clock a pot luck supper was served at a table centered with a large birthday cake bearing 52 candles, other table appointments carried out a color scheme of pink and white. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, Donald Marvel, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scofield and son, Harold of St. Joseph, Mich.

Winifred Black Writes About: Mother's Advertisement

Notice is hereby given that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by John H. Snow, not specifically authorized by me, signed John A. Snow.

That's an advertisement that appeared in a nice flourishing newspaper the other day.

Right after it in the same paper and the same edition, and in the same column of the same page, appeared this interesting notice:

"If my husband, John Snow, has ceased to be a father to his son John H. Snow, he still has a mother, who will be glad to help him pay his bills. Signed Mrs. Emma P. Snow."

Now if there isn't a whole movie play in that, where is there one?

I wonder who's in the right of the thing—Mother or Dad?

Dad is taking the common-sense, business point of view, of course, or anyhow he thinks he is. He doesn't want Son to buy any more clothes than he actually needs just now, perhaps.

No "latest things in neckties" for Son—just because they are the latest things and just because the cutest girl in the world says that blue ties make his eyes look blue.

No gasoline charged to Dad—even if Son has to stop joy-riding for a while.

No reckless extravagance, no foolish waste of the money Dad has worked so hard to earn and tried so earnestly to save.

Which Would You Choose?

That sounds like everyday, common-sense, doesn't it? And then along comes Mother—and tips over the whole apple cart, greenings, Rome beauties, Northern Spies and all. For, of course, Dad wasn't thinking so much of the money as he was thinking of Son, and Son's training, and Son's habits, and Son's chance of getting on in the world, and, of course, if Mother is going to pay Son's bill for him, why—Son won't get any training, that's all!

Poor Mother—I wonder why she won't let Dad help her bring up her son to be a headstrong, straight-forward, practical man, and not the spoiled darling of an indulgent mother?

If you were going to marry Son, honest and truly now, girlie, which son would you rather he'd be—Dad's or Mother's?

Which do you think would be likely to make the better living for you? Which do you think would understand the value of money, and know how to make it and how to save it? Which do you believe would be the most unselfish, which do you think would remember you before he remembered himself?

Which one would have learned self-control and self-support before he took the responsibility of a wife on his hands?

I'm afraid I'd choose Dad's Son—and let Mother's Son stop right along down the street till he came to some other girl who hadn't had as much experience with widow's sons as I have.

Poor widows? Oh, yes, the son of a poor widow makes the best husband in the world and one of the best men.

He's had to work ever since he was old enough to lace up his own shoes and fight his own battles, and he began fighting them by the time he learned how to shut his fist with the thumb on the outside, and not to stand up too straight and give the other fellow too good a chance.

He's made his own way and earned his own living and made up his own mind when the son of the well-to-do family was still in the second year high, and hadn't made up his mind whether he wanted to be a lawyer or a doctor some day when he was tired of football and polo.

Also, he's taken care of his mother or helped to take care of her and that makes him understand women and be gentle with them and thoughtful.

Yes, the son of a poor widow is a good chance to take, girls.

Think Well, My Dears.

But the son of a rich widow—if you see one coming, run just as fast as you can and hide till he's gone. The chances are he'll be self-indulgent.

Clean Skirt Hems

Skirts soaked with Grandma are so clean that little or no rubbing is necessary, even around the hems.

The secret is that Grandma's is a wonderful Powdered Soap. Soak your clothes with Grandma's. The dirt comes out without boiling—without rubbing.

When the little soap particles are brought into contact with the water they are transformed into abundant suds which loosens up and washes away the dirt. No chipping nor slicing of bar soap necessary.

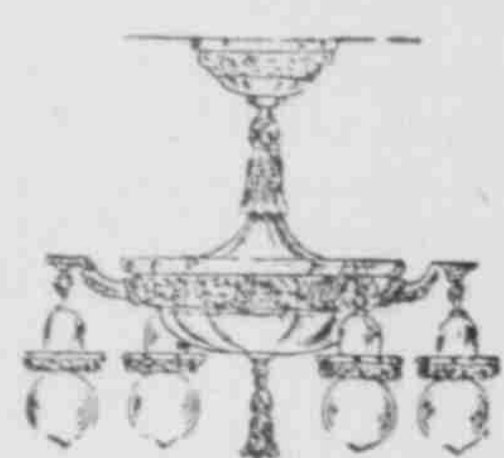

You cannot find another soap so economical to use as Grandma's.

A big, generous sized package for 5c.
