

STRIKERS AGAIN PICKETING JOBS

Both Laborers and Employers
Declare They Will Fight to Finish.

Encouraged by the laxity with which Mayor Carson's orders to the police department to prevent loyal laborers from molesting by strike pickets are being carried out, pickets from several unions who are on strike were again active Thursday on different contracting jobs. No arrests were made.

The two pickets arrested Wednesday, Elton Richter and F. Thomlinson, members of the common laborers' union, resumed their operations as pickets soon after their cases were dismissed in city court Thursday morning.

Two pickets circulated freely with the men employed by the H. G. Christman contracting company at Colfax av. and Lafayette blvd. They were not arrested.

According to officials of the Builders and Traders association, their efforts to get any of the men to quit their work were without avail.

Take No Action.
Both the Builders and Traders and the unions told The News-Times that they have taken no action on the arbitration proposal of Fred L. Feich, representative of the federal department of labor, and probably will not consider the government officer's settlement plan at all.

The secretary of the Builders and Traders said that they have made no answer to Mr. Feich's proposition, but that their answer would be what it always has been, that the contractors will hold out for an open shop even if all construction work in the city is stopped as a result of such action.

The union leaders are equally firm in their stand. They assert that very few men are going back to work, and that the unions will not give in until their demands are granted. The unions hope that about half their membership have gone to work in other cities, but will come back to South Bend when the present trouble has been adjusted.

URGES UNITED ACTION ON GOOD ROADS IN NORTHERN INDIANA

That it is necessary for those interested in good roads to take united action to secure any improvements this year in the northern part of the state, is the opinion of Milton Elrod, field secretary of the Hoosier State Automobile association, who is in South Bend in the interest of better highways. Mr. Elrod did the field work and organized the efforts that successfully secured last year the improvement of the Elkhart to Oscoda stretch on the Lincoln highway and cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce and other road organizations in securing the improvements of the Niles road.

Urges Improvement.
The state association secured a greater part of its proposed program in 1919, and this year is advocating and urging the improvement of the range line road from the St. Joe county line south, regardless of the fact that this will probably be one of the most expensive pieces of road to construct in Indiana.

According to Mr. Elrod, northern Indiana is entitled to first consideration on its road improvements because of the fact that the bulk of Indiana's wealth is harbored in the northern part of the state and state taxes are paid on greater valuation in northern Indiana than in southern section of the state. Furthermore under the older township unit plan the automobile vehicle tax went to the counties having the most improved roads, and St. Joe county has contributed for years past to the building of highways in central Indiana.

YOUTHS FINED AND SENTENCED FOR THEFT OF AUTOMOBILES

Theodore Lorenz and Noble Rhontseng who were arrested early this week were each fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 60 days on the penal farm for unlawful use of an automobile. The farm sentences were suspended upon payment of the fines. The youths were placed on parole for six months and are required to report at regular intervals to the probation officer, Herbert Troeger charged with a similar offense was discharged on account of a lack of evidence.

LOCAL FOLKS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Automobile Turns Turtle
Near Goshen. Driver 15
Years Old.

Special to The News-Times:
GOSHEN, April 22.—When a big touring car traveling at high speed skidded, upset and turned over on the Goshen road, about a mile north of New Paris, at 2:15 yesterday afternoon, the four South Bend occupants miraculously escaped death or serious injury. The injured were: Alden Davis, 15, driver of the car, jaw dislocated, left shoulder dislocated and numerous bruises.

Grace Gardner, 16, deep flesh wound near left knee, which severed an artery. Badly shaken and bruised.

Mrs. Grace Blodgett, mother of Miss Gardner, badly bruised about one eye and severely shocked.

Fred Etlene, friend of Davis, practically unharmed.

The victims of the accident were placed in a car driven by Frank Yoder, Goshen State bank cashier, who witnessed the accident, and who brought them to the hospital here, where they received treatment. All were expected to return home today. Davis is a son of George A. Davies, well known South Bend architect. The car, a new Studebaker touring model, costing about $2,000, was badly damaged. It was taken to the Hess garage at New Paris, where repairs are being made. A rear wheel, two fenders, the instrument board, top and windshield, were all smashed.

How It Happened.
Davis explained that he applied the emergency brakes when a tire came off the car and the upset followed. Witnesses say the car was going north at 45 to 50 miles an hour in front of the Ray Juday home, when the right wheels left the brick. In swinging back onto the road, the rear wheels skidded and the brakes were applied. The car went off the brick on the left side and a rear wheel caught in a rut and broke, where the driver attempted to turn back. The machine turned completely over and then on to one side. This fact, together with the raised top, probably saved the lives of the occupants, none of whom were caught under the machine.

The party had been on a trip to Lake Wawasee and were returning home when the mishap took place. Other Goshen people at the scene were Mrs. Joe Yoder, who was with her son, and Alty Anthony Deahl. Yoder's father-in-law, Aaron Miller, of Milford, also helped in the rescue work.

County Commissioners
Designate Polling Places
The new polling places made possible by the redistricting of the county, which was recently completed were formally designated by the county commissioners in special session at the courthouse Thursday afternoon. The addition of the new precincts and the changing of the boundaries necessitated the work of naming the new locations, which was delayed pending the settlement of minor details in connection with the redistricting.

The location of the ballot boxes in the rural districts outside the cities of South Bend and Mishawaka were definitely settled last week but the voting places in the twin cities were located and designated yesterday.

Fake Solicitor Works in City; Kline Knows Nothing
Another fake magazine solicitor is operating in South Bend without interference by the police department. The young man has been making a house-to-house canvass for subscriptions, with some success. He dresses in a khaki uniform and goes under the name of Manly.

Miss Gertrude J. Brown, manager of The Corset Shop, 130 S. Main st., has received several reports that Manly is representing himself as being her agent in the magazine work. Miss Brown told The News-Times last night that she has no agents working for her, and that she does not know Manly.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.
John E. Taylor has filed suit for divorce from Anna A. Taylor, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married Sept. 26, 1906, and separated in November, 1918.
