

REDPATH PEOPLE
OPEN CHAUTAUQUA
HERE AUGUST 17

Promise Program Equally as Fine as Those Given in Previous Years.

Aug. 17 has been announced as the tentative opening date of the Redpath chautauqua here this summer. A program equally as fine as any presented during the past 8 or 10 years in which South Bend has been included on the Redpath circuit is promised for patrons this year.

The chautauqua is brought here each year by the business men of the city, 50 of whom act as guarantors. All meetings in connection with the appearance of the chautauqua here will be held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Twenty-two Attractions Listed.

The advance program lists 22 attractions in the program, including them as nationally known entertainers. Ralph Parlette and Opie Read who are headliners have addressed the local Rotary club on a number of occasions. Mr. Parlette, lecturer, writer and editor of the Lyceum magazine, will speak on the last night on "Human Efficiency," and Mr. Read, noted novelist and writer, will give a fine lecture, "Human Nature and Politics" on the fourth night of the course.

Among the popular attractions will be the presentation of the complete production of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, "Pinafore," with special lighting and scene effects, on the fifth night, and the delightful American comedy, "Nothing but the Truth," on the sixth night.

Dr. Giesel Coming.
Among the lecturers who will appear during the course are Dr. Carolyn E. Giesel, known as "An Apostle of Health," who will lecture on "How to be Young at 70 or Old at 40"; Henry A. Adrian, known as "The Burbank Man," who tells of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard; Donald H. McCloskey, whose theme will be "Modern Unrest"; Hon. C. G. Jordan who lectures on the peace of the farm in modern life; and Dr. H. E. Rompel whose subject will be "Facing the Task," an address on the great topics of the day.

Five musical attractions will be presented during the week. The New York Opera Singers present light opera and standard opera selections, also concert selections. A mixed quartet and piano company this company. The Sibyl Sammis Singers are a vocal quartet organized by Sibyl Sammis MacDermid of Chicago and costumed sketches will be a feature of their program. The Emerson Williams company is composed of Emerson Williams, baritone, and Jean MacNeil, contralto. They delight with popular Scotch songs given in high style. The Young Vikings appear in native costumes and sing mountain songs of their native Switzerland. Louise Stallings, who will present a grand concert on the third night assisted by the Mendelssohn trio, is a lyric mezzo-soprano of unusual attainments.

V. S. Watkins, well known as a popular dramatic reader, will also be one of the attractions.
