ATTY. SAM PARKER PLEASES WOMEN IN ADDRESS ON LEAGUE

Good Attendance of Voters Hears Lucid Exposition of Covenant.

Atty. Samuel Parker, South Bend, last night addressed a well attended meeting of members of the local branch of the League of Women Voters in the public library and explained in detail the objects of the League of Nations. The question of its adoption or rejection, he said, was one of the most important in his opinion, that had come before the country since the adoption of the constitution.

No document had been so thoroughly misrepresented as the League of Nations covenant, he continued. After four years of the most brutal warfare the world ever saw, it was realized that something had to be done to prevent future wars. The question had arisen whether the League of Nations would accomplish this. All must agree that it was a step in the right direction, that something had to be done to minimize the horrors of war throughout the world with their accompanying devastation, misery and heartbreaks.

The main objection to the League, said the speaker, is that it is a Wilson League. With some people that was enough to condemn it, because it was endorsed by Mr. Wilson and did not come from the right source. If Mr. Hughes had been for it, everything would have been all right. Mr. Parker likened the League to a machine—a court to discuss, consider and decide the disputes and controversies of nations. It provided for the execution of such decisions which would obviate the necessity of going to war. If the countries involved disregarded the white slave traffic, throughout the world, its object was to suppress and prevent the traffic. This matter would come before the meeting of the League assembly Nov. 15, at which time the members would evolve plans and methods in furtherance of the prevention of the traffic.

The speaker exploded the republican argument that President Wilson is opposed to any alterations in the League. "This statement is not a fact," declared Atty. Parker, who said he was free to say that the president's idea is and always has been sufficiently specific and comprehensive on the subject, and needed no interpretive clauses.

U. S. Can Withdraw.

If the League was adopted the United States could withdraw providing it gave two years' notice and properly executed the duties required of the agreement. He held up to ridicule the republican argument that this country would be compelled to send its boys to fight in Europe. On the contrary, he said, the power to declare war was vested in congress. No other body could declare war. The objection was absurd.

Criticizing Mrs. Moore (Lillian Russell) for her misquoting article 23, he declared it was a distinct quotation. Instead of furthering the cause of peace, she was doing the world, its object was to suppress and prevent the traffic. This matter

After several years of notable work in support of numerous stage and screen stars, Douglas McLean has at last come into his own and has been elevated to stardom by Thomas H. Ince. He will appear with Doris May in the new Ince picture, "23 1/2 Hours' Leave," the attraction at the Lincoln theater today.

Dorothy Dalton, Enid Bennett, Mary Pickford and Alice Brady on the screen, and Maude Adams, Margaret Anglin and Marjorie Ralston on the stage are only a few of the luminaries opposite whom Mr. McLean has appeared during his career. His first stage work was with Maude Adams in a Barrie play called "Roseland," and he supported the same actress later in "Peter Pan." After an extensive experience in the legitimate he deserted with Miss May in six pictures, during the current season adapted from famous magazine stories.

TODAY'S TEMPLE PICTURE.

"Neglected Wives," which will be shown at the Temple theater today, is one of those problem plays guaranteed to hold the attention of its auditors from start to finish. The story is as follows:

With the prospect of candidacy for governor, Philip Pemberton finds little time to devote to his wife and child, Joe Horton, the opposing candidate anxious to get Pemberton out of the way, decides to "get" something on his wife since Pemberton's own life is so faultless. To this end Baroness DeVille and her husband are enlisted. Trickery and duplicity are generously used and just when success seems to have been achieved Horton and his aides find that Pemberton has the upper hand and, having been taught his lesson Pemberton finds he can be successful and yet find time to give his wife the little attentions she craves.

BRIDGE PARTY AT CLUB.

Railroad and Industrial Issues
Move in Opposite Directions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Railroad and industrial stocks moved in opposite directions again Wednesday, transportation, especially the speculative variety, denoting further accumulation while industrial and associated specialties were variable and hesitant. Call loans opened at eight percent, advanced to nine at midday and mounted to ten, the maximum rate for several weeks, just before the close.

This sensitive condition was attributed mainly to the withdrawal of $3,000,000 of government deposits and final preparations for Friday's payment of the Anglo-French loan of $500,000,000, the greater part of which, however, is believed to be in hand.

Price Reductions.

These influences were probably less unsettling than the trend of industrial conditions, most of which seemed indicative of an indefinite continuance of price reductions and curtailment of operations.

In shipping circles freight rates also were said to be in process of downward revision. Sales amounted to 525,000 shares. Some of the industrial bonds, including United States Steel, were heavy, but American Smelting and Refining, Liberties, were steady to firm, the international division evincing no marked trend. Total sales (par value) $17,200,000. Old U. S. bonds unchanged on call.

INTRODUCE MEASURE TO IMPROVE RAILWAYS

SANTIAGO, Oct. 13.—A bill has been introduced in the Chilean house of deputies in furtherance of the long discussed project to build a railway across the Andes connecting Salta, center of a rich agricultural region of northern Argentina with the Chilean port of Antofagasta. The bill provides that the contractors would receive a state guarantee of six percent of the actual cost of the railway for 15 years after it is opened. The cost is estimated at $15,000,000.

The Chilean newspapers commenting on the measure say the railway not only would serve as an outlet to the Pacific for products of northern Argentina such as sugar, but would open to exploitation rich mineral regions of north central Chile.

The only direct rail route now connecting the two republics is the trans-Andino from Los Andes, Chile, to Mendoza, Argentina.
