SAVED $40 BY CAREFULNESS

P. T. Allen, a Greencastle boy, Who Is Clerking in a Store at Gary, Indiana, Took Money From Cash Register of his Employer Because He Feared a Visit by Robbers.

BURGULARS MAKE A BIG HAUL

The dry goods store of Lewis Goodman between Sixth and Seventh Avenue, was entered and robbed Monday night of material including some costly silks, amounting to $1,000.

Judging from the tracks in the sand there were two men who gained entrance to the store through a rear window on the second story. Once in the second story they went to the first floor where they helped themselves. In tracing them this morning the police found several bolts of goods along the street.

P. T. Allen, a clerk in the store, who rooms upstairs with the Goodman family, went to the cash register that night and took out forty dollars to carry it upstairs for safe keeping. He remembered having heard a noise last night, but it was not distinct enough to have roused him out of bed.

OLD TIME FORCEPS.

When the Thing Was Turned Something Had to Give Way.

And speaking of teeth reminds me that the country doctor had to draw them when they ached. The dentist's artistry had not attained the elevated plane it occupies today, when everybody's mouth shines like the inside of a communion cup. I honestly believe the modern dentist has more different kinds of tools than even a sanitary plumber, and that's a whole lot when you come to count them up. The modern dentist hates the worst way to draw a tooth. Nevertheless if the modern dentist must draw the tooth he has a particular forceps for a particular tooth, and a cruel hearted and cold looking thing it is too. It puts you so in mind of a successful financier. When you brace yourself in the iron chair and take a tight grip on the arms of it and make up your mind you'll try to stand it and he gets that forceps well under the gum and—wait a minute; I feel so kind o' faint! Laws! Why didn't I mind my mother when she told me not to crack hickory nuts with my teeth? Well, anyway, you know he'll get the tooth out without doing more than take the whole top of your head off, and that only in a figurative sense.

Uncle Doc had one implement that did for every tooth, big and little, front and back. It wasn't a forceps; it was a turnkey. The real old folks know what that is and will say so with the cold chills running over them. But you've never seen one, and many a man that you would call old has never seen one. It's something like a canthook. The loosely riveted piece that curves slips over the tooth and catches on the inside; the solid cam bears on the outside gum; the operator turns the handle. Let's not talk about it. Something has got to give. Maybe the tooth will come out; maybe it will break off; maybe the jaw will fracture. All those are details. The main point is that if the operator twists the handle something has got to give, and that's all there is about it.—Eugene Wood in Success Magazine.

A GENTLE REPROACH.

Telling Retort of the Lamblike, Violet Eyed Beauty.

There is a certain young woman who is beautiful, with that childish, wistful, innocent looking, violet eyed beauty which reduces one-half the feminine world to tears, the other half to utterly helpless rage. We all know the type, but it is seldom given us to see it in such perfection. We usually associate it with a lamblike, appealing mentality that permits itself to be ridden upon—as soon expect a wood violet to turn and rend you.

A short time ago she was asked to a woman's luncheon and got herself up for the occasion in a way that made the result of her efforts a thing not easily forgotten. She arrived looking so lovely that there was little said among the guests for a few moments after her entry into the room. Perhaps she felt the silence. At all events, she turned to the woman standing nearest her and said in a childish voice, with ever such a little lip and pretty southern accent:

"How well you are lookin' today!" It was a well meant civility from a young woman to an older one, who seemingly was unable to accept it as such and put up her lorgnette, sweeping the speaker from top to toe. What she saw was enough to disconcert a younger and prettier woman than herself, but even so one finds it difficult to justify her next move.

"Wish I could say the same for you," she returned, closing her lorgnette with a snap.

One or two of the guests were friends of the pretty woman and almost stopped breathing in order not to miss what they felt sure would come—and it came. The pretty one raised her eyebrows slightly, then said, with an air of gentle reproach:

"Why don't you be like a lady, like I do?"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

What He Needed.

A sovereign would tempt many men, and when Pauline, making one purchase after another, saw one lying on the floor just by the counter he quivered with excitement.

Gauching around to reassure himself that none was looking, he quite accidentally dropped one of his kid gloves neatly on the coin and then dived. He got the glove all right, but still the sovereign remained.

A shopkeeper approached him. "Good morning, sir," said the man, rubbing his hands together in the approved style, "and may I show you a bottle of our celebrated liquid glue, which sticks?"

—London Mail.

The Cellar Stairs.

A man who once had a bad fall when going down his cellar stairs now has a broad strip of white painted on the floor at the end of the last step. This is easily seen, even if the cellar be dark, and many a nasty accident is avoided. If the house is rented and you do not like to paint the boards a piece of white oilcloth can be tacked to the floor at the foot of the stairs. See that the tacking is securely done or a worse fall may follow than from a misgauged step.—Philadelphia Press.

Dodged.

"I got my wife through advertising." "Then you'll admit that advertising pays?" "I'll admit that it brings results," was the cautious reply.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No man can be provident of his time who is not prudent in the choice of his company.—Jeremy Taylor.

QUIET ON ELECTION DAY

Balloting in Greencastle and Putnam County Went Off in a Smooth Manner and There Was No Trouble of Any Consequence to Mar the Peacefulness at the Several Voting Places.

MANY CHALLENGES WERE MADE

The election in Greencastle and Putnam County went off in a quiet way. The day was not marred by any trouble of importance at the polling places. In fact the day was exceedingly quiet for a national election day.

There was much challenging in the several precincts and the votes of several were refused by the inspectors. These were in cases where the men who attempted to vote were not legal voters.

What the Greatest Trust Company in Indiana is Doing for the Farmers

The Indiana Trust Co. is the oldest and largest Trust Co. Savings Bank in the state. It has a capital of $1,425,000.00, resources of over $7,500,000.00, and is the Repository of the State and County Funds. This big, strong bank is the great central banking house of Indiana farmers. So extensive is its business with country customers that it maintains a which gives to farmers throughout the state the same banking privileges enjoyed by manufacturers and merchants. The secret of its great success is a simple plan of BANKING BY MAIL. This plan makes it easy for farmers to deposit or draw out money without leaving home. The Indiana Trust Co. 3% interest on time deposits or savings — "The Safe Rate." If you have money lying idle, you are losing interest money every day. The experiences of some of the bank's customers is interesting.

Interest Would Have Clothed Two for Three Years

One farmer, in making a $2,000 deposit, said: "This $2,000 has been lying idle for THREE YEARS. I'm mighty sorry I didn't deposit it here long ago, as it would have earned $600 per year—or $180.00—enough to have clothed my wife and I for three winters!"

Interest Would Have Paid for Handsome Span of Horses

Another farmer, who deposited $4,000, said: "This money has been lying idle for three years. I regret that my attention was not called to your institution sooner." No wonder—for in that three years the $4,000 would have earned $360, which would have purchased a handsome span of horses!

An Education in Thrift

The Indiana Trust Co. encourages young folks on farms to save money. One dollar is enough to start an account. "Money saved is money earned"—and when small sums are deposited instead of being spent foolishly, they really earn 100 per cent. Few people realize that $3.00 a month (18 cents a day), with interest at 3%, amounts to $33.77 in 5 years, or $39.44 (practically $40) in 10 years. Put your savings, large or small, in the Indiana Trust Co., and see them GROW!
