THE DRUG FIEND.

Hasheesh Makes Its Slave Utterly Useless For Any Service.

One of the drugs that are most striking in their effects is hasheesh, or Cannabis indica, largely taken in Asiatic countries, where I used myself to meet its votaries. Its chief peculiarity is to make one believe with all his might whatever is suggested to him.

If he is an Arab, tell him that he is a sultan, and straightaway he orders heads to be cut off. Tell him he is a rooster, and he will crow. I knew of two Americans who experimented on themselves, and when the first was told that he was like a locomotive he snorted and whistled and kept going round the table putting and blowing until he dropped from sheer fatigue.

The other somehow conceived the idea that he was dead and forthwith gave elaborate directions for his own funeral till he waxed wroth at the unseemly mirth of his companions when they should have wept.

Hasheesh makes its slave utterly useless for any service, and so with the other drugs. Their victims one and all end in becoming do-nothings. Self made do-nothings, or those who are so by drug taking, are much worse than useless.

As they usually do not begin till as adults they reach the working period of life, they become wretched burdens on the real workers, since our social system lacks any constitutional enactment whereby, as occurs in a community of bees, the workers systematically put their drones to death.

The opium fiend from long living in an unreal world becomes transformed into the most all round liar in the land, the very embodiment of untruth. One of them victimized me with a loan that he might go and close the eyes of his dying mother when her eyes needed no such closing for years afterward.

Another sent from a western city to his wife a telegram which purported to come from an undertaker demanding money to pay for shipping his body home. This money, when it came, he, and unfortunately no undertaker, pocketed and then went his way.

We all know what the confirmed drunkard becomes, but not till the judgment day will the whole story be known of the griefs and tears of the innocent ones whom the drunkard made to suffer while he was here.—Everybody's Magazine.

AVERTED A TRAGEDY.

Nerve Displayed by Daniel O'Connell at a Critical Moment.

Daniel O'Connell, the famous Irish agitator, had a contempt for physical danger. On a certain occasion a meeting had been convened, and a large crowd assembled in a room on the first floor of a building in a small city in Ireland.

O'Connell was about to address the people when a gentleman, pale with fear, made his way to the platform and hoarsely whispered:

"Liberator, the door is giving way! The beams that shore it up are cracking, and we shall fall through in a few minutes!"

"Keep silent," said O'Connell. Then, raising his voice, he addressed the assembly:

"I find that the room is too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must leave it and hold the meeting outside the building."

At this a few rose and went out, but the majority retained their seats. Then O'Connell said:

"I will tell you the truth. You are Irishmen, therefore brave men. The door is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be saved. Let the twelve men nearest the door go quietly out, then the next twelve, and so on till all have gone. I shall be the last to leave."

His instructions were obeyed to the letter, and he waited, patient and calm, till all had gone out in safety. Then he walked quietly across the sundering, cracking floor, reaching the door just as the shattered beams gave way. And thus, by the force of his strong will, a terrible accident was averted.

His Glorious Victory.

The commanding officer had surprised the young lieutenant and his daughter trying to occupy the same chair.

The lieutenant sprang to his feet and saluted.

"Sir," he said, "I have the honor to report an engagement at close quarters in which I have been entirely victorious. It now merely remains for you to give your sanction to the terms of surrender."—London Scraps.

Influence of Pluck.

The blindest, the most purely instinctive, effort of mere pluck has a lifting power and deserves our thankful admiration. Every degree and every form of courage tends to raise the whole tone of life within the range of its influence in proportion to the amount and the quality of the endurance exercised.—Hilbert Journal.

His Phenomenal Luck.

"You say he is lucky?"
"You bet."

"In what does his luck consist?"
"Marriage, you see, is his hobby."

"Well?"
"Every woman he marries gets a divorce."

PUT UP NEW POWER HOUSE

Interurban Established New Machines at Gorton's Crossing Near Reelsville to Generate Power for The Steep Grade There.

WILL BE COMPLETED NEW YEAR

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction Company is installing a new dynamo and power plant at the Gorton crossing, known as Stop 37, near Reelsville. The structure which will house the machine is already well under way, and it is expected that the building will be completed by Christmas day and that the machinery will be in operation by New Year's.

The high tension wire which heretofore, has extended no further than Greencastle, has been carried on through and all is in readiness to connect to the machine as soon as it is placed. The new power house has been made necessary by the fact that the power has been found insufficient to carry the cars over the grades in Washington township, and especially in winter when the tracks are slippery.

Only one dynamo will be placed now, as it is believed that this will furnish sufficient power for the present needs of the line.

OBITUARY

James Anderson Ingram.

James Anderson Ingram, son of Anna and Aaron Ingram, was born February 18, 1824, near Knoxville, Tenn. He had one brother, Robert, and six sisters, Mrs. Teresa Walden, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, Mrs. Mary McMurry, Mrs. Drucilla Clark, Mrs. Nancy Stone and Mrs. Malinda Chamberlain. They are all deceased with the exception of one sister, Mrs. Mary McMurry, aged 87, who resides at McPherson, Kansas. When a small boy of ten years, March 10, 1834, the entire family started to Indiana. They came in a covered wagon, the journey consuming one month. When they reached their destination, they entered and purchased a farm near Putnamville which has been the Ingram homestead for about seventy-five years. The country was new then and each child and grandchild has listened eagerly many times to the relating of the hardships and privations that this family endured in getting their home established. In his 18th year, 1842, he united with the Presbyterian church at Putnamville during the ministry of Rev. Ransom Hawley. He was a faithful member and was elected elder March 23, 1861, and faithfully served in this office during the remainder of his life. In 1864 he was married to Rosana B. Chamberlain. To this union were born four children: James Leroy Ingram of Dennison, Ill.; Mrs. Ella Williams of Greencastle; Mrs. Rosa Stockwell of Putnamville and Miss Anjannette Ingram, deceased. In the home Uncle Jim, as he was familiarly called, was a kind, loving and indulgent father and a very devoted husband. We all felt so sorry for grandpa when grandma was called home about two years ago, and know that he has been very lonesome without her. His true, honest and exemplary life has won for him a host of friends. Everyone was always glad to shake hands with Uncle Jim and he in return welcomed all acquaintances with that cordial manner, which showed that he was truly glad to see them. He was a great favorite with all his grandchildren and they will sadly miss his gentle voice and smiling face, but with all, are comforted with the assurance he left, that he has entered into that rest that remaineth for the people of God.

At this a few rose and went out, but the majority retained their seats. Then O'Connell said:

"I will tell you the truth. You are Irishmen, therefore brave men. The door is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be saved. "Liberator, the door is giving way! The beams that shore it up are cracking, and we shall fall through in a few minutes!"

"I find that the room is too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must leave it and hold the meeting outside the building."

Fred Thompson.

Fred Thompson, son of Elkanah and Sarah Thompson, was born April 7, 1884, died December 2, 1908; aged 24 years, 7 months and 25 days. He leaves of the immediate family a grandmother, father, mother, one sister Maud, one brother Ernest, and one niece Mary Ellowene to mourn his departure.

A loved one from us in gone. How consoling as well as truthful that it can be said to these sorrowing ones, that they can look up to Him who doeth all things well, and feel that in Him is knowledge and power, truth and justice, mercy and love, that to them we can say of a truth we realize that he is in the hands of a just God, who doeth all things well, and when the clouds are rolled back and the mists cleared away we may see things as they are, not as they seem. His mother says while a boy and in Sunday School, his favorite passage of Scripture was the first verses of John 14:

"In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

"And if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again, and receive you unto Myself, that where I am there ye may be also."

Real truth was expressed in one stanza of poetry by Whittier once inscribed on a sun dial:

"With warning hand I mark time's rapid flight."

From life's glad morning to its solemn night.

Yet through the dear God's love, I also show

There's light above me by the shade below."

The funeral services were held at his home in Roachdale Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. D. Hedrick of Indianapolis. His remains were laid to rest in the Lebanon Cemetery.
