

G. C. MOORE IS CALLED BY DEATH

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF GREENCASTLE DIES AT NEAR 2 O'CLOCK SATURDAY MORNING FOLLOWING LONG ILLNESS.

FUNERAL MONDAY MORNING

Granville C. Moore died at his home, 307 West Washington street, at 2 o'clock Saturday morning of uramic poisoning following Bright's disease. His illness had continued throughout the greater part of two years. During part of this time, after the first severe attack on December 11, 1909, Mr. Moore had recovered to such an extent that he was able to drive about the city. Two weeks ago, however, a decline began from which he was unable to rally.

Mr. Moore was among the oldest residents of Putnam county. He was brought to Indiana by his parents, Thomas A. Moore and Elizabeth Nugent Moore, from his birthplace in Hawkins county Tenn., in 1833. He is survived by his widow and three children, Miles F. Moore, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Eugene Hawkins and Charles T. Moore of Greencastle. Four sisters and three brothers also are living. These are Mrs. Harriett G. Willis, of Woodbine, Ia., the Rev. James V. Moore, of Wichita, Kas.; L. F. Moore, of Putnamville; Misses Jennie A. Moore, Theresa L. Moore and Carrie Moore, who still live on the home farm southeast of Greencastle, and Thomas T. Moore.

Without having been in public life to any extent, Mr. Moore was well known and had a wide acquaintance throughout the State and the Middle West. Probably his greatest service to the people of Indiana was as chief clerk in the office of the superintendent of public instruction during the administration of Miles Fletcher, Geo. W. Hoss and Barnabas Hobbs from 1861 to 1869. In that capacity he devised the system of accounting that, with only slight modifications, is still in use in that office, and also originated the system of recording the business of the department. In the interval between the death of Prof. Fletcher and the appointment of Prof. Hoss to fill out the term Mr. Moore was a deputy collector of the United States internal revenue for this district during part of the most stirring and dangerous period of the Civil War when the Knights of the Golden Circle were most active in this and adjoining counties. He was at different times a member of the city council of Greencastle and was a member of the school board and of its building committee at the time of the erection of the Third Ward, or High School building.

From 1885 until 1898 he was a member of the Board of Trustees and the executive committee of that body of DePauw University. While the department of law of the university was in existence he was a member of the faculty, lecturing on real property and kindred subjects. Though he never completed the required work for graduation from Asbury college, now DePauw, Mr. Moore's scholarship was recognized by the faculty who, in 1879, conferred on him the degree of Master of Arts as a member of the class of 1858.

In his early manhood Mr. Moore studied medicine but within a few months of the completion of his reading circumstances prevented his taking up the practice and he health compelled him to return from Indianapolis to Greencastle where he became a partner with his brother, Marshall A. Moore in the practice of law. This partnership continued until the death of the elder brother in 1893 and shortly afterward he admitted his younger brother ex-Senator T. T. Moore to the partnership, making the firm name of Moore Brothers practically continuous at the Putnam county bar for forty years.

Mr. Moore was born May 4, 1833, being in his seventy-ninth year at the time of his death. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist church and of the Locust street congregation during his residence in Greencastle. He also was a member of the Masonic and Phi Delta Theta fraternities. In 1863 he was married to Miss Lydia Katherine Hubbard, his childhood companion and sweetheart, with whom he found a life of ideal marital happiness.

Among those who knew him Mr. Moore was considered an authority on all matters relating to the history of Putnam county and its people. His memory was all comprehensive and minutely accurate. Many times he was able to supply important details of family history unknown to the members of the families themselves, or to bridge mortal defects in land titles of great value.

Funeral services were held at the Locust St church Monday morning at 10 o'clock by the Dr. Rev. Albert Hurlstone, of Indianapolis, formerly pastor of the Locust Street church here, the Rev. Dr. Hilary A. Gobin, and the Rev. Bert D. Beck, pastor of Locust Street church. The burial was in Forest Hill cemetery.

QUICK DEATH FROM POISON

TWO-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF MR. BROWN AND WIFE, OF LA-DOGA, DRANK POISON ACCIDENTALLY.

DIED IN LESS THAN HOUR

The Ladoga Leader gives an account of the accidental poisoning of the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brown of that town. Mrs. Brown is a sister of Mr. O. H. Bowen of the Commercial hotel, and in past years was a frequent visitor to Greencastle relatives. Mr. Bowen and wife and daughter went to Ladoga Saturday to attend the funeral. The Leader of Friday gives the following in regard to the child's death:

About one o'clock Thursday afternoon, Martha Irene, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brown swallowed a portion of the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid and wood alcohol. Her cries aroused the attention of her mother who ran to the child and then called Mr. Brown whose place of business is but one square from their home. He called two physicians who arrived within ten minutes after the child had taken the poison and did all that could be done, but their efforts were useless and the little girl died in less than thirty minutes.

Dorman, the eight-year-old brother of Martha Irene, had been sent to the medicine chest, upstairs, to take some medicine for his cold. His little sister was with him. Dorman took the medicine and closed the door of the chest, then went into another room to get a book. While he was gone Martha Irene climbed upon a dresser from which she could reach the medicine chest and got the bottle of poison.

Dorman heard her cry and ran to her. He saw her frothing at the mouth and holding the bottle and thought she had taken hydrogen of peroxide. He called his mother who carried the baby down stairs and summoned help.

Martha Irene was an unusually bright and attractive child and was a general favorite. The shock caused by this sudden death not only prostrated the parents but cast a dark shadow of deepest gloom over the entire community.

WHEAT LECTURES HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

FAIR-SIZED CROWD HERE TO HEAR PURDUE UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS TELL HOW TO GROW MORE AND BETTER GRAIN.

HOW TO PRODUCE MORE

The farmers and those interested in wheat growing, who attended the "wheat lectures" in the assembly room of the court house Friday night, were more than repaid for their trip. The lectures were under the auspices of the Agricultural Department of Purdue University, and the Big Four railroad. A fair-sized crowd, numbering about two-hundred and fifty, were present. The inclement weather and the bad condition of the roads no doubt prevented many persons from attending.

The lecture train has been out since last Monday morning. Friday lectures were given at Union City, Winchester, Farmland, Muncie, Ingalls, McCords, Avon, Danville, Reno and this city. From here, the party went to Indianapolis. The object of the lectures is to help the farmer grow more and better wheat. The lecturers and Big Four representatives who were Friday night were: Professor M. L. Fisher, Professor G. I. Christie, Professor T. P. Prigg, of Purdue; John C. Emig, industrial agent on the Big Four; C. R. Lewis, freight agent; R. C. Poorman, traveling engineer and Professor E. C. Martindale, and Professor T. A. Coleman. The following is the substance of the lectures given here Friday evening:

On opening the subject the speaker called attention to the fact that the average yield of wheat in Indiana for the last ten years was 15.1 bushels per acre. During this same period it was found that the yield of wheat in Great Britain was 33 bushels per acre and Germany, 28.4 bushels per acre. Upon investigation it was found that the conditions in these older countries were no better for wheat growing than those in Indiana. Also, that less than fifty years ago, the yield of Great Britain and Germany was down to about that point where our own is today. The Experiment Station believes that by employing good methods of cultivation, better crop rotation, better fertilization of the soil and systematic effort in the combating diseases and insects that the yield of wheat in Indiana can be materially increased.

Wheat Responds to Fertilization.

By means of a large chart, the speaker gave the results of a large number of tests of fertilization of wheat. In every case a large increase resulted. It was also shown that this increase was very profitable. In Scott county on land where untreated, gave a yield of four bushels per acre, the Purdue people got 31 bushels per acre when $3.60 worth of fertilizer was applied. The average for all tests in the state show an increase of 1.8 bushels per acre where fertilizers were used. It is recommended that applications of 150 to 100 pounds of fertilizer, containing 2 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphoric acid and 4 per cent potash be applied to each acre. This can be secured of almost any fertilizer company.

How to Control the Hessian Fly.

In Indiana it is found that a large amount of wheat has been affected with stinking smut. This causes a decrease in the yield and by its presence makes wheat of less value to the miller. Wheat containing stinking smut, is therefore, discriminating against by grain men and millers. Up to this time only one method of control has been found. Procure at the drug store, one pint of Formalin; mix this with 50 gallons of water; spread out the wheat on a floor of canvass and sprinkle with this solution; shovel the wheat over repeatedly to distribute the moisture evenly. About one gallon of this solution is required for each two bushels of wheat; shovel the whole into a pile and cover with canvass or sacks; allow this to stand for two hours; after this, spread in a thin layer and allow to dry. The seed may be sown at once or stored.

Late Sowing Helps Much.

Each year farmers experience great losses from the Hessian fly. The adult insect appears about Aug. 20, to Sept. 15th, and proceeds to deposit eggs. If young wheat plants are present, the fly deposits eggs on these and injury results. If there are no wheat plants the fly deposits its little eggs on grasses or other small plants and little injury is done. It is advisable, therefore, that farmers delay the sowing of wheat until after the fly has appeared and deposited its eggs. In this way a large share of the loss will be avoided. When discussing insects, the speaker also mentioned the Wheat Worm and the Wheat Stem Maggot, which are causing loss in some sections of the State.

The speaker also discussed varieties of wheat suited to the locality and the best cultural methods. In the short time allowed for the talk it was only possible to touch on some of the more important facts of wheat growing but it was thought by the farmers that many good suggestions and pointers were given.

CLOVERDALE PEOPLE HERE FOR CIRCUS.

Monon Has Extra Coaches and Train Is Crowded Bringing Persons to This City Tuesday Morning

While all of the nearby towns seemed to have sent a good-sized delegation of people here Tuesday to attend the circus, Cloverdale probably heads the list. The morning train on the Monon had extra coaches and all of the cars were crowded. Besides those who came on the train a number drove up in automobiles and buggies. County Auditor Moffett, who lives in Cloverdale, stated Tuesday morning that almost all of the inhabitants of the town come here this morning. Fillmore, Bainbridge, Roachdale, and Reelsville also sent good delegations.

IS KILLED BY BIG FOUR TRAIN

THE BODY OF F. V. CARMICHAEL OF HARRODSBURG, FOUND ON RAILROAD RIGHT-OF-WAY, ABOUT FOUR MILES WEST OF THIS CITY SUNDAY MORNING.

MYSTERY ABOUT THE MATTER

The body of F. V. Carmichael, age 43, of Harrodsburg, was found on the Big Four right-of-way, about four miles west of this city, at near 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The body was brought to Lynch's undertaking establishment. An undertaker from Harrodsburg came Monday morning and took the body to that city. The dead man is survived by a widow and three children. The body bore evidence of being struck by a train. One leg was broken, the other dislocated at the knee and most of his ribs broken loose from the spinal column.

The undertaker from Harrodsburg stated Monday morning that Carmichael in company with two other men, left Harrodsburg Saturday night on a Monon train for Chicago. It is said that all three had been drinking. It is supposed that Carmichael left the excursion train, when it arrived at the local station, and wandered west on the Big Four tracks. The two men who were with Carmichael have not yet been located.

Carmichael's body was found at the big cut on the Big Four tracks by a track walker. From the position in which the body was lying, it is believed that Carmichael was struck by a west-bound train. However, which train struck him is not known. Upon finding the body, the track walker notified Coroner Gillespie, who is investigating the matter. Means of identification were found in the dead man's clothes, but there was no money. It is known that he had but little money when he left Harrodsburg and it is supposed that he had spent this at Bloomington, where, it is said, that he and his companions had left the train to purchase liquor.

There are several incidents in connection with the finding of the body of the man that hint of mystery. It was rumored Sunday that the man had met foul play. A wound was found in his left side, which looked as if it might have been made by a knife. However, Charles Mecum, undertaker at the Lynch establishment, stated Monday morning that the wound was several weeks old. It was partially healed. How the man, who is supposed to have been intoxicated, got across the several bridges on the Big Four between here and the place where he was found, without falling off, seems mysterious. As yet, Coroner Gillespie has made no finding in the case.

EMPLOYERS MUST PAY LICENSE FEE OF $1.

Local employers have until September 1 to comply with the act of the 1911 legislature requiring the licensing of every person, firm or corporation operating any business regularly employing five or more persons. Only a small number of the employers of the state, about one-thousand three-hundred, have paid the $1 fee for a license. The state bureau of inspection has estimated that between seventy-five thousand and one-hundred-thousand employers come within the provisions of the act. As there will be many thousands of licenses to be issued between this time and the middle of September, the bureau is expecting there will be considerable hustling in getting out licenses, when the rush begins. A penalty of $25 is imposed for failure to obtain license.

Just a Quiet Little Mill.

The only circus day fight reported to the police was one which occurred on the corner of Vine and Walnut street, about 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night. This was such a well-conducted little affair that it would not have been right to interrupt it, so the police were not called. The fight, it is said, was between an employee of the circus and a young man who lives in the south part of town. According to the story of onlookers, the circus employee made some remark about a young woman who was in company with the young man who lives in south Greencastle.

Then's when the trouble commenced. The Greencastle man took exception to the remark and the two decided to fight. Both very quietly and without words took off his coat and then they proceeded to fight. Each succeeded in landing several blows on the other, but before the end the Greencastle man had a shade the better of the fight. Fearing the intervention of the police, one of the combatants advised the other that they had better stop. They then agreed to stop and each, without malice, went his way.

CHECK FORGER IS SENT TO PRISON

FRANK FIRESTONE, WHO SWINDLED THE MODEL CLOTHING CO., AND RICKETTS JEWELRY STORE, PLEADS GUILTY TO SIMILAR CHARGE IN ROCKVILLE.

HE GETS 2 TO 14 YEARS

ROCKVILLE, Ind., Aug. 29.—Frank Firestone, 23, charged with forgery, on being arraigned yesterday entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced by Judge Altman to the Indiana reformatory for a period of not less than two years nor more than fourteen.

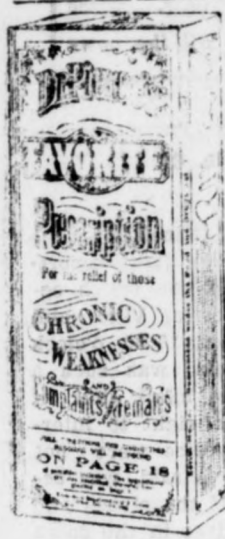

It is recalled that Firestone forged three checks on Howard Stark, a prominent farmer of this county, and succeeded in passing two of them. When he presented a third one at the Rockville National bank he was detected. On arraignment before "Squire" Bryant he entered a plea of guilty and was bound over to the Parke circuit court.

The Parke county circuit court convened yesterday after the summer vacation with a full docket. Judge Barton presiding. There is a number of important cases to be tried at this term. Owing to the absence of Attorney J. S. McFaddin, who is at a health resort in Michigan, and who is retained as counsel, a number of the more important cases will not be set until late in the term.

It will be remembered that Firestone cashed two worthless checks in Greencastle, also. The Model Clothing store and Ricketts Jewelry store were the victims of the young man's operations. After his experience here he went to Rockville and was arrested there. The two checks forged here were signed "John Wysong." Mr. Wysong, who is a prominent farmer, living north of Greencastle, pronounced the checks as forgeries. Firestone had lived in the north part of Putnam county and in Parke county for many years and was well acquainted with many of the farmers living in those sections of each county. It is probable that he will be arrested, as soon as he is released from prison, by a Putnam county officer and brought here to face the charge of passing the worthless checks in Greencastle.

Taken For a Squirrel.

Fred Gibson and a young man by the name of Lee were squirrel hunting in Parke county near the Putnam county line last, when Lee climbed a tree to look for squirrels. When near the top he threw his arm around the tree to keep from falling, and Gibson, being some distance away took the arm for a squirrel and blazed away. Several shots were imbedded in the young man's arm, and a physician was called to extract the lead.—Brazil Times.

Their daughter, Miss Julia Shubrick who is now in Indianapolis, will enter DePauw this fall. Professor and Mrs. Longdon and son will leave a week from Wednesday for a year's stay in Germany. They sail on September 9.

Winter Craig, wife and daughter are visiting his brother, at Indianapolis, prior to leaving for Guilford, N. C., where Miss Craig is teaching music in the college.

Albert Hamrick is home from the West.

Four births have been reported and this county's population is swelled by that number. Mr. and Mrs. L. Brant, who live just southeast of town, are the parents of a daughter, born Sunday; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ash of this city were presented with a daughter Monday morning; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bunton, who live near Elmore, are the proud parents of a son, whose birthday was Sunday, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Edmondson, of this city, are parents of a "spanking baby boy", born Sunday.

ALL DRUGGISTS

ALL DECLARE IT GREAT INSTITUTE

TEACHERS AND VISITORS UNITE
IN HOLDING PRESENT SESSION
THE EQUAL OF ANY EVER HELD.

COURT ROOM TOO SMALL

It is now time to judge, comparatively, the merits of the present teachers' institute. All, teachers and visitors, unite in declaring that it is one of the best ever held. The interest and enthusiasm have been of the best throughout. The music has been of a high order and the lectures of Dr. Moran have attracted wide attention. His series of talks upon the characters of the presidents is spoken of as one of the most interesting series ever given here. The literature work under Senator Tilden has also been successful.

The rain Thursday morning did not in any way dampen the enthusiasm. The teachers were on hand and the work started with the usual vim. Wednesday afternoon was memorable for many things. It was at this time that Mr. Maxwell made his first attempt to organize a male chorus and the results secured in the few moments work were remarkable. There were other musical features, among them being the playing of a duet by the two little sons of Mr. Maxwell. Miss Marquis, who had charmed all with a violin solo in the morning, was urged to play again in the afternoon, but her violin was not in condition, the strings having been affected by the dampness.

Senator Tilden's talks in the afternoon were upon American authors. In the first he contrasted Longfellow and Whittier and in the second spoke of Lowell and made a study of the "Vision of Sir Launfal."

Dr. Moran discussed the presidents from Lincoln to Taft. He declared that Cleveland was the greatest president of the period, and brought out strongly the characteristics of Garfield, Hayes and Harrison. Of the Indian he said that his campaign speeches were among the best ever delivered and marked him as a man of unusual ability. Harrison, the speaker believed, would rank higher and higher as the years passed.

Dr. Moran was unusually happy in referring to Roosevelt and Taft. He declared that it was not yet time to say the last word in regard to Mr. Roosevelt. He was still very much alive, and showed unusual recuperative powers. One could only wait and see. Of Taft he remarked that he had been two men, one man the first year and an altogether different man during the special session of Congress. Dr. Moran has been so eminently fair in the treatment of all the presidents that many guesses have been made as to his politics.

T. C. Grooms, who has been a rather regular visitor at the sessions, Wednesday presented a basket of fruit to the musicians and instructors which was much appreciated and was eaten with relish at one of the rest periods.

The first period after the music Thursday morning was used by Attorney Murphy, of Greencastle, who spoke to the teachers upon the nature of the profession of teaching. Mr. Murphy pointed out that teaching was one of the most important professions in the whole list, that upon efficient teaching depended not only the status of the individuals of the future, but also the status of society. His talk was illustrated with numerous concrete examples.

Dr. Moran spoke next upon the Constitutional Convention. He dwelt upon the necessity of teaching government along with history, and made this very clear by his unusually delightful discussion of the work the constitution of this country. It was one of the ablest as well as one of the most interesting talks ever given here.

The last period was taken by Professor Tilden, who spoke upon "Sorrow and Suffering as Sources of Power in Art." He used Tennyson as an illustration, and pointed out that the great sorrow that came into Tennyson's life at the time of the death of Hallam and loss of his own faith, changed the whole trend of his poetry and made it stronger and more helpful in its relation to faith and hope.

MUSIC FEATURE OF LAST DAY

The last day of the Putnam County Teachers' Institute for 1911 opened cloudy and cool, an ideal day for work. It is no disparagement of the work of the institute to say that the teachers welcomed the end. To sit through six lectures a day and take part in an hour or two of work in music each day is no snap, and the end of the strenuous week has found the teachers rather tired, though all agree that the work has been excellent.

Thursday afternoon there were a number of specialties on the musical program. Miss Marquis played "another of her violin solos, much to the delight of all present. The men's chorus again made a hit with a few minutes work. The singing of these gentlemen, considering that they had but five or ten minutes for work, was remarkable. The Misses Metzger, of Fillmore, sang several duets, and they were warmly applauded. Mr. Maxwell sang Riley's "There Little Girl Don't Cry," in a masterly way. Altogether the music was the best of any session of the institute.

Dr. Moran continued his enlightening talks upon the manner in which our country secured its constitution. He spoke of the part played in the adoption of the instrument by the great men of the different states. He called special attention to the work of Hamilton, Franklin, and Washington for the constitution and other men against it. He pointed out that most of the objections were due to the great fear of one man power from which they had just escaped. Altogether the talks upon the constitution have been the most enlightening of any lectures heard here in a long time.

Professor Tilden devoted his period to a discussion of "Sorrow as a Source of Beauty," using Keats as an illustration.

It remained, however, for the last day to bring out fully the broad scope of Dr. Moran's teaching. In his series of talks upon the duties of citizenship, he made statements that should have been heard by every voter in the county. Dr. Moran is more than usually conversant with the inside of politics. He thoroughly believes, however, that politics can be no better than the masses of the citizens who by their votes make politics possible. He showed in his talks on Friday morning, the essential weakness in all our government from the nation to the township, the forgetfulness of the general good in the contemplation of personal and selfish interests. From the tariff to local option, from the public building to the latest naval monstrosity, he showed that the whole matter of indecent public expense, public graft and public carelessness of general economic truths was based in individual cupidity and local selfishness. The officer could not, except in rare cases be better than the average of the community that continually brought pressure to bear to secure various personal and selfish ends.

Professor Tilden spoke of the novel as a form, and illustrated from the work of Victor Hugo, calling attention to the titanic characters created and to the optimism of the entire attitude toward life, evil though the lives portrayed were. Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment cures the most obstinate cases. Why suffer. All druggists sell it.

To Be or Not to Be. It was rumored on the streets on Friday afternoon that all openings, leading to cellar ways and windows, are to be closed up. Whether it is so or not, is not known. The council some time ago, referred the matter to the committee on public works, consisting of Councilmen Bittles, Dodd and Leutke, with Mr. Bittles chairman, to take some action on the matter. However, as yet, there has been no action taken and it is a mystery when some action will be taken. The council seems to be dodging the matter. In the contract with the Madison Construction Company, the specifications say that all obstructions shall be torn out. However, the councilmen, in caucus, agreed to be lenient with owners of property on which are the openings and stairways and to let them stay, providing that the necessary protection for the public is seen to. Since that it seems that one or two of the councilmen have deserted the others and now want all of the area ways filled up or covering put over them and all of the stairways leading down onto the sidewalk, torn out. What the outcome of the matter will be is still a guess.

VACATION TIME IS NEARING END

SCHOOL CHILDREN PLANNING TO GET BACK TO STUDIES IN THE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS—
HOW THE YOUNG FOLKS
RECKON.

TERM BEGINS SEPTEMBER 11

The shortest day in the year is Sept. 10. The longest day is Sept. 11. This is according to the reckoning of about 1000 school children of Greencastle. School begins Monday, Sept. 11, just thirteen days from today and the children are now going to bed to dream of stern school marm's, tangling and perplexing problems in arithmetic, a maze of imaginary lines separating political divisions of countries, a synthesis of hard words to spell, and a confusion of dates of battles and great events of history, intricacies of grammar, and topped over by that big bogey man, deportment.

Already the display windows of several of the downtown stores are harbingers of the first day of school. Shoe stores are showing big thick soled shoes for the husky lads and, low heeled, wellmade shoes for the girls, who are also none to gentle on the pedal coverings in these days. School clothes adorn the clothing windows, caps and the popular rah, rah, felt hats are taking the place of the straw hats, and school books, pencils, tablets, and other new fangled equipment.

The first day of school will have all its usual strangeness. The old school rooms in some of the buildings will be like new. Strange faces will be seen in the teaching department, new schoolmates will occupy the desks and the whole first day will be one of wonder. Following the usual routine of opening the students will get down to good solid work. The high school there will be the usual stir among the young men to get ready for football, the great fall sport. There are no new courses entered this year, but there are a number of strange faces in the faculty.

LAW AS TO THEIR SALARY

There seems to be some confusion among the teachers of Putnam county as to the examinations. Besides the examinations already held, there will be one on the last Saturday on August and yet another on the last day of September. The following is a statement from Charles A. Greathouse, State Superintendent in regard to the wages of the teachers in this state:

"Some confusion has arisen concerning the minimum wages of the teachers due to the reading of S. B. 212, page 131, Acts of 1911. You will observe that this act amends section 1 of the teachers' minimum wage law. It does not amend any of the other sections. The 1911 act leaves the minimum wages of teachers the same as the original act except that the pay of exemption teachers is made the same as that of class C teachers. By reading Section 2 of the teachers minimum wage law found on page 146 of the Acts of 1907 we find what is meant by a beginning teacher, by a teacher with but one school year's experience, and by a teacher with three or more years' successful experience."

"Three things are necessary in order that one may be classed as a beginning teacher. They are graduation from high school, twelve weeks' professional training, and twelve months' license. Four things are necessary in order that a teacher may be classed as a teacher with one school year's experience. They are graduation from high school, twenty-four weeks' professional training, two years' license, and a success grade. Four things are necessary in order that one may be classed as a teacher with three or more years' successful experience. They are graduation from the high school, graduation from the professional course of an accredited normal school, a three years' license, and a success grade. Since all of these things are necessary to determine the classification of teachers, we readily see that experience alone does not determine the classification and minimum wages of the teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doddridge, of Vincennes and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Keifer, of Kansas City, Mo., are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Keifer.

RATS CARRY DISEASE.

Systematic Effort Should Be Made to Exterminate Rodents.

That infection from rats may develop into one of the most serious questions in the state within a few years is the assertion of Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health, who has returned from an extended trip through the Pacific Coast States. Dr. Hurty's assertion was inspired by visits at laboratories of the marine hospitals at San Francisco.

In these laboratories the rat problem of the coast is being threshed out, according to the state health officer. More than ten tons of rodents have been examined by health officers in the fight to stamp out the bubonic plague on the coast.

Today few rats examined show signs of the dreaded infection. Among the last 20,000 rats examined none has shown plague germs.

The examination of thousands of rodents has shown other things as fully important to the American public and to citizens of Indiana as the eradication of the plague according to Dr. Hurty. The rodents show virulent symptoms of liver troubles, tuberculosis, kidney troubles, cancer and tumors. Here is where the Indiana rat comes into the question, said Dr. Hurty.

The little animals of the Hoosier state are just as full of disease as the western rats, he believes. The question which the country must solve within the next few years, he said, is whether human beings of America are contracting these most dreaded diseases from rats.

Every new building being constructed in San Francisco today is rat proof, according to Dr. Hurty. Rat catchers are busy throughout the city at all hours of the day and night.

"They have learned a lesson out there," said Dr. Hurty, "and we of Indiana will be compelled to learn the same lesson some day if things go on as they have. The rats in this state are as full of disease as those of the coast. The community that does not fight rats is neglecting one of the means at its command to fight disease."—Warren Review.

Growing Quite Feeble.

The Crowfordsville Journal says "Uncle Jimmie" Gordon, who celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday on June 14, is growing quite feeble and his relatives fear that he may not recover. He is confined to his bed at the home of one of his daughters, Mrs. Samantha Sanders, who resides on the Mack farm about five miles south of this city on the Danville road. His illness is due more to senility than to any particular ailment.

On Friday, July 14, at the home of his daughter he celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday.

Uncle Jimmy is the oldest man in the county. He is about a year older than Uncle Johnny Hulet, of Darlington, who recently celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday. Another one of the oldest residents of the county is Uncle Drake Brookshire, of near Ladoga, who has reached the ripe old age of ninety-two.

Until a few days ago Mr. Gordon was in fairly good health and retained all of his mental faculties to a marked degree for one so near the century mark. He has been living with his children since the death of his wife some ten or twelve years ago. He came here from Indianapolis, where he has been with a daughter for some time. He walks with a cane.

The most of his life was spent near Bainbridge on a farm. He and his wife came to this city to live several years ago and resided on south Washington street for a time; then moved to Highland, where the wife died.

Slumber Party.

Mrs. Annice Rhorer gave a slumber party Friday night for Hortense Oppenheimer of Tampa, Fla. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing bridge. Mrs. Hurst sang several songs, most delightfully and Miss Oppenheimer, Miss Naylor and Miss Mathias gave instrumental numbers. Light refreshments were served. On Saturday at 8 o'clock the guests partook of an elegant four-course breakfast. The table and buffet decorations and favors were La France roses. The place cards were dainty and pretty, done in water colors by the guest of honor. The decoration was the orange blossom. A rhyme was found at each plate describing some characteristic of the guest. After breakfast Eleanor Rhorer delighted every one with her singing and playing. The function was well arranged and very enjoyable and all were so pleased to meet the beautiful guest from the southland.

SEVERAL ARE MAKING KICKS

SEVERAL CITIZENS ARE COMPLAINING OF THE NEW LOCATION OF THE TWO WATER TROUGHS—DRIVERS AND OTHERS AMONG THE LIST

PROBABLY HAVE NO EFFECT

The new location of the two water troughs, as selected by the City Council, is causing much and many kicks. A number of the citizens are complaining of the location selected for the trough which formerly stood at the side of the Owl Drug Store. The council ordered it to be placed about one block south of its former location and at the south end of the fire station. Teamsters are complaining of the site selected for the other. The site selected by the City Council for the last mentioned trough is on Market street between Columbia and Franklin streets.

The complaint against the location near the Fire Department is that it will interfere with runs of the fire wagons on South Indiana Street; that the teams standing at the trough and the teams entering the alley to take their place at the city scales, soon to be installed, will greatly interfere with traffic. They say that South Indiana street is used by more teams than any street in the city.

The complaint against the placing of the other trough on Market street is made mostly by drivers of wagons. They say that it is an out-of-the-way place and will necessitate them driving one block and some times two, to get to it. However, the council says that the square and immediately adjoining streets are to be places of beauty, so there is little chance of the cities being re-chosen.

THEY ARE SURELY POSERS

If you think that it is easy to secure final citizenship papers, you should be present in the circuit court when the final examination of a number of applicants will be held. Some questions will be asked, which it is dollars to doughnuts, very few full-fledged citizens could answer. If you don't believe it, just see how many of the following questions you can answer:

- What is the president of the United States?
- How is he elected?
- Is he elected or appointed?
- What are the presidential electors?
- How are they selected?
- What is the term of the president of the United States?
- Where is the capital of the United States?
- What is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States?
- Who makes the laws of the United States?
- How many branches in congress are there?
- Name them.
- How are the senators elected?
- What is their term of service?
- How are representatives elected?
- What is their term of service?
- Who is the chief justice of the United States?
- How many members compose the supreme court of the United States?
- Where does the supreme court of the United States sit?
- Who is the governor of Indiana?
- Who elects the governor of the state?
- What is his term of service?
- Who makes the laws for the state of Indiana?
- How many branches are there in the legislature?
- Name them.
- What is the term of service for the state senators?
- What is the term of service for state representatives?
- What is the capital of Indiana?
- Who is mayor of Greencastle?
- Who makes the laws regulating the city?
- How many councilmen do we have?
- Describe, in a general way, the functions of the boards of works.

- To whom does the law prohibit a saloon keeper from selling intoxicating liquors?
- How does the law require a saloon to be arranged during the time the liquors are being sold?
- Who grants a liquor license?
- Why does the law require a bond of saloon keepers?

Hurst Basket Meeting.

The basket meeting given by the old Baptists at the home of Vermandus Hurst, Sunday, Aug. 20, was a decided success, both spiritually and socially. It was estimated that there were between four and five hundred people present. At the noon hour the 75-foot table fairly groaned with the good things to eat which the ladies of the community and surrounding country had prepared and when all of this company had eaten, it was like feeding the five-thousand on the five loaves and two fishes. There was plenty left to have fed the whole crowd again. It was a day long to be remembered by all present. The sermons preached by Brother Cornelius Althart, of Roachdale, both morning and evening, were excellent, and it was good to be there.

We believe if there were more of these kinds of meetings held the people would be all the better for it. The writer urges that the different denominations of this community and the surrounding communities have more of these kind, and invite our sister churches to meet with us as brother and sister Vermandus Hurst did, then we all will be benefited by it.

Railroad Accidents.

We are often reminded in lugubrious statistics and heated orations that American railroads are peculiarly deadly to their passengers. We are told of the superior safety of European travel; and not infrequently we are told that drastic government supervision or even government ownership is necessary to put an end to the slaughter of passengers by the steel highways of America.

The contrast between American and European railroading is just a shade more than half true. The deductions from it are not true at all. Two-fifths of the American railroads have as good a record as the railroads of Europe in the matter of safety—and an infinitely better record in most other things.

There is one American railroad system which comprises 17,960 miles of rails. In the year 1910 it carried 49,491,000 passengers. Counting the average distance of journey, this was equivalent to carrying 30,000,000 passengers one mile each. It was almost exactly ten per cent. of the entire railroad passenger traffic of the United States. Yet in 1910 this system did not cost the life of a single passenger.

This, mark you, was achieved under "American conditions"—those mysterious things which are so often invoked at the inquest. It was achieved with out "government ownership"—that panacea so often proclaimed from the platform. The triumph of this great system was won through discipline, safety devices, and plain common-sense. It can be duplicated anywhere by the same commonplace things.—George L. Knapp, in September Lippincott's.

DIRE DISTRESS.

It Is Near At Hand to Hundreds of Greencastle Readers.

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is the kidneys' cry for help.

Neglect hurry to their aid. Means that urinary troubles follow quickly.

Dire distress, diabetes, Bright's disease.

George W. Wood, farmer of Greencastle, Ind., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble and had severe pains in the small of my back. About four years ago I had an acute attack and I was in bad shape. The passages of the kidney secretions were too frequent and painful and often I could hardly get around. When in that condition, it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply at the Jones-Stevens Co.'s Drug Store. I must say that they benefited me more than any other kidney remedy I had ever taken. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my present good health.

MRS. FRANT T. O'HAIR
SEVERELY BURNED

Paris, Ill., Woman, Cousin of Well-Known Banker of This City is Badly Injured in Explosion

PARIS, Ill., Aug. 29.—Mrs. F. T. O'Hair, severely burned by an explosion of gas, was resting well this morning. The accident was a peculiar one. The woman entered the kitchen of her residence and ignited the burner in her gas range. The cock which controls the burner in the oven had been turned in some manner and the compartment was filled with gas. Mrs. O'Hair opened the door and as she did so the vapor ignited. She was thrown across the room and sustained severe burns about the face, head and hands.

At first it was feared her sight had been destroyed. The burns about the face and head are painful but the physician believes she will recover without disfigurement.

Mr. O'Hair, a prominent attorney and politician, is taking a vacation trip through the west and is not yet aware of the ill-fortune which has befallen his wife.

Mrs. O'Hair is a cousin of Robert O'Hair of this city, and is well-known here. She has been an invalid almost all of her life and her relatives here fear that the shock from the accident may prove fatal to Mrs. O'Hair.

BOYS AND GIRLS
OF 30 YEARS AGO

HAVE TWO-DAY SESSION OF ANNUAL REUNION—MANY OF THE MEMBERS PRESENT FROM A DISTANCE AND EVENT IS MOST ENJOYABLE.

DR. GOBIN GIVES ADDRESS

The Third Annual Reunion of the Boys and Girls of Thirty Years Ago was held in the grove of Charles Watson, last Saturday and proved to be the best attended meeting of the association. About two-hundred of the "boys and girls," together with their friends were present, and everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves and the dinner set by the "girls" was bountiful and thoroughly enjoyed.

They were called to order by the president, O. L. Jones, after which, "America" was sung by a choir, led by the "lean-to" Joseph M. Allen. The president then made his address of welcome, which was well received. George Starr being called on, gave a short talk, referring to the ties which bind the "boys and girls of thirty years ago," closing his talk with a request that that old song, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," be sung.

Short talks were made by John Abram, of Louisville, and William Tobin, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Maggie Morris, of Memphis, Tenn.; James Reeves, Ella Jackson, O. S. Reeves, C. E. McKey, of Indianapolis. The "girls" at this point of the program announced that dinner was ready, and right here, we wish to say, there was no second invitation needed. Grace was said by A. W. Whelan, of Indianapolis. And then you should have seen the dinner disappear,—we say disappear,—we are positive that some of it did, but it seems to the writer, in one way, it resembled the miracle of "the loaves and the fishes," for after all had eaten as long as possible, there were baskets and baskets full left.

And we desire to say that the "girls are some cooks;" that being only one of their many accomplishments—dinner over, the president called the assembly together to complete the program. An original song entitled "The Boys and Girls of Thirty Years Ago," was sung by George Starr and the choir. This song has been adopted as the association song, and will be used at all future meetings. A committee appointed by the president to outline a plan for the future meetings, made its report. Bill Tobin, chairman, announced the following as the finding of the committee: That next meeting will be held at the Mount Pleasant church, on the last Sunday in August; the impression being that these meetings are exclusive and only those who were "boys and girls thirty years ago should attend," is not a true one. It was, and is, the desire that all persons who wish to come and mingle with these "boys and girls of thirty years ago," shall be made welcome. We want you to come and enjoy the day with us—there is only one requirement, and that is, "bring a well-filled basket" and join us.

The meeting next year will be an all-day meeting at the church. There will be an old-fashioned class meeting in the forenoon, followed by a dinner prepared by the "girls." The afternoon program will consist of a sermon by a talker, to be selected by the president and secretary. This invitation is "come early and stay late." The next order of the business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The present officers having proved themselves the right men in the right places were re-elected, as follows: O. L. Jones, president; Roy Abrams, secretary and treasurer. There has been three deaths during the past year, Martha Ella Shinn Reeves, Ella Day Jones and Kate Reeves Flynn.

The following poem was read by Mrs. Joseph M. Allen:

I want to hear the old songs,
The songs I used to hear,
When every day brought happiness,
And fancy flouted fear;
When sunset's glory ever new,
Foretold a morn more bright—

I want to hear the old songs,
Oh, sing me one to-night.
I want to hear the old songs,
No trilling, so roudle.
Where music dons her lace and gems
And trips in masquerade.

But give to me the simple strain
That seeks the heart outright,
And nests within its deepest part—
Ah, sing me one to-night.

I want to hear the old songs,
Their names I need not tell;
The quaint old names mean naught
to you,

But I can feel their spell.
Each one, a key, can open to me
The garden of delight
That blossomed in my vanished
youth:

Oh, sing me one to-night.
I want to hear the old songs—
I never hear them now—
The tunes that cheer the tired hear
And smooth the care-worn brow.
Heard in the twilight's dreamy hour
Best suited to their flight.
Each cadence like a blessing falls—
Ah, sing one to-night.

I want to hear the old songs,
The gentle lullabies
That reft me of my weariness,
And closed my childish eyes;
The fabled music of the spheres
Beside those strains would blight
The dear old songs my mother sang—
Oh, sing me one to-night.

The song, "Battle Hymn of Republic" was next sung by the choir.
Poem by Mrs. Mary Whelan, as follows:

What! Has Old Time turned on his track,
And dropped his scythe, and travel ed back
Through shades and sunshine 'til at last,
He finds again the happy past?
Or, has my eyesight with these year
Been badly blurred by dust and tears.

Until I cannot see aright?
Ah, no, my friends, I see, today—
For in each face I read the truth,
We've crossed the Rubicon of youth
But, though the shadows plainly tell
We soon shall hear the noontide bell
Yet we may pause a moment, now,
And shading with the hand the brow,
Look backward through the gathered haze
To catch one glimpse of those glad days
When hope within our hearts held sway
And life was one long holiday.

But let Old Time's rude pencil trace
The tell-tale lines upon each face;
Let lovely forms grow bent and scarce
And gray creep into golden hair;
Let merry laughter, sprightly grace
To sober middle age give place;
And yet the passion fires burn
To dying embers in the urn.

Though the eyelids will grow wet,
And hearts will fill with vain regret
Until, alas, we fail to see
The good that is, or is to be;
Yet, still, at times like this, I know
Come memories of long ago,
'Till in each throbbing heart there lies
That's fit for speech in Paradise.

But, for, today, my friends, I pray,
Let each one throw regrets away;
And hold not lightly pleasures rare
That, intertwined with toil and care
Come but to bless us and to cheer;
Let each one feel that to be here
Is but the brightening once again
Is but the strengthening of the chain;

And let's renew the pure and good Old memories of Old Mt Pleasant neighborhood.
This concluded the official program, and the "old boys and girls," indulged in some of the old games of thirty years ago, "drop the handkerchief" and "the old miller," and it was very plain to be seen that the thirty years were beginning to tell on some of them. They were no as spry as of yore, but had the time of their lives. The following program was read:

Memphis, Tenn.
J. S. Morris, care of Mrs. Martha Hillis:
"Sorry that I can't be with you tomorrow. Say to the "boys and girls of thirty years ago," that I regret not being with them at our annual meeting. I trust all who attend will enjoy the meeting as much as did last year. Will try to be there next year."
J. H. MORRIS.

Sunday's Meeting.

In the morning by an old-fashioned class meeting, followed by another one of those dinners served by the "girls of thirty years ago." At 2:30 o'clock Dr. Gobin preached on of his interesting sermons to an immense audience. Mount Pleasant was one of Dr. Gobin's first charge and he is dear in the hearts of his old congregation.

THE CIRCUS DAY
A PLEASANT ONE

LITTLE ROWDISM MARS THE DAY OF PLEASURE AND EVERYBODY SEEMED TO HAVE GOOD TIME—NEW ACTS DRAW APPLAUSE FROM SPECTATORS

CLOWNS ARE THE FEATURE

Both the circus and circus day are voted a success. The show was a good one and everyone who attended seemed satisfied. The crowd was peaceful and little rowdism marred the day. There was little, if any, drinking and the usual number of disorderly people was lacking. There were no arrests and few complaints made to the officers. The special officers appointed to look after the circus crowd all say that the day was more peaceful than any previous circus day in this city.

The street parade Tuesday morning seemed to please the crowds and several persons were heard to say that as the parade was so good, the show must also be good, and that they would attend. They were not disappointed in the circus. The show was all that it was advertised and there were several real acts and stunts never before seen in Greencastle.

The clowns probably drew more attention than any other feature of the circus, especially among the little folks. The funny men had many new and comical acts and kept the crowd in laughter most of the time. The trained lions and elephants were excellent and the feats of the trainers drew gasps from the spectators more than once. The crowd seemed to hold its breath when the lion tamer placed his head in the mouth of a huge lion.

The side shows and outside attractions drew their share of the crowd. The "wonderful snake charmer," the "little wonders from the Amazon" and other similar attractions had good attendance. The attendance at the circus in the afternoon probably was larger than that of Tuesday night. Only medium-sized crowds, however, attended each performance. The show left here late Tuesday night for Brazil where it gives two performances today. Most of the performers stayed here Tuesday night and went to Brazil Tuesday morning.

SEES VICTIM'S FUNERAL
THROUGH CELL WINDOW

Edward Van Pelt, Murdered of Charles Tindall, Former DePauw Man, Sees Procession Pass the Jail.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., August 29.—The body of Charles Tindall was taken past the county jail, from a cell window of which Edward Van Pelt, Tindall's slayer, gazed, yesterday. The funeral procession from the house to the cemetery passed in full view of the prisoner who watched it with no apparent emotion.

A few minutes before services were held at the Tindall home, sympathy for Van Pelt assumed a definite shape among the members of the Shelby county bar, and a resolution condemning Van Pelt as a murderer for whom no justification could be found was voted down, twelve to eight. The resolution, drawn by up Senator Will A. Yarling, A. F. Wray and George H. Meliks, condemned the shooting of Tindall as "a cowardly and brutal murder, which was a terrible crime against organized and civilized society." The members of the bar argued for and against the adoption of the resolution until the hour of the funeral forced a vote.

A controversy has been started by a printed criticism of Downey Van Pelt, son of the man who shot Tindall. The son played in a local band the night following the shooting of Tindall, and a local newspaper referred to this action in an uncomplimentary manner. A large number of citizens of the city signed a protest against this criticism of the son, which they caused to be printed.

Tindall was a former DePauw man and was well-known in this city.

Hay will be the highest priced feed this winter in this section unless oats take the lead. Horsemen and general stockmen and farmers will do well to provide themselves with clover and timothy hay substitutes, such as millet, cow peas, etc., for the winter hay, and with vetch, rape, early sown rye, etc., for fall pasture. Fall and early spring pasture is a great hay saver, and an ideal fall and spring pasture may be had on almost any farm, in almost any State in the Union, by sowing on well-prepared ground a mixture of vetch and rye or it may be pastured during the fall. Some farmers are putting their straw in the hay lofts for feed this winter.

Quite a number were met at Greencastle and conveyed to the place of meeting in rigs. Mr. Ferrand and family endeavoring to do everything possible for the comfort and pleasure of relatives and friends. Near the noon hour the usual bountiful dinner was spread on large tables in the shade of a large maple tree, and after a few words of thanks all were invited to help themselves to what was in front of them and no one went away hungry. Ice tea and lemonade were served as drinks.

In the afternoon, the meeting was called to order by the president, Wm. Hall. "Sunshine in My Soul Today," was sung by the crowd and a prayer was offered by Rev. Bratton.

The secretary's report was then read, after which the family history was read, a portion of which had been traced back to the year of 1676. The secretary also read a paper which had been prepared in memory of Mrs. Martha (Brown) Ferrand. An interesting relic, an old letter which had been written by the late Wm. Pierce to his wife and children while at Camp Chase in the year 1864 was read by Mrs. James Grantham. The letter was found by J. D. Pierce among his father's papers and also contained a few words from T. J. Ferrand, who was also in prison at the same place, that being the only word received by their families for many long months. Following the reading were several songs, sung by the little folks: Parthena Hall, Edith McGlothlin, Gertrude Ferrand, and Nellie, Lucille and Sarah Glidewell. Instrumental music was furnished by Lyl Ferrand; a monologue by Ferol Ferrand and recitations by Glenwood Danis, Madge Glidewell, Arminta Ferrand, Sarah Glidewell, Ray, Goldie and Hope Evans and Daisy Danis. Officers for the ensuing year were then elected as follows: J. D. Pierce, President; James Fisk, Vice-President; Mrs. J. W. Ferrand was re-elected secretary and was also appointed treasurer. A committee on programme, consisting of Lenna W. Pierce, Martha Fisk and Ethel Pruitt, was elected. Mr. and Mrs. James Fisk of Greencastle, asked for the reunion to be held at their home next year and it was unanimously decided to do so.

HANDS WOULD BURN LIKE FIRE

Could Lay Pin in Cracks. Four Long Years of Eczema. Only Relief in Scratching. Used One Set of Cuticura Remedies. Hands Entirely Well.

"I can truthfully say Cuticura Remedies have cured me of four long years of eczema. About four years ago I noticed some little pimples coming on my little fingers and I did not give it any attention, it soon became worse and spread all over my hands. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching.

"So after hearing so much about the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, I purchased one complete set, and after using them three days my hands were much better. To-day my hands are entirely well, one set being all I used." (Signed) Miss Etta Narber, R. F. D. 2, Spring Lake, Mich., Sept. 26, 1910.

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin. A single set with Cuticura Soap and a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are equally effective in preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands.

Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp, will be mailed free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 2B, Boston, Mass.

MAY PROVE SERIOUS

Harry Black, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black, who live on Sycamore street, was painfully injured while playing near his home Thursday afternoon. The little lad jumped upon a piece of rusty wire which penetrated his foot. With one end of the wire projecting from the top of his foot and the other from the bottom, the lad suffered intense agony until the injury was treated by a physician.

Immediately after the lad was injured, Dr. Brazier was called. It was necessary to use a pair of wire pliers to extract the rusty wire from the wound. The wire penetrated the foot in such a manner that it scraped a bone. It is believed that it will be necessary to open the wound and scrape the bone to prevent blood poisoning.

Disease and Death in Indiana in July

The Bulletin of the State Board of Health just issued for July says: The deaths in July, 1911, were less than in July, 1910, by 26. Diarrhoeal diseases were most prevalent, with typhoid fever next. Two hundred-ninety-six cases of typhoid fever were reported in 59 counties, with 72 deaths. In July, 1910, 246 cases were reported in 47 counties with 45 deaths. The Southern Sanitary Section of the state reports the highest death rate from typhoid fever, being 51.7 as compared with 31.3 in the entire state. The State Board of Health is now engaged in making a sanitary survey of the Ohio River from Cincinnati to Mt. Vernon, in order to determine to what extent the stream is polluted by sewage and factory waste and to what extent the water supply from the stream is impaired.

The cities report 1450 deaths, a rate of 14.8 or 2.1 higher than the rate for the whole state. The rural deaths number 147, a rate of 11.1 or 1.6 lower than the rate for the whole state. Pulmonary tuberculosis caused 287 deaths. In the same month last year 305, a decrease of 18. Infantile paralysis caused two deaths, number of cases reported 19. One death was reported from "Hookworm Disease" in Posey County. Deaths from violence numbered 296.

RALPH MOSS FOR GOVERNOR

HIS WORK IN BRINGING ABOUT AND CONDUCTING THE INVESTIGATING OF THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

PUTS HIM IN LIME LIGHT

A special from Washington City says:

Ralph W. Moss, representative from the Fifth District, may decide to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Apparently the people of Indiana like the way he has handled the investigation of the bureau of chemistry in the agricultural department.

Within the last ten days he has received hundreds of letters from the Indiana people commending his work in connection with this investigation and suggesting that he be a candidate for governor. Mr. Moss said today that he was not yet ready to make up his mind.

Has Been Too Busy.

"I have been so busy with this investigation that I have not even had time to answer these letters from home," he said. "I am leaving today for the seashore to get some needed rest. I expect to be over there about a week and shall then return home. As soon as I get back I shall consult some of my friends and will then be ready to say whether or not I shall be a candidate for governor."

Handled Inquiry Well.

Mr. Moss's management in the investigation of the agricultural department has made him one of the conspicuous members of the house. As chairman of the committee on expenditures in the agricultural department he planned the investigation and had complete control of it from start to finish. He did practically all the questioning and surprised all by the direct and effective way in which he went after information relating to the Wilson-McCabe-Wiley row.

When the committee decided to undertake the investigation Mr. Moss's associates on the committee suggested that the committee ought to employ an attorney to conduct the examination of witnesses. Mr. Moss objected and said that he would act as his own attorney. By doing this he saved a lawyer's fee that probably would have amounted to $1,000. This entire inquiry was conducted at an expense of a little less than $200. Never before in the history of Congress was an investigation of such importance conducted so economically.

May Seek to Punish Him.

That his enemies are thinking of attempting to punish Representative Moss politically for his aggressiveness in uncovering the remarkable situation in the Department of Agriculture is now understood. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, during the last hour he was before the investigating committee made an indirect threat, which did not escape the committee. He intimated that by way of punishment he might withdraw from the state of Indiana the 116 special employees of his department which he says are now at work in that State. The official report of the committee hearing show that this is what the secretary said.

Representative Moss said, today, that he did not believe for a minute, that the secretary of agriculture would withdraw his 116 scientists from Indiana.

"If he should do this I am ready for the issue," said the Fifth District representative. "The employees of the agricultural department in the state are doing splendid work and there would be a great regret if they should be withdrawn. I do not think, however, that we have anything to fear along this line."

Although it will be several weeks before school opens, the book stores are already receiving their books for the rush. Large cases and boxes of "knowledge" are being opened and placed upon the shelves. One book store, Wednesday, received twelve cases of books and the proprietor stated that not near all of his stock had arrived.

DEATH OF WILLIAM E. CALLENDER, SUNDAY.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Callender Dies Sunday Afternoon After an Illness of Several Years of Tuberculosis.

The death of William E. Callender, age 25, occurred at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Callender, on West Walnut Street about 2:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon after a several years illness of tuberculosis. The funeral services were held at the home at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Burial in Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. Bert DeWitt Beck officiated. The deceased is survived by his parents, and one brother and three sisters, namely: Hiram Callender, Miss Stella Callender, Miss Marie Callender and Miss Marguerite Callender.

Deceased was born in Newburg, Ind., on September 14, 1886. He came here with his parents when about 6 years of age. Mr. Callender attended the public schools of this city until a year before his graduation from the high school, when he was compelled to leave school on account of ill health. Later, he became a telegraph operator and was manager of the Western Union Telegraph station at Urbana, Ill. He was compelled to return home on account of his health and for the past two years he had been confined to his home the greater part of the time. Several times during his long illness the attending physician gave up all hope of saving his life, but each time he would rally and grow stronger. While he had been in a critical condition for some time before his demise, his death was not expected. All during his illness he showed great vitality and was always hopeful. A few days before his death, Mr. Callender was planning to go west about October 1.

Auto and Traction Car Collide

East bound freight car on the T. H. I. & E. line at the Staunton road west of Brazil, struck an automobile in which Napoleon Gillespie, Charles Stewart and R. A. Kemp were riding. The accident happened at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and was on the grade crossing which autists have predicted would be the scene of a collision soon.

R. A. Kemp saw the approaching car in time to jump and was unhurt, save a nervous shock. He is very nervous from the shock. Gillespie and Stewart were severely but not seriously injured. One of the men has a bad gash on his head and the other seems to be internally injured and bruised.

Skin Troubles.

Quite a few of our friends have asked for sure remedies for some form of eczematous affections of the skin, and we wish we could send what is wanted, for the disease is an exceedingly disagreeable one, and at times drives one almost frantic by the almost intolerable heat and itching which is so hard to overcome. There are over three-score different affections that go under the name of eczema, and what will cure one will do no good in another case. Even the same disease in different persons require radically different treatment. We are told that the disease is the result of derangements either of the nutritive, assimilative or nervous system; in one there is a lack of nutritive power, and the patient becomes weak and emaciated; in the assimilative, there is an impaired digestion and a consequent suppression, or abnormal state of the secretions; while eczema occasioned by a run-down condition of the nervous system, is accompanied by all the morbid conditions incident to irritation and exhaustion of the nerves. Good treatment for such requires soap and water. If it needs cleansing, use a good cold cream, or pure olive oil. The greatest trouble is the fact that the general practitioner seems to have but a vague idea of what is necessary to be done, and trying experiments with proprietary medicines is expensive.—From the Commoner.

PREROGATIVE OF HER SEX.

Bride Had but Exercised Recognized Privilege That is Universally Granted.

A young couple had been courting for several years and the young man seemed to be in no hurry to marry. Finally, one day, he said:

"Sal, I canna marry thee."

"How's that?" asked she.

"I've changed my mind," he said.

"Well, I'll tell thee what we'll do," said she. "If folks know that it's thee as has given me up I shanna be able to get another chap; but if they think I've given thee up I can get all that I want. So we'll have banns published and when the wedding day comes the parson will say to thee: 'Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?' I shall say: 'I winna'."

The day came, and when the minister asked the important question the man answered: "I will."

Then the parson said to the woman, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" and she said:

"I will."

"Wha," said the young man furiously, "you said you would say 'I winna'."

"I know that," said the young woman, "but I've changed my mind since."—Mack's National Monthly.

WANT MORE STOPS ON INTERURBAN

RESIDENTS OF EAST PART OF TOWN COMPLAINING AGAINST THE ONE STOP OF LIMITED CARS.

MAY START PETITION

A number of the residents of the east part of town are complaining of the number of stops in Greencastle of the limited cars on the interurban. The only stop now used, with the exception of the station, is at Bloomington street. People living near Arlington street are desirous that the limited cars stop at that street. When the new schedule goes into effect Sunday, only every other car will stop at that street. One-half of the cars will be limiteds and these stop only at Bloomington street.

One of the residents, while talking of the matter Friday morning, advanced the opinion that all cars on the interurban should stop at any street within the corporation limits where a passenger wishes to get off or on. However, it is very unlikely that the Traction Company would agree to this. It may be, should petitions be circulated and in other ways the road officials be made to see the necessity of more than one stop, that the crews will get orders to stop at other streets than Bloomington. One of the east side residents, Friday morning, said: "Now that the company has raised the fare and is to put on more limiteds, it seems that it might grant us the small favor we wish."

Death of Raymond Waltz

Word was received here, on Wednesday evening, from Denver, Colorado, of the death of Raymond Waltz, a native of Greencastle. The death of Mr. Waltz was quite sudden but no particulars as to the cause of his demise have been received. His wife, who will be remembered as Miss Cora Darnall, daughter of Dan T. Darnall, with their children, were visiting relatives at Seattle, Washington, at the time of the death of Mr. Waltz, and they cannot reach their home in Denver, until Saturday. Mr. Dan T. Darnall left this city for Denver, today at noon, to attend the funeral.

ANNUAL REUNION OF THE LaFOLLETTE FAMILY.

The Annual LaFollette Reunion was held on the fair grounds at Crawfordsville Sunday. The attendance was the largest probably ever in attendance to a reunion of the family. Among the principal speakers of the day were: Congressman LaFollette, of Montana; brother of Senator LaFollette; Harvey LaFollette, former state superintendent of public instruction of Indiana, and William T. LaFollette, of Siloam Springs, Ark. Officers for the ensuing year were elected. Judge LaFollette, of Bloomington, was elected president and William LaFollette of this city, secretary. Presidents for each state in the United States, in which members of the family reside, were elected. Court C. Gillen, of this city, was elected president for Indiana. The reunion of the LaFollette family recalls memories among the older residents of this county in regard to a pioneer member who formerly resided here and is buried in this county. He is Joseph LaFollette. Joseph LaFollette came to the United States with his father and two brothers in 1745. The many families of LaFollette in this county are descendants of the three brothers. The name of Joseph LaFollette is on the tablet in the court house here with the names of other Revolutionary War soldiers who are buried in Putnam county. The Greencastle people who attended the reunion Sunday were: Court C. Gillen, Elijah Grantham and Mr. and Mrs. William LaFollette.

BOTH MEN PLEAD "GUILTY"

For owning favorite watch dogs or pet coon dogs and rabbit dogs, and neglecting to pay the tax upon the same cost J. H. Lewis and Fred Ford, both of Bainbridge, about $12 each, Friday afternoon. Constable Crawley went to Bainbridge Friday morning with warrants for the arrest of both men on the charge of owning and keeping dogs on which no license for this year had been paid.

The officer brought his two men to Greencastle and when arraigned before Squire Frank, both pleaded guilty to the charge. Squire Frank assessed a fine of $1 and costs to each. The fine and costs amounted to about $12 for each. They returned to Bainbridge poorer but wiser men.

The law in regard to the keeping of dogs without paying the required license has not been strictly enforced for the past few years. However, the action of the officers Friday seems to mean that the housewife, who has her pet poodle, and the hunter who keeps his pet coon and rabbit dogs, must pay the required license or get in trouble. It is the duty of the township assessor to report to the township trustee every person who owns a dog on which the license has not been paid. Then it is the duty of the township trustee to report the same to the prosecuting attorney. The prosecuting attorney then does not fulfill the duties of his office unless he prosecutes the offenders.

Young Men Beware.

The story is told of a young fellow who sent to a Chicago mail-order house for a suit of clothes. In due time the clothes arrived and in one of the hip pockets the young fellow found a note which read: "Should this fall into the hands of a good-looking young man who desires to correspond with a young lady of sweet disposition, please address," etc.

The young man promptly sent a letter to the address and a few days later received this reply: "Sir, my wife has received a letter in her mailbox from your address. Twenty years ago when she worked in a factory she might have written the note. She is now the mother of eleven children and my lawful wife. If you do not quit writing her I will make a trip to your town and make your wife look like 30 cents worth of sausage." Exchange.

etta Theodora Taylor was one of the most scholarly women of all time. In Indiana her name is a household word. As founder and President of the Western Association she was regarded as a fosmother by the Indiana-Illinois

col of novelists, and numbered among her intimate friends James

McCombs Riley, the late General

Wallace, George Ade, Wilbur D.

Hitt, Opie Reed, Rex Beach, Bliss

and many others, all of whom valued her criticism highly.

She was for several years president of the Indiana State Federation of Women's Clubs.

At it was as a linguist that she achieved widest fame. At the time of her death she was mistress of five languages. Many stories told of her prowess in this field.

At a meeting at the Chicago Press club an Oxford professor addressed

her facetiously in ancient Greek.

She carried on an animated conversation with him for half an hour.

Baron Schlippenbach, the Russian consul, was presented greatly to his surprise she made to him in his own tongue, and learned that she had read "Anna

Carolina" in the original Her Spanish text-books are in use in many schools and colleges. Some years ago she undertook an extensive translation from English into Spanish and the Filipino dialects for the United States Government, and performed the work so acceptably that the British Government of India gave her a similar commission for its Bengali and Burmese subjects.

It is an interesting co-incidence that Mrs. William Warner Penfield, formerly Miss E. Jean Nelson, donor of the prize money offered through the Women Suffrage Party, of which she is the acting chairman, is also from Greencastle, Indiana, and a member of the same sorority at De-Pauw. Three of the judges of the contest are prominent daughters of Indiana, Miss Mary G. Hay, formerly of Indianapolis, President of the

New-York State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Chas. A. Beard, daughter of Col. Eli Ritter, of Indianapolis, the new editor of "The Woman Voter", noted for her soci-ological work, and wife of the professor of politics at Columbia University; Mrs. Ruth Litt, from Evansville, owner of the Broadway theatre who is on the Ways and Means Committee of the Woman Suffrage Party.

This most progressive of suffrage organizations in the United States differs from the older suffrage societies in that it is organized along political lines and has a leader for every Assembly District. Since its organization three years ago it has enrolled a membership of nearly forty-thousand in New York City alone, and is putting behind each legislator a definite political force.

It gives the support to each legislator who favors the cause and op-

GREENCASTLE UNIFORM RANK

TO GO TO BRAZIL LABOR DAY.

The Brazil Daily Times says:

"September 4, Labor Day, will be a big event for the I. O. O. F. subordinate and Rebekah lodges of Clay

County in Brazil. Chairman A. A.

Spears has received word from every subordinate and Rebekah lodge in the county that good-sized delegations will be present for the meeting. The prizes offered by Brazil merchants and the local lodges for the largest visiting delegations is proving an extra attraction for the lodges to send in big delegations.

"Mr. Spears Thursday received word from the Greencastle lodge that the Canton, the uniform rank of the order, will be here to take part in the parade. The parade is to be one of the features of the day's celebration. Three bands have been engaged for the meeting.

Wants His Estate.

The Bedford Daily Mail prints the following: "Mrs. Laura E. Poucher, widow of a former prominent physician of Indianapolis, has filed suit

in the Daviess Circuit Court to gain possession of the estate of Edward

F. Meredith, an aged bachelor attorney who died in Washington,

Ind., last month. In her complaint

Mrs. Poucher claims to have been the common-law wife of Meredith for some twenty years. Until the suit was filed it was generally believed that Meredith's only heir was William R. Meredith, of that city. An estate valued at almost $200,000 is involved in the suit and the brother of the attorney has employed attorneys to contest the woman's claim."

It is said that the above plaintiff is the widow of Dr. Charles H. C.

Poucher, formerly a resident of Greencastle, and a graduate of De-

Pauw university, who later became a well known physician at Indianapolis and died at Swanton, Nebraska, in 1901.

Married at Terre Haute.

At the home of Mrs. D. E. Miller, mother of the bride, on Wednesday evening, Miss Minerva Katherine

Miller was married to Dr. Chester

Arthur Pavy of Greensburg, Rev. E.

W. Dunlavy, pronouncing the ceremony. The wedding was a rainbow affair, the colors being carried out in asters and coleus. After the wedding trip the bride and groom will be at home at Lebanon, Ind. Among the wedding guests were Mrs. Thos.

T. Moore and daughters, Genevieve and Katherine, and Misses Harriet and Nellie Leutcke of this city.

BOTH WELL KNOWN HERE

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Horne, in Putnamville, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Reggie Hazel Horne and James W. Hodge, of Aberdeen, Washington.

The wedding was quiet, only the members of the family and a few immediate relatives and friends being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chadwick, of this city, pastor of the Methodist church in Putnamville.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served. The young couple left on the noon train on the Monon for Chicago. They will spend the next two weeks in visiting in that city, Denver, Colorado Springs and Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. and Mrs. Hodge expect to be at home in Aberdeen about September 5.

The bride is one of the most popular young women in Putnam county. She has a large circle of friends both in this city and in Putnamville. She is a graduate of the DePauw School of Music and a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. The groom is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal school and has attended DePauw. He now is principal of a large school in Aberdeen.

Among those who attended the wedding from a distance were: Mrs. Belle Horne and Herman H. Horne and family, of Evansville; Dr. Roy Sinclair, of Rosedale; Rev. Chadwick and family, Miss Florence Schmolz and Miss McGregor, of Greencastle, and C. A. Rockwell and family, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Vestal and son, of Cloverdale.

NEXT TERM A BUSY ONE

The coming term in the Putnam Circuit Court promises to be a busy one. Several large cases are set for the coming term and a large number of smaller ones. There are several big damage suits against railroads, traction lines and insurance companies. Today, several new cases were filed. Z

Three suits for the collection of bills were filed by Jackson Boyd, as attorney for the plaintiffs. The first is a suit by the C. M. Daniels Light Company against Frank M. McKee, of Cloverdale, for $100. The complaint alleges that McKee owes the company a bill amounting to $71.48 and has owed it for some time. The company asks judgment of $100.

The second suit is one by Messrs. George G. Pope & Co., of Chicago, against Alva Clark, of Reelsville. The complaint alleges that Clark has owed the company $59 since October 27, 1910. It asks judgment of $75. The other suit is one of the National Casket Company, of Indianapolis, against Bert Sandy of Cloverdale. The amount the company claims that it is owed by Sandy is $222.78. The company asks judgment of $250. All three of the suits are to collect for merchandise.

Obituary.

Edmond T. Mercer was born July 30th, 1839 in the State of Kentucky. He departed this life August 15th, 1911, at the age of 72 years and 15 days. During the dark days of the Rebellion he answered the Nation's call and volunteered and served as a soldier in defense of his country until honorably discharged. He came to the Indiana in 1871 and was united in marriage to Rebecca Morland on the 19th day of December, 1872. They lived a happy and peaceful life together until death separated them, covering a period of 29 years.

About 25 years ago he united with the Regular Baptist church at Friendship and has lived a devoted Christian life until death. Twenty years ago he and his good wife took a fatherless girl, Anna Shields, to raise. They raised and cared for her as if she had been their own child until she was married to Mr. Walter Rogers. In a few years he died and then they took two of their children, Idle and Sylvian, to raise, both being with him at the time of his death.

Mr. Mercer was a good neighbor and a loving and faithful husband. He leaves a wife, two brothers, two sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Such is the short history of the life of Edmond Mercer.

As usually treated, a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

Expert Advice on Milk for Babies

Dr. Eugene H. Porter, state commissioner of health, New York, in discussing the "Care of Milk," declared that cholera infantum is dependent almost entirely upon feeding upon impure milk, and that the municipality must do what the individual mother cannot do, see that the milk that she purchases for the child is fit to be used for food.

Dr. Porter embodies the contents of the circular of the New York City Sanitary Milk Dealers' association, recently issued, in which advice is given to the consumers of milk, and supplements it with some further recommendations. He says:

"Where a house is located in an isolated district it is not always possible to procure ice, so that even a makeshift refrigerator cannot be used. If this be the case, the milk may be kept fairly well by taking an ordinary butter or lard tub and putting into the bottom of it a three-inch layer of sawdust. Upon the sawdust rest a stoneware jar or crock, and surround this by sawdust. Put the milk bottles in the jar and pour into the latter sufficient water to just cover the bottles. Cover the whole with a sawdust or hay-stuffed cushion large enough to fit into the tub over the jar. The tub should be kept in the coolest place to be found, and if the above directions are carefully carried out, the temperature of the milk will seldom get more than one degree warmer than the water in the jar."

Milk bottled on the farm and kept in a temperature below 50 degrees Fahrenheit is far preferable to "dip milk," which is subject to contamination each time the can is opened, the commissioner contends. He advises that if "dip milk" is used that it be put into an absolutely clean receptacle, kept cool and free from flies and dust. He urges cleanliness in the bottling and other handling of milk at all times. He says regarding flies in milk:

"The mother who has learned that the common house fly is a carrier of disease would no sooner give her infant milk into which a fly has fallen than she would give it poison. When a fly alights in milk there is no way of telling whether or not its last resting place was on the slops from a sickroom or on a putrefying carcass, and the only safe way is to discard that milk or heat it to the boiling point before using it."

The nursing bottle is another menace and Dr. Porter makes these recommendations:

"Use only round bottles with round bottoms. Do not use rubber tubing; it is impossible to keep it clean. Get the simplest, most easily washed nipple obtainable. After feeding, rinse the bottle in cold or tepid water, then with hot water and a little washing soda or a good washing compound. Scrub well with a wire brush, rinse several times, then scald, and either invert in the sunlight where the air is free from dust, or fill with hot water and add a pinch of baking soda, and let stand until the next feeding; then rinse again thoroughly with hot water before pouring out the milk. Never let a nursing bottle stand unwashed or with the remains of a feeding in it; it is very difficult to make such a bottle clean from the strict sanitary standpoint."

Beginning September 1, a postal order issued from the department of Postmaster-General Hitchcock providing for the transportation of second class mail matter by fast freight will become effective. This class, which includes magazines and periodicals, will therefore no longer travel in railway mail cars. Under the statute, which is by no means a new one, publishers are permitted to set a date for the delivery of their magazines, and instructions will be given postmasters accordingly. It is said that the publishers are satisfied with this arrangement, which will permit just as early deliveries as before, at a greatly reduced cost of transportation to the railway companies and federal postal department.

A NEW PUBLIC SQUARE SOON

EXCAVATIONS WILL SOON BE READY FOR THE BEGINNING OF THE BUILDING OF FOUNDATIONS FOR THE STREETS—ON EAST WASHINGTON TODAY.

WILL MAKE A BIG CHANGE

Work at plowing up the street on Washington street, between Indiana and Vine streets, began Wednesday morning. The big steam engine with the rock plow made short work of the old pavement. A horse plow broke up the part of the street not turned by the rock plow. Teams began hauling the old pavement away at noon and within a few days the excavation in the block will be complete.

The streets on all sides of the square and the blocks adjoining the square on Indiana, Jackson and Franklin streets have been plowed up and the excavations made ready for the laying of the new street. The traction engine and train of rock cars will be here within a few days, and then the work of laying the foundation for the pavement will be begun.

The square will soon have a new appearance. With the new sidewalks, curbs, streets and cluster lights, Greencastle's public square will be a model one. The city council started out to make the square a thing of beauty and when it's plans are complete it will have done it. The two water troughs for horses will no longer injure the appearance of the square and the telegraph, telephone and light poles and other things detrimental to the beauty of the square have been taken away.

OFFICER STOPS "SKIN" GAMES

MARSHAL JOHNS TAKES WOES OF THE INNOCENT TO HEART AND ORDERS LOTTERY ATTRACTION TO CLOSE UP.

THEY BOTH HAD "CAPPERS"

Two gambling games, operated by followers of the circus, were in operation on circus grounds here Tuesday afternoon. Marshal Johns, thinking of the innocent who were losing their hard-earned cash, notified the manager of the circus that the games must stop. And stop they did. However, the operators of both games had won several dollars in small change before the peace protector got on to the games. One game was the common wheel and spoke game. It cost the players 25 cents a play and each time they won some prize. However, few prizes worth more than a few cents were won. The more valuable prizes seemed to be "unwinable" and none were won. The other game was a number affair and it was seldom that a player won anything. Both game keepers had "cappers" standing near the game and when business got poor the "cappers" would play and win. This would encourage onlookers and soon another victim would be added to the list.

CHARGES ITALIAN WITH $70 THEFT

GEORGE PEAT, FORMERLY IN THE EMPLOY OF THE I. & O. STONE COMPANY, IS BOUND OVER TO THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR TRIAL.

TOOK IT FROM COMPANION

George Peat, an Italian, formerly in charge of the commissary at the I. & O. stone quarries, west of town, is now in jail awaiting trial in the circuit court on the charge of stealing $70 in money from Alec Nick, another Italian, who works at the quarries.

Peat, it seems had been discharged by the I. & O. quarry people but remained at the quarry. He had another Italian, Alec Nick, as a bunk mate. Peat, a few days ago, alleged that someone had stolen $70 from his pockets and charged his bunk-mate with the theft. Nick contended that he had not stolen the money and to prove his innocence he showed Peat the money he carried in his belt, which amounted to about $300.

When Nick opened his wallet to show Peat the money, the latter picked up a roll of bills and counting off $70 put it in his pocket and refused to give it back to the old man. Other Italians at the place say that the old man is strictly honest, while the reputation of Peat is not so good.

Tony James, another Italian, swore out the warrant for the arrest of Peat and the latter was arrested and taken before Squire Frank, who bound him over to the circuit court.

Thomas Jefferson Heady.

Few men of past generations succeeded in impressing their personality more forcibly upon the people of Madison township or left behind them a cleaner record, than the late Thomas Jefferson Heady, noted among his neighbors and friends alike for his hospitality, industry and strict honesty. He was the fourth son of Imiri and Elizabeth (Slavens) Heady, and was born on Nov. 12, 1838, and after an active and useful life passed to his rest on August 3, 1911. He received a fair good education in the common schools of his day and assisted with the work on the home place, until he reached maturity, marrying Nancy Newgent, Feb. 14, 1878. He leaves to mourn his loss four loving daughters, named as follows: Mrs. Gertrude Keyt, Mrs. Dora Reinecke, Mrs. Osa Brown and Elizabeth Heady; besides these there are five grandchildren, six sisters and two brothers.

BLOCKED CROSSING AND IS ARRESTED

VANDALLA FREIGHT TRAIN CONDUCTOR WILL PLEAD GUILTY TO A CHARGE SWORN OUT AGAINST HIM BY A SOUTH GREENCASLE CITIZEN.

INCIDENT LAST FRIDAY

James Selers, a Vandalla freight train conductor, was arrested Wednesday morning by Constable Crawford Crawley, on a warrant sworn out by George Burks, charging him with obstructing the Bloomington street crossing with a freight train. The conductor, upon his pledge to appear before Squire Frank and plead guilty to the charge, was allowed to continue on his run to Terre Haute. He will return to Greencastle as soon as possible and pay a fine.

Selers blockaded the crossing with his freight train last Friday and refused to cut his train and clear the track when asked to do so by Mr. Burks. The latter had several weaknesses and the conductor, when he learned that the charge had been filed against him, saw there would be no chance for him to clear himself of the charge and so will plead guilty. Trainmen are not allowed to blockade a street crossing with their trains.

Abandons Small Freight Cars.

A notice has been issued from the eastern offices of the Pennsylvania to the effect that the road will no longer handle boxcars of 40,000 pounds capacity, or less, in freight service. An exception is made only in the instances of ventilated cars loaded with perishable goods from the south. Cars whose capacity is less than the required minimum will be unloaded at junction points and their contents transferred to larger cars. The Pennsylvania has adopted a policy of burning old cars rather than selling them to other roads. In the latter event it is thought that the abandoned equipment would inevitably get back onto the lines of the Pennsylvania system. The placing of old lightweight cars in trains between cars of newer and heavier construction is blamed for the seriousness of many freight wrecks.
