FELL IN FREEDOM'S CAUSE.

"The War Angel of Ayotela," as the Cubans called Matilda Agramonte y Varona, was killed recently while fighting shoulder to shoulder with her brothers for the freedom of her country. She was the daughter of two of the great families of Cuba, heiress to the fame and traditions of two old names of Spain, and to the remnant of a fortune that was once one of the largest in the rich island. Every rebellion has found Agramontes and Varonas under the banner of Cuba Libre. Her father and a brother gave up their lives in the ten years' war. Her remaining brothers and her uncles enlisted under General Maceo, and left her alone on the plantation in Puerto Principe, the only property left of the vast estate. She went to visit friends in a neighboring town, and on her return she found the family residence burned, the cane gone, the servants murdered or scattered. A Spanish guerrilla force had crossed there and destroyed the place. There was no place for the girl to go, so she asked the first band of rebels that passed that way to take her with them to Maceo's camp. Once there she asked to be enlisted as a soldier. The chief at first refused, but her brothers and uncles told him she would starve otherwise, and he relented and enrolled her. She saw only one battle. At Ayotela, near the town of Quemado de Guines, the advance of a strong Spanish column overtook Maceo's command. The rebels were hopelessly outnumbered, and a battle meant a catastrophe. Maceo was on his way to meet the Bermuda, and two-thirds of his men were to be armed with the weapons he bought. He called for volunteers to face the Spanish army and delay their march, so that the remainder of the column could escape. The first to step forward in answer to the call were the Cuban girl, her brothers and uncles. They knew that the service meant death, but they went, and the girl stood there shoulder to shoulder with the other volunteers and fired until she fell. The Spaniards saw she was a woman, and called on her to surrender. She answered: "Viva Cuba Libre!"

Women's Views of Man.
A straightforward, open-hearted man may be safely left to manage his own concerns.—Jane Austen.

A man capable of conquering habitual indolence cannot be a feeble character.—Maria Edgeworth.

Men who have seen a good deal of life don't always end by choosing their wives so well.—George Eliot.

Remember one thing—no man can fall to fulfill his destiny but through his own fault.—George Sand.

Man is very apt to contemplate himself out of all proportion to his surroundings.—Christina G. Rossetti.

The best augury of a man's success in his profession is that he thinks it is the finest in the world.—George Eliot.

Love occupies a vast space in woman's thoughts, but fills a small portion in a man's life.—Maria Edgeworth.

Man is not made for that selfish concentration of despair which is called either abnegation or stoicism.—George Sand.

The just living of a lifetime makes a man incapable of any more selfish handling of another's interests.—Mrs. Humphry Ward.

Black Veils Best of All.
The success of the veil depends upon discretion in choice of pattern and its method of adjustment. Indeed the art of putting on a veil is a difficult one. Our Parisian sisters possess the happy knack of twisting voluminous lengths of net or gauze around their heads with an effect altogether delightful. To the careful study, then, of veil adjustment would we credit our readers, and also draw their attention to choice of design and color. The sallow complexioned woman should fly from the blue veil, she of roseate cheeks from the red, the business woman from the unpractical white, and so on, while undoubtedly the smartest and most becoming veil of all is the black, of soft fine quality and fascinating design.

Two Babies Mixed at Birth.
A mother and daughter in the town of Irish Valley, Pa., are in a quandary such as probably has not happened before for a good while. Each gave birth to a child on Monday, and so busy was the doctor in attending to them that the babies got mixed up and it will be a secret forever which is which. Both children were born at nearly the same time and both were placed in a cradle. One of the babies is a boy and the other a girl, and it looked to outsiders as though there would be trouble over the boy, for the younger woman was anxious to present a son to her lord. The mother at length cut the Gordian knot by declaring that she wanted a daughter to replace the grown-up woman and that she was perfectly satisfied, since she had several sons. Thus all is serene, and will be unless one of the children dies, and then nobody knows what will happen.

No Profusion of Brice-a-Brac.

The age has passed for small tables so laden down with brice-a-brac as to give the drawing-room the appearance of a china shop and to cause the average male caller to feel very much in the position of the historical bull. Bits of brice-a-brac may still exist, but these bits must be of some intrinsic value and need not be grouped together as though offered for sale. The souvenir silver table still holds sway, as this collection is really interesting in many cases, especially so when they represent the hostess' own "trip across," and the rich plush or velvet on which these ornaments are placed makes them a thing of beauty, as a rule.

Tribute of High Esteem.

The beautiful loving cup which Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, presented to Mrs. Joseph Thompson, of Atlanta, cannot be adequately portrayed in the accompanying illustration, but its meaning of love and good fellowship, coming as it does from the official head of the woman's department of the great national exposition to the woman who held the same position in the South's great exposition, is one which all Southern people will appreciate and take a pride in. Mrs. Palmer's gift means the warm recognition of Southern hospitality. The bond of mutual sympathy between these women in their great endeavors was strong to begin with, and was upon acquaintance made sure by personal understanding and accord. The loving cup will always recall to Mrs. Thompson the visit of Mrs. Palmer to the Atlanta exposition, while others looking upon it will remember happily the evening of the grand ovation given in her honor by Mrs. Thompson when the two women stood side by side, each receiving in her own individual fashion amid brilliant lights and flowers.

The loving cup is simple and elegant. The design is of a Venus riding on a dolphin and the work is exquisitely chaste and artistic.

Fashion and Home Hints.

Jacket waists are popular this season.

Fashion has run riot in dress trimmings.

Capes and jackets are popular spring wraps.

The new tweeds are rather bright in coloring.

Dress skirts are not quite so full as they were.

Ice cream may be eaten with either a fork or a spoon.

Children are to wear poke bonnets, and one is occasionally seen on an adult.

Fine checks promise to be very popular, and shot molars are especially recommended.

Laces are more varied and elegant than ever, with no end of applique designs on net and chiffon.

Handsome lunch cloths and buffet covers that wash well are of fine linen, bordered with remembrance lace.

There is a great choice of silver candlesticks; but, after all, none surpasses in beauty the colonial reproductions.

Colonial silverware, in true octagon shape, with a novel disposition of bead-work and empire garlands, is the correct thing.

A holder with a loop so long that it may be looped around the apron belt may save burned fingers by being always at hand.

Remember to thoroughly wash and scrape the vegetables used in soup and to be chary with the seasoning, which, if overdone, gives a coarse, unpleasant flavor.

Long or one piece effects are creeping in more and more, to the delight of stout figures. Under the name of redingote and princess gowns some very pretty costumes are evolved.

Two English bacteriologists conclude that an average of 1,500 microbes must be inhaled into the nose every hour, while in London the number must often reach 14,000. The organisms are caught by the nose and pass to the digestive organs, which in health destroy them.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Mine Operator Arrested for Issuing Metal Checks in Lieu of Money—Successful Meeting of Southern Indiana Teachers.

"Straw Money" Men Arrested.

United States Marshal Hawkins, of Indianapolis, went down into the block coal mining district the other day and confiscated $80,000 of "straw money." Seven mine operators and mine merchants were arrested for selling these token coins as money. The men under arrest are Nathan Y. Dixon of the Summit Coal Company, Finney Strong of the Linton Supply Company, Frank Martin of the Linton Coal Company, John W. Wolford, a clothing merchant at Linton, and Wolford's three sons. For some time it has been the custom of mine operators to issue to miners before pay day metal checks, which were made to represent money value. Merchants also issued the checks and they passed into general circulation in the mining district as money or its equivalent. The checks were known in the district as "straw money." They circulated at a 10 per cent discount usually, but always brought their full face value when presented to the company that issued them. The coins range in denomination from 5 cents to $1. When times were "hard" in the mining district it was the custom to do business almost exclusively with these checks. No effort was ever made to pass them outside the mining district. So scarce is money in the district that John W. Wolford, one of the men arrested, had to borrow money to pay car fare. There were several thousand dollars of checks in his office. The men have been placed under bond of $500 each. The Government recently sent an inspector into the district who reported to Washington the facts on which the prosecutions were ordered.

Indiana Teachers Adjourn.

The Southern Indiana Teachers' Association, which closed its session at Washington-Friday night, was generally credited with being the most interesting and best managed ever held. There was an enrollment of nearly 700. An interesting program was carried out. Resolutions were adopted favoring the building of an "Abraham Lincoln Art Institute" and a committee was appointed to draft and send a memorial to Congress urging the matter forward. Officers as follows were elected: President, W. H. Senour, Brookville; vice-president, Mrs. A. R. Hornbrook, Evansville; Mrs. Hattie Head, Washington; secretary, Jennie Deming, Shelbyville; treasurer, J. A. Carnagey, Columbus; executive committee, Superintendent Featherhill, Prof. R. A. Ogg, T. A. Mott, W. H. Hershman and F. D. Churchill. Franklin was selected as the next meeting place.

Miss Garbison Is Arrested.

At South Bend, Miss Harriet Garbison was arrested, charged with the theft of a horse and buggy from a man named Garwood, living near Laporte. The young woman is 18 years old and came from Starke County, Ind. She had been working on the Garwood farm for eleven weeks when she made up her mind to leave, taking with her a horse and buggy and Mrs. Garwood's gold watch. Two girls went with her, but the trio got into a fight and Miss Garbison left the others. They had driven in all over 100 miles, driving by night. Tiring of the trip, Miss Garbison sold the buggy to a farmer for $35, and as she could not find sale for the horse, gave it away. Miss Garbison is said to have made a confession to Chief Cassidy.

All Over the State.

At Muncie, William C. Pyle is dead of cancer, resulting from a strain received while lifting a heavy burden some two months ago. He belonged in Bellefonte, Pa., and was betrothed in marriage to Miss Ella Hatchings, of Muncie.

Noah Arnold, a married man, about 40 years of age, a member of one of the most prominent Dunkard families of Indiana, attempted suicide by cutting his throat at Rensselaer. He will probably die. He recently lost his sight, which probably affected his mind.

About twelve years ago Miss Ella Abbott went to Lebanon and entered the millinery business. Two years later she disappeared. Thursday John O'Brien, of Lexington, Ky., arrived in search of her. He claims she has a legacy amounting to several thousand dollars awaiting her. No clue to her whereabouts has been found.

Hallie Shafer was released from jail at Muncie by Judge Koons, after being kept for three months on the charge of being illegally married. In January Miss Shafer, who is white and quite pretty, was married to James Walker, a negro. Each was placed in jail and have since been held. In his finding Judge Koons says the white or black woman who marries the opposite sex is not guilty of crime according to Indiana statutes, but that it is a felonious act on the part of the man, and Walker will likely get a term in State prison. The Shafer girl has parents near Newcastle, who are highly regarded.

An appalling accident occurred on the Belt Railway Monday morning at Bedford, when an engine and one car loaded with stone went through a sixty-five-foot trestle, killing five men instantly and badly injuring two others, one of whom has since died. The dead:—Bevins, Sherman Carpenter, Charles Davis, Warren Leonard, —Masterson, Charles Ogden. The injured: Henry De Vaull, —Menzner. Henry De Vaull, the brakeman, was standing on the rear end of the car and jumped when he felt the trestle giving way, catching on the timbers and thus saving his life. The injuries of Engineer George Menzner, aside from being scalded, amount only to a small cut in the head and one in the breast.

After much difficulty Sheriff Strahn made a clever capture of two strangers at Winchester. They were selling pocket-knives and revolvers on the street. When searched ninety-six knives and revolvers were found on them. They gave fictitious names.

Mrs. Mary Suhr, of Kokomo, has sued Charles Kirkhoff for $30,000 damages for breach of promise to marry. Mary alleges that Charles jilted her, yes Suhr, and married a sweet creature named Sophie Syrup. If this candid statement can be substantiated we hope Charles will be stuck for a good round sum.

THE NAME OF THE NEXT

President of the United States

WILL BE ANNOUNCED IN

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

OF NOVEMBER 4, 1896.

Public interest will steadily increase, and the question, how the men whose votes turned the scale at the last election are satisfied with the results under the administration they elected, will make the campaign the most intensely exciting in the history of the country.

The New York Weekly Tribune, the leading Republican family newspaper of the United States, will publish all the political news of the day, interesting to every American citizen regardless of party affiliations. Also general news in attractive form, foreign correspondence covering the news of the world, an agricultural department second to none in the country, market reports which are recognized authority, fascinating short stories, complete in each number, the cream of the humorous papers, foreign and domestic, with their best comic pictures, fashion plates and elaborate descriptions of woman's attire, with a varied and attractive department of household interest. The "New York Weekly Tribune" is an ideal family paper, with a circulation larger than that of any other weekly publication in the country issued from the office of a daily. Large changes are being made in its details, tending to give it greater life and variety, and especially more interest to the women and young people of the household.
