HOOSIER HIGHWAYS ENVIED

Many who have done little travelling by car outside of Indiana may accept the tremendous state highway improvement in the last few years as a matter of course and think that this condition is true everywhere. Out of state motoring quickly shows that (Hoosiers) are to be envied.

Crossing Indiana in every direction, serving the farmer, the shipper, the businessman and the vacationist are highways second to none, in a nation which can boast of the finest highways in the world. Other states, more wealthy and others with level land equally suited to straight and level roads fall to compare in extent or quality with Indiana in the development of modern roads.

Careful planning, superb engineering design of curves and elimination of useless turns, proper drainage and smooth working, alert maintenance all are combined to provide these fine arteries of travel in a busy state. Four lane divided super highways of which many miles have been completed and many more planned, safety markers on curves at hills and intersections, plus highway police patrol show that Indiana is providing intelligent solutions to our progressively more acute traffic problem.

Highway route marking merits special mention. The tourist after hunting for the right road, worrying over that turn five miles back and losing his way in cities, anywhere in states south, east or west gives a sigh of relief on entering Indiana. Carefully placed markers at every turn and every intersection and others warning of the turn or intersection ahead lead the motorist to his destination without a moments indecision or uncertainty. In this respect Indiana points the way toward perfection, a model for some 47 states to follow.

Tribute is due we think to those men in the Highway Commission, now and in the immediate past whose industry and devotion to the public interest has made possible this highway system of ours.

Our Rally Day service and W. M. A. program last Sunday was very interesting and helpful. While a number of our regular congregation were necessarily absent, a goodly audience was present to enjoy and profit by the various features of the several services. The young girls did exceptionally well in that with which they had to do. The fellowship dinner was of good and high order and the fellowship attendant thereto was of the finest.

A most cordial welcome awaits any and all who may choose to worship with us.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

Strangely, the model state law they are using to draft the one they will recommend, is an old state law ALREADY DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL! . . . A foreign diplomat to the United States has just had 97 cents which he paid in gas taxes refunded to him. The refund was made after the diplomat had appealed to the State Department on the grounds that Ambassadors and Ministers are immune to taxes. He hasn't tried yet to get refund of the hidden taxes he pays in food and other commodity prices. . . . Several government agencies who customarily help Congressional Investigating Committees in digging up facts and figures, have refused flatly to help the Congressional committee investigating subversive activities of Communists, Fascists and other "ism" groups in the United States! The Capital's observers are asking why.

Putting on Airs
"You can't always tell 'bout de power a man has," said Uncle Eben, "by de airs he puts on. A drum major looks like he was leadin' de percussion when, as a matter of fact, he has to step lively to keep 'um bein' pushed."
