"What, No Telephone?"

"Of all things! Here, I thought I had the most thoughtful of all parents and they don't even have a telephone. I haven't been in this world long but it didn't take me that long to learn what a nuisance it was to be bundled up and carried over to the neighbor's or to the corner store so my mother could make a telephone call. I just don't see why mother puts up with it. Just wait until I can "put in my oar," we'll get a telephone then."
