FROM "STEM TO STERN"

When ever you buy something, you usually expect to get your money's worth—you expect what ever you are buying to be of equal value to the amount of money you are spending. It is also expected that the service or article you purchase be of quality that can not be purchased in anything that costs less.

Quality and service have been the first aspects of the Syracuse-Wawasee Journal since it came under new management a few months ago. The Journal has tried, and we believe it has, given its readers the most news and the best reading material that they can get for the subscription price of only one dollar per year. The Journal has also given its advertisers the best circulation and the highest quality of display that they can get for the low advertising rates that are now in use.

To its readers, the Journal offers a newspaper that is chuck full of local news that is of interest to every person in and around Syracuse. It gives them feature material that is good reading anywhere and any time you see it, including comic strips that are both clever and interesting for adults and children alike.

The advertisers in the Journal have at their command a paid circulation that assures them that their ads are bound to be read—for people read the Journal because it carries the NEWS; because they have paid for it. The make-up of the Journal, with its smaller page size, gives its advertisers assurance that they will have a good location for their ad, whether it is one inch or thirty. The Journal can boast that it has only carried one misake in advertising since the present owners took charge, which shows that each advertisement is given utmost care in make-up. You also have a fine choice of type styles and faces to make your ad distinctive and appealing to the readers.

So, if you want to read the local news, subscribe to the Journal—and, if you want to advertise with the best assurance of results, advertise in the Journal—you'll get the best of both "from stem to stern."

B. & O. FURTHER REDUCES RAIL FARE TO NEW YORK

An unprecedented reduction in round trip railroad fares and Pullman charges to New York has just been announced by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. This reduction follows the already low round trip rail fares arranged for the New York World's Fair and coincides with the general readjustment of price levels in New York and at the fair.

For sleeping accommodations and accompanying rail fares a twenty-five per cent saving has been made for departures on Friday and Saturday from September 15 to October 28.

For coach fares, traveling in modern comfort, special reductions have been arranged over the already very low round trip travel costs that mean another substantial saving.

The Baltimore & Ohio was greatly pleased to be able to make this announcement for as W. C. Brown, passenger traffic manager said, "The B. & O. has always sponsored a big travel package for its customers in terms of low fares, good service and fine air-conditioned comfort. It fact, we have been a leader in the Eastern territory advocating low rail fares, giving the customer the greatest value for his dollar invested in transportation. This year our business to New York has naturally reflected customer satisfaction being over double that of a year ago. Our own people have all seen the fair and I can't stress too highly their personal reactions for practically all the features. "No matter what your particular hobby, education, the arts or science, amusement, etc., you'll find them all in abundance in the New York $150,000,000 Exposition.

"For our own part, we certainly would like to feel that our contribution in further reductions of rail fares will induce many more individuals and families to see the greatest spectacle and educational gem that America has yet to offer."

One point that might be added to Mr. Brown's remarks is that being in New York anytime between September 15 to the end of October is ideal. This is the time

Lloyd on Broadway

Arthur "Street Singer" Tracy is now without worry!!! Tracy, on learning that he couldn't get a job here, went to Europe and there earned more than a million $ in 4 years and 4 months! Of course,

European and American income taxes cut a deep slice out of Tracy's bankroll—but he still had enough to pay a half million dollars for 65 acres of land in Washington, D. C., where, with the aid of WPA and HOLC funds, he built apartment houses which now tenant 532 families on 20 acres! This is the first of his mass-developments! He bought similar property outside of Philadelphia and is building more apartments!

Don't believe the report that Artie Shaw, the newly-crowned King of Swing, will wed Betty Grable after she obtains her divorce from Jackie Coogan! If Artie Shaw marries, shortly—it'll be to a non-professional!

Before the leaves fall expect John Barrymore to reconcile with Elaine Barrie! Their divorce is scheduled to come up on the coast this September. But Elaine is lonesome already—and John, no matter how many lassies he escorts in Chicago—believes Elaine's the lady for him! ... The Al Jolson's (Ruby Keeler) won't accept a girl from Chir's Cradle until Ruby comes east! Al tried selecting one but Ruby wired him to wait until she makes the choice! Expect another sensational scandal involving people from stage, screen and radio for smuggling ... Because the picture tycoons clamped down on commentators from Hollywood—Jimmie Fidler's sponsor has cut his twice-weekly air series to a one-snotter! ... Bob Hope is having trouble at home! His wife, Dolores Keel, wants to go on the air with him as well as in pictures! Leon Janney, kid star of the silent movies and now heard on the air in the "Parker Family," will shortly marry Wilma Francis, stage actress. ... Milton Berle hasn't the slightest inclination toward matrimony, regardless of what you've read elsewhere! ... Edward G. Robinson told his picture bosses that he'd be willing to work for next to nothing in pictures similar to "Confessions of a Nazi Spy." ...

When a man goes courting in Hollywood—it's usually to get a divorce!

CLUBS TO PLANT FISH BEFORE OCTOBER 20TH

Bass, Bluegills and other game fish propagated in conservation club hatcheries in cooperation with the Division of Fish and Game, are to be planted in Indiana lakes and streams by Oct. 20 it was announced by Virgil M. Simmons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation.

Planting of the club fish was started during the past week under the supervision of the game wardens. Reports on the first plantings indicate that the 1939 production will be larger than in 1938 when the clubs produced over seven million fish for restocking lakes and streams.

Two hundred and nineteen clubs are operating 507 ponds, covering 309 acres this year. No other state has a cooperative program for game fish production which even approaches that carried on in Indiana.
